The Editor's column

By S. R. PADDOCK

We were told last February that the Arlington Heights high school bond issue was defeated because the proposal was "too sudden." The school board had attempted to iron out the wrinkles of the bond issue before offering it to the public.

The Lay committee has spent several months in re-ironing those "wrinkles." We think it is time their plans and thoughts be made public.

The voters who will "wear the shirt" will want to see it with the price tag before it is thrown into their laps wrapped up as a gift.

For that reason, this column is this week removing a few of the wrappings which comprise 200 pages of deliberations and statistical data. We can only touch the high spots.

If we all took time to read and digest the unabridged story, there would be another 200 high school students pounding upon the doors of a high school, the construction of which had not even been started.

Here is our impression of last Monday night's midnight session.

It is a condensed story of an important conference in which some of the best minds in the high school district participated.

In our estimation there would be no doubt about the result of a bond issue election if the voters of Arlington Heights high school district had been able to sit in Monday night at those four hours of deliberations.

Forty-five members of that committee were present and there were many spirited discussions. On some of the points, opinions were evenly divided, as shown by votes of 20 to 19 and 22 to 20.

Each of those present brought along a loose leaf binder containing 200 pages of minutes, surveys and subcommittee reports. The voluminous size of those records was proof that the members of that committee had spent many hours in deliberation.

As this column is being written, we received a telephone call from a member of the high school board that she had spent eight solid hours in reading and digesting those records in which there are 84,240 words contained in 117 pages of closely written material and 65 pages of charts, maps, population and bond figures.

Those 50 members of the committee spent a lot of night work in their deliberations and consideration of the facts that had been gathered and presented to them.

Some of the members admitted frankly Monday night that expediency had forced them to change their original thought on the high school expansion. Others were reluctant to do so.

The chairman did not have an easy job. The members of that committee were very frank in their statements, but the entire meeting was conducted in a manner free from any discriminations.

Those present entered the discussion room as friends. We think they left that way. That does not mean that they were in agreement on all the decisions made that evening. There were very few unanimous motions passed.

It was something like a peace treaty that does not really satisfy the victors or the defeated, but which is signed by both.

The recommendations of the Lay committee is not in reality a report to the voters of the high school district. It is merely a basis for a conference to be held Monday night between the members of the high school board and the entire committee who will meet with them and discuss the eight provisions approved that evening.

We hope to be able to publish next week the result of that conference. The voters of the high school district have been waiting a long time for a definite decision on the expansion of the high school.

Naturally, that report will not be pleasing to all the voters any more than it was pleasing to all the members of the Lay committee.

However, we believe that the majority of the voters of the district will recognize the great need for immediate action and will approve the necessary bond issue when it is presented to them.

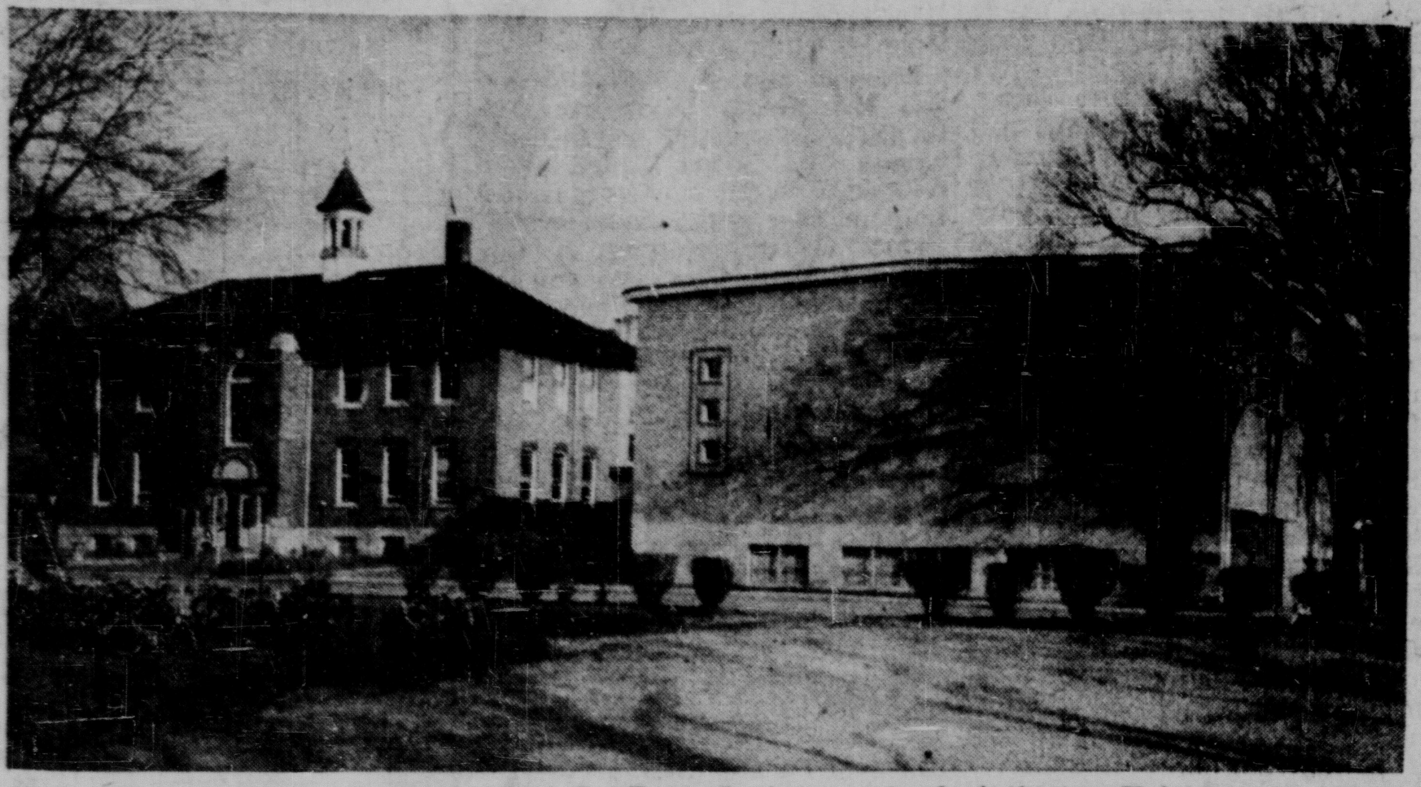
Despite the fact the group was tired at 11:30 p. m. after 3½ hours of discussion, a motion to adjourn and postpone the final decision for one week was defeated.

They were prepared to remain at the council table as long as necessary to secure definite action.

An earlier motion for a restudy of the situation was overwhelmingly defeated.

A vote on each one of the eight provisions followed, none of which was unanimous. In our opinion, as the midnight hour passed, those present felt the best possible "bargain" had been made.

The recommendation of the Lay committee is not a cut and dried report dictated by any one person or group. It is a balancing of sane thinking on the part of 50 persons who had given their time and attention to help solve Arlington Heights' high school problem.



The ninetieth anniversary of St. Peter Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, will be observed Sunday at three special services held at the church. Pictured above are the school and new activities building, which has an enrollment of 408 pupils. —Staff Photo.

Investigate City Operated Garbage Collection Service

The possibility of installing village garbage disposal service in Arlington Heights is being investigated by the village manager, F. Robert Buechner.

In a preliminary report to the village board Wednesday night the manager pointed out the differences in a municipally operated garbage system, system of private contractor hired by the municipality and system of private collectors hired by residents. The latter is used here at the present time.

BUECHNER pointed out in his report, "The subject of garbage collection and disposal is recognized as a complex problem involving basic sanitary, economic and legal considerations. More specifically, it involves difficult handling of messy by-products of the household and business institutions; also a difficult personnel problem involving union and non-union wages and further the important cost factors of the length of haul to the place of disposal and the type of disposal.

"Because of these factors it is grossly misleading to compare statistics between different towns. For example, the frequency of service, its dependability, type of equipment, are also important factors which must be taken into account in any comparative statistical analysis."

Buechner informed the board there are 39 cities, including Arlington, which are in its population group of 10 to 25 thousand. Of the 39 cities in Illinois in this group, one did not report its type of collection in answer to a questionnaire sent out by the manager. The other cities reported as follows: 22 cities municipally operated waste removal; 11 cities hired private contractors and 5 cities, including Arlington, use private collectors hired by residents.

INASMUCH as the first report did not reflect the rates charged by all 39 cities, a second questionnaire has been sent requesting their rates and the following pertinent factors:

1. Amount of tax levy, if any, for both collection and disposal.
2. Whether or not the service is entirely self-supporting where service rates are charged by the municipalities.
3. Point of collection of the waste, that is, alley, curb or house service.
4. Frequency of collection.
5. Type of disposal, that is, open dump, incinerator, sanitary land-fill, or combination thereof.
6. Average length of haul to place of disposal.
7. Number of square miles served within the municipality.
8. If the rates are regulated by the municipality in towns where the resident hires the waste collectors, as in Arlington Heights.
9. What plans, if any, are underway for changing the existing system.

An effort will be made to prepare for distribution among the board members a summary compilation of the replies to the questionnaire as soon as a substantial number of them have been returned.

Scout Paper Pick-up On South Side Saturday

Boy Scouts of Arlington Heights will conduct another paper pick up on the south side this Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m.

In order that the boys and their dads can finish by noon it is necessary that all paper and magazines be tied and put on the curb early. The scouts sincerely appreciate the cooperation of everyone so far this year. Approximately 150 tons of paper and magazines have been picked up during the first 10 months and each drive seems to be getting bigger

The scouts have furnished their units with some wonderful equipment with the receipts. Save the handbill that will be delivered to homes by cub scouts, as it has the schedule for all pick ups.

Special handling can be arranged by calling CL 3-4224 before 9 a.m. Saturday. Those desiring may bring their bundles to the South school before noon Saturday, where scouts will be glad to help unload them. (F-A

Heights Does Not Need 2nd Fire Station

Arlington Heights does not need a second fire station. According to a report made by the Cook County Bureau of Fire Inspectors the present station is centrally located and will adequately serve the entire district.

The report was obtained subsequent to a discussion as to the necessity of a second fire station by the fire department and village board. Based on the facts available to the fire bureau it was found the Arlington Heights fire department has a Class V rating, which is one of the best ratings held by any fire district outside the city of Chicago. Chicago has the highest rating in the county, which is only a Class III rating, despite all their equipment.

THE FIRE bureau said the addition of a second station would not alter insurance rates in the least. The fact the Chicago and North Western railroad is mainly a passenger line and not a freight line, was another deciding factor against the necessity of a second station.

It was recommended that consideration be given to the purchase of another fire truck, as there should be one pumper for each 7,000 population. At present the department has three pumpers, but one is quite old and inadequate. It was also suggested the village board consider employing three full time firemen, one to man each pumper. If these two things are done the fire bureau believed the village could get a Class IV rating, which could reduce the fire tax rate for the entire district.

THE ABOVE report was made to Trustee William McNeil, who met with Larry Smith, a representative of the fire bureau. Trustee McNeil then reported it to the village board at its regular meeting Wednesday night. Before any action is taken the fire bureau will be invited to make an up to date survey of the fire district and present further recommendations.

It was also pointed out by the fire bureau that both the fire and police deparments in Arlington have a high rating and the village can well be proud of both.

Noble J. Puffer High Man Nov. 2

There were probably many Republicans as well as Democrats who were surprised by the election tion results last week, but the greatest surprise of all was the total vote and pluaralty that Noble J. Puffer received for Cook county superintendent of schools.

In the country towns he received 12,000 more than Douglas for a total of 182,469; Chicago 867,164; total 1,049,633. His plurality was 357,234.

The showing Puffer made caused a Chicago newspaper to suggest that Noble become a candidate for Governor in 1956.

Parking Meters To Be In Use Soon

Parking meters are expected to become a reality in Arlington Heights within the next 10 days to 2 weeks. Men from the street department have installed nearly all of the posts and flanges during the last week and a half under the direction of a traffic engineer from the Park-O-Meter company, which has been given the meter contract.

There will be nearly 550 meters on the village streets, most of which will be of the 1 hour variety. Approximately a dozen 12 minute meters will be installed, some in front of the post office, the bank and Federal Savings and Loan.

Areas which will have meters are listed in the parking meter ordinance published elsewhere in this issue. The village is still awaiting approval from the Chicago and North Western railroad before they can make the installation of meters in the commuter parking lots.

Hydrox Opens Distributing Center At Palatine

Hydrox corp. last week opened its new distributing plant on Rohlwing road, Palatine, closing similar plants at Waukegan and Aurora.

Customers, outside Chicago, north of Route 66 and east of Route 47 wil be served from the Palatine plant, which is in charge of Emil Grodotz.

The ice cream is manufactured in Milwaukee and three times a week will be delivered to Palatine by semi-trailers with a capacity of 40,000 gallons each.

The product is stored in a hardening room, 60 x 75 feet, which is kept at a temperature between 10 and 15 degrees below zero. Two electrically operated conveyors move it into the hardening room and later into nine trucks which supply customers of this area.

The plant is designed for a minimum amount of labor in its operation. In addition to a superintendent and a bookkeeper, the plant requires two warehousemen. There are nine drivers and three salesmen.

The greater part of the building is used for trucks and the loading and unloading operation at the north and south side.

Flood lights on the east side of the building and landscaping will give the plant a distinctive modern setting 24 hours of the day.

After proper zoning was denied by Arlington Heights two years ago, the company acquired its present site on Rohlwing road.

SCHOOL BOARD GETS COMMITTEE'S REPORT

Ask Immediate Construction Of Two Wing Addition to Plant

Following a four hour discussion and an adjournment after midnight Monday evening, the report of the Citizens Lay Committee was turned over to the Arlington Heights high school board of education.

That body will meet with the entire committee next Monday evening when it is expected and hoped a definite recommendation will be presented to the voters of the district. They defeated a $2,500,000 bond issue last February which would have erected by next September a complete new high school building on 60 acres of land on Foundry road, previously purchased by the board.

The report of the Lay committee was prepared by a special committee of nine members after several months study of population growth, future enrollment, and the many factors entailed in school facilities that the district will require next year and the years to come.

While the Lay committee has been gathering this mass of material, comprising over 85,000 words, the enrollment figures have been climbing until it is now certain that split sessions are inevitable next year.

The Lay committee is in agreement that a second high school north of Mount Prospect is inevitable and must be ready for operation within the next three years. Some members think that such a school should either take priority over the recommended addition or be built simultaneously.

THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE members pointed out several times Monday evening that it had given the school addition priority because it doubted if the voters would approve a double barrel bond issue. All present agreed that the approval of one bond issue for an addition to the present school would have no difficulty at the polls.

The four hour discussion was as frank as it was spirted. An attempt to postpone action by taking a week's adjournment was defeated at 11:30, after which the original recommendation of the special committee was adopted paragraph by paragraph.

That recommendation contains a number of "fringes." They are the selection of an experienced school architect, elimination of unnecessary attorney's fees, and an advisory council to work with the school board. Additional suggestion was that joint action be taken by all bodies within the high school district to invite desired and needed light industry to locate within Elk Grove and Wheeling township.

The recommendation adopted Monday evening was offered by a special committee comprising N. M. Lattof, general chairman; Ed Wilson, representing the vice chairman, and the chairmen of seven subcommittees who are as follows: Darwin Blix, Edgar Brookhouzen, Mrs. Chambers, George Hoban, Mr. Sayre, John Sicks and Mr. Zimmerman.

Their recommendations follow:

1. That the High School build two wings on the existing site as per suggestions made in 1947, adapted to present needs, including possible provision for girls' gym above the shops. It is suggested that the maximum cost shall be a million and a quarter dollars. This should be considered as the first step in solving our increasing enrollment problem.
2. That the addition of the wings at the present site to provide for a maximum additional 1000 students should be considered as the maximum possible expansion.
3. That a committee on future expansion, to be appointed by the Steering Committee, be given time to study the type of building that should be erected on the site of Foundry Road. It is suggested that this committee, in cooperation with the Board, shall obtain expert advice if necessary. The committee should strive to make its report within a maximum period of six months.
4. It is agreed that the enrollment picture makes it necessary to start on another building program within one year on the Foundry Road site.
5. That a committee from the lay committee be appointed by steering committee to co-operate with the board in the selection of a school architect.
6. That Chapman and Cutler be retained to furnish the legal opinion, ordinances and all further proceedings relative to the issurance of any bonds to be sold, the local board attorney to handle the other various legal details in connection with the building program.
7. That the lay committee, through its steering committee, should continue to co-operate with the board on the total building program.
8. In view of our financial condition, it is suggested that an effort be made with all governing bodies in the High School district to organize for non-objectionable industry in the district on a regulated and planned basis.

Since its beginning the school has always been financed by the congregation alone. All children of congregation members attend tuition free. Its graduates have always made a fine record at the local high school. The school's motto: "Religion gives character to education," has been born out in the development of the church itself which today has more than 1400 communicant members and a total of more than 2000 who attend the church.

FACULTY MEMBERS are as follows: A. W. Obermann, principal and eighth grade teacher; Ottomar A. Kolb, seventh grade; Lester Rush, sixth grade; Donald Hermann, fifth grade; Karl L. All are invited. (AC

Accept Bid Of $19,297 For Campbell Lighting

The contract for the installation of ornamental street lighting along Campbell, from Chestnut to Evergreen, was awarded to H. & H. Electric company by the Arlington Heights village board at its meeting Wednesday night.

H. & H. gave a low bid of $19,297.35, which was approximately 7.7 per cent higher than the engineer's estimate. Other bidders were Contracting and Material Co., which bid $20,417.25 and L. & S. Construction Co., which bid $19,400.

The bid for the purchase of a chemical spreader was awarded to the R. C. Larkin Co., which had a low bid of $750. The other bidder, Griggs Equipment company bid $825.

THIS IS AN all purpose spreader, capable of spreading rock salt, chloride, sand, pea gravel and cinders. Thus it has a flexible use in that it may be used for ice and snow control, seal-coating and stone spreading operations. The unit will save labor as only the truck driver is required. He controls the operation of the spreader from the cab by an electric push-button.

F. Robert Buechner, village manager, reported to the board he had received a letter from the Chicago and North Western railroad stating the railroad was not instrumental in the delay of the installation of the automatic gates. It has done everything in its power to advance the work. Their revised plans, following action by the State August 22, are now being checked as to accuracy in detail and will be submitted to the State and Cook county November 1 for approval.

H. T. Fleisher, assistant chief engineer of the railroad, who wrote the letter, further stated it is expected they will be able to start work on the installation within 60 days after full approval of the State and Cook county is received by him.

AFTER EXAMINATION of the contract acceptance form from Park-O-Meter Co., it was found the installation of the post and flange for the parking meters was not included in the contract cost, and thus the village would not be entitled to a refund from the company. The posts are being installed by the street department.

The second million gallon water reservoir installed in Arlington Heights is now completed and in full operation. This gives the village a storage capacity of two and a quarter million gallons of water.

The board authorized the village engineers to draw up plans and specifications for improving and cleaning the Kennicott well, which, at present, is pumping far below its capacity.

Attorney Hugo J. Thal was authorized to draw up an ordinance to create a parking committee. The attorney also gave the first reading of an ordinance providing for the construction of sanitary sewers in the Arlingdale subdivision by special assessment.

Appointment of Frank Milz as a school crossing guard was approved by the board, as was the appointment of Floyd Terbell to serve on the planning commission. Terbell is filling the vacancy created by the death of Charles Seales.

Roselle Man, 68, Suicide Victim

A resident of the Roselle area for 10 years, Rudolph George Berberich, 68, committed suicide Tuesday afternoon after reportedly being despondent over his failing health due to a heart condition. He was found by his wife in the garage at their home on N. Marion st., north of the village.

Death, according to the coroner's inquest Wednesday morning, was due to carbon monoxide poisoning. A note found beside the body said, "I can't go on." Although the car in the garage wasn't running when he was found about 3 p.m., the ignition key was turned on and the building was filled with smoke.

Funeral services are scheduled to be held Friday at 2 p.m. from Richert and sons chapel, Roselle, with interment following in Lake St. Memorial Park cemetery, west of Bloomingdale. Friends may call at the chapel.

He leaves, besides his wife, Emma; five sons, Francis, Edward, Harold, Robert and Walter; two daughters, Mrs. Marie Hailton and Mrs. Helen Nickels; two sisters; three brothers; 23 grandchildren, and four great grandchildren.

November 11 Holiday Means Double Load For Mail Carriers Friday

All post offices were closed Thursday on account of Veterans' Day, which explains why the hometown paper is not received until Friday.

It will mean an extra heavy load for mail carriers, but they have assured the publisher that they will make every effort to handle the hometown paper on that day.

Barbershop Chorus To Present Famed Schmitt Brothers

Arlington Heights will rock with harmony November 21 when the local chapter of the SPEBSQSA presents its fourth annual concert at 8:15 p.m., in the old high school auditorium.

SPEBSQSA, of course, is the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartette Singing in America.

To help preserve it in Arlington, the chapter and its director, Joe Bryson, are presenting the Schmitt Brothers of Two Rivers, Wis.

In the past two years, they have appeared on the Arthur Godfrey and Ed Sullivan TV shows, made over 200 other appearances, and traveled more than 130,000 miles on concert tours.

A noted professor of music at the University of Illinois recently complained that Barber Shoppers couldn't change the classics. But after he listened to the Schmitt Brothers sing Brahm's Lullaby and Lieberstraum, he admitted that it was done well and that there wasn't "a dry eye in the house."

Tickets for the concert are $1.50 for adults and 75c for students.

Edmund J. O'Brien Elected President Of Area Planners

Edmund J. O'Brien of Arlington Heights has been named president of the new Northwest Suburban Planning board.

The board will consider planning and zoning needs of country towns in this area, establish an information center on planning and zoning regulations, assist community officials in local development, and guard against detrimental activity in the northwest towns.

Other officers of the board are E. H. Cleven, Mount Prospect, vice president; Sam G. Potter, Park Ridge, secretary; and Paul R. Giardini, Des Plaines, treasurer.

Membership is open to zoning board members as well as members of planning boards.

'Royal Family' On Stage This Weekend

The senior class of Arlington Heights high school will present "The Royal Family," a comedy in three acts, by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the girls' gymnasium.

This play has delighted audiences across the country for more than a decade and has been revived on Broadway as well as in amateur theaters. It has also been adapted for radio and television performances, winning wide approval in both.

MOST OF the action concerns three generations of the Cavendish family, the "royal family" of the American theater, most of whose members resemble members of the Barrymore family.

Douglas Murphy, English and dramatics teacher who is directing the play, says, "This play is good theater and good fun. The cast and crew have worked hard to perfect their roles, and I think we can count on a good performance all around."

The cast includes Dodo, a monkey, and Linda, a parrot, as well as a baby and two great danes. Members of the senior class in the cast, in the order of their appearance, are:

Della, Marlene Kerschke; Jo, Larry Fischer; Hallboy, Harold Gjoen; McDermott, Dick Palmer; Herbert Dean, Bob Peters; Kitty LeMoyne Dean, Dorothy Balch; Gwen, Patricia Mors; Perry Stewart, Pete Holloway; Fanny Cavendish, Barbara Sheets; Oscar Wolfe, Ray Miller; Julie Cavendish, Dena Klingler; Anthony Cavendish, Laird Williamson; Anthony Hallboy, Walter Mulso; Chauffeur, Jim Hodges; Gilbert Marshall, Russ Igoe; Gunga, Floyd Burns; Miss Peake, Cheryl Sparling.

Tickets are 50 cents for students, 75 cents for adults, and may be purchased from members of the senior class or at the door.

SCHOOL BOARD GETS COMMITTEE'S REPORT

By S. R. PADDOCK

We were told last February that the Arlington Heights high school bond issue was defeated because the proposal was "too sudden." The school board had attempted to iron out the wrinkles of the bond issue before offering it to the public.

The Lay committee has spent several months in re-ironing those "wrinkles." We think it is time their plans and thoughts be made public.

The voters who will "wear the shirt" will want to see it with the price tag before it is thrown into their laps wrapped up as a gift.

For that reason, this column is this week removing a few of the wrappings which comprise 200 pages of deliberations and statistical data. We can only touch the high spots.

If we all took time to read and digest the unabridged story, there would be another 200 high school students pounding upon the doors of a high school, the construction of which had not even been started.

Here is our impression of last Monday night's midnight session.

It is a condensed story of an important conference in which some of the best minds in the high school district participated.

In our estimation there would be no doubt about the result of a bond issue election if the voters of Arlington Heights high school district had been able to sit in Monday night at those four hours of deliberations.

Forty-five members of that committee were present and there were many spirited discussions. On some of the points, opinions were evenly divided, as shown by votes of 20 to 19 and 22 to 20.

Each of those present brought along a loose leaf binder containing 200 pages of minutes, surveys and subcommittee reports. The voluminous size of those records was proof that the members of that committee had spent many hours in deliberation.

As this column is being written, we received a telephone call from a member of the high school board that she had spent eight solid hours in reading and digesting those records in which there are 84,240 words contained in 117 pages of closely written material and 65 pages of charts, maps, population and bond figures.

Those 50 members of the committee spent a lot of night work in their deliberations and consideration of the facts that had been gathered and presented to them.

Some of the members admitted frankly Monday night that expediency had forced them to change their original thought on the high school expansion. Others were reluctant to do so.

The chairman did not have an easy job. The members of that committee were very frank in their statements, but the entire meeting was conducted in a manner free from any discriminations.

Those present entered the discussion room as friends. We think they left that way. That does not mean that they were in agreement on all the decisions made that evening. There were very few unanimous motions passed.

It was something like a peace treaty that does not really satisfy the victors or the defeated, but which is signed by both.

The recommendations of the Lay committee is not in reality a report to the voters of the high school district. It is merely a basis for a conference to be held Monday night between the members of the high school board and the entire committee who will meet with them and discuss the eight provisions approved that evening.

We hope to be able to publish next week the result of that conference. The voters of the high school district have been waiting a long time for a definite decision on the expansion of the high school.

Naturally, that report will not be pleasing to all the voters any more than it was pleasing to all the members of the Lay committee.

However, we believe that the majority of the voters of the district will recognize the great need for immediate action and will approve the necessary bond issue when it is presented to them.

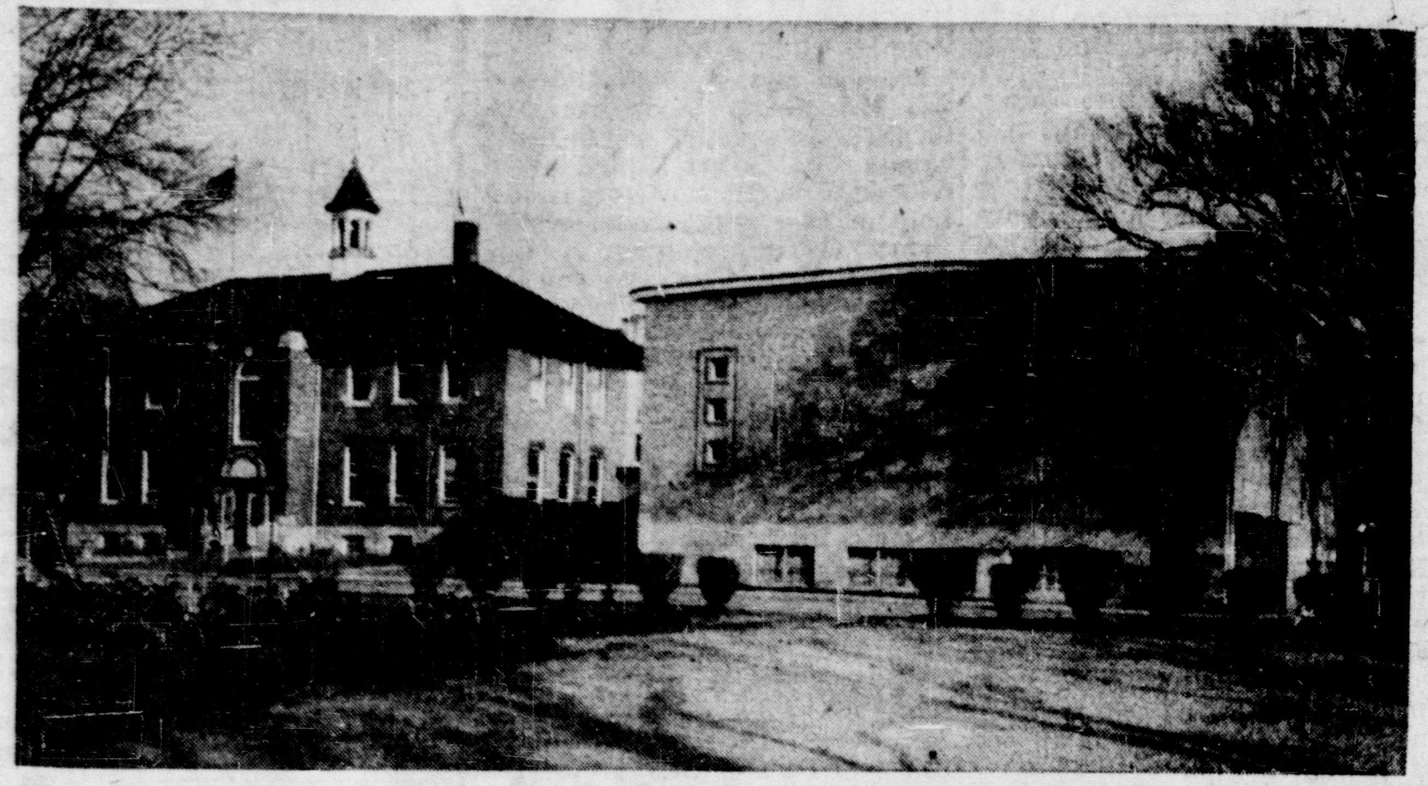
Despite the fact the group was tired at 11:30 p. m. after 3½ hours of discussion, a motion to adjourn and postpone the final decision for one week was defeated.

They were prepared to remain at the council table as long as necessary to secure definite action.

An earlier motion for a restudy of the situation was overwhelmingly defeated.

A vote on each one of the eight provisions followed, none of which was unanimous. In our opinion, as the midnight hour passed, those present felt the best possible "bargain" had been made.

The recommendation of the Lay committee is not a cut and dried report dictated by any one person or group. It is a balancing of sane thinking on the part of 50 persons who had given their time and attention to help solve Arlington Heights' high school problem.



The ninetieth anniversary of St. Peter Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, will be observed Sunday at three special services held at the church. Pictured above are the school and new activities building, which has an enrollment of 408 pupils. —Staff Photo.

Investigate City Operated Garbage Collection Service

The possibility of installing village garbage disposal service in Arlington Heights is being investigated by the village manager, F. Robert Buechner.

In a preliminary report to the village board Wednesday night the manager pointed out the differences in a municipally operated garbage system, system of private contractor hired by the municipality and system of private collectors hired by residents. The latter is used here at the present time.

BUECHNER pointed out in his report, "The subject of garbage collection and disposal is recognized as a complex problem involving basic sanitary, economic and legal considerations. More specifically, it involves difficult handling of messy by-products of the household and business institutions; also a difficult personnel problem involving union and non-union wages and further the important cost factors of the length of haul to the place of disposal and the type of disposal.

"Because of these factors it is grossly misleading to compare statistics between different towns. For example, the frequency of service, its dependability, type of equipment, are also important factors which must be taken into account in any comparative statistical analysis."

Buechner informed the board there are 39 cities, including Arlington, which are in its population group of 10 to 25 thousand. Of the 39 cities in Illinois in this group, one did not report its type of collection in answer to a questionnaire sent out by the manager. The other cities reported as follows: 22 cities municipally operated waste removal; 11 cities hired private contractors and 5 cities, including Arlington, use private collectors hired by residents.

INASMUCH, as the first report did not reflect the rates charged by all 39 cities, a second questionnaire has been sent requesting their rates and the following pertinent factors:

1. Amount of tax levy, if any, for both collection and disposal.
2. Whether or not the service is entirely self-supporting where service rates are charged by the municipalities.
3. Point of collection of the waste, that is, alley, curb or house service.
4. Frequency of collection.
5. Type of disposal, that is, open dump, incinerator, sanitary land-fill, or combination thereof.
6. Average length of haul to place of disposal.
7. Number of square miles served within the municipality.
8. If the rates are regulated by the municipality in towns where the resident hires the waste collectors, as in Arlington Heights.
9. What plans, if any, are underway for changing the existing system.

An effort will be made to prepare for distribution among the board members a summary compilation of the replies to the questionnaire as soon as a substantial number of them have been returned.

Heights Does Not Need 2nd Fire Station

Arlington Heights does not need a second fire station. According to a report made by the Cook County Bureau of Fire Inspectors the present station is centrally located and will adequately serve the entire district.

The report was obtained subsequent to a discussion as to the necessity of a second fire station by the fire department and village board. Based on the facts available to the fire bureau it was found the Arlington Heights fire department has a Class V rating, which is one of the best ratings held by any fire district outside the city of Chicago. Chicago has the highest rating in the county, which is only a Class III rating, despite all their equipment.

THE FIRE bureau said the addition of a second station would not alter insurance rates in the least. The fact the Chicago and North Western railroad is mainly a passenger line and not a freight line, was another deciding factor against the necessity of a second station.

It was recommended that consideration be given to the purchase of another fire truck, as there should be one pumper for each 7,000 population. At present the department has three pumpers, but one is quite old and inadequate. It was also suggested the village board consider employing three full time firemen, one to man each pumper. If these two things are done the fire bureau believed the village could get a Class IV rating, which could reduce the fire tax rate for the entire district.

THE ABOVE report was made to Trustee William McNeil, who met with Larry Smith, a representative of the fire bureau. Trustee McNeil then reported it to the village board at its regular meeting Wednesday night. Before any action is taken the fire bureau will be invited to make an up to date survey of the fire district and present further recommendations.

It was also pointed out by the fire bureau that both the fire and police departments in Arlington have a high rating and the village can well be proud of both.

Parking Meters To Be In Use Soon

Parking meters are expected to become a reality in Arlington Heights within the next 10 days to 2 weeks. Men from the street department have installed nearly all of the posts and flanges during the last week and a half under the direction of a traffic engineer from the Park-O-Meter company, which has been given the meter contract.

There will be nearly 550 meters on the village streets, most of which will be of the 1 hour variety. Approximately a dozen 12 minute meters will be installed, some in front of the post office, the bank and Federal Savings and Loan.

Areas which will have meters are listed in the parking meter ordinance published elsewhere in this issue. The village is still awaiting approval from the Chicago and North Western railroad before they can make the installation of meters in the commuter parking lots.

Hydrox Opens Distributing Center At Palatine

Hydrox corp. last week opened its new distributing plant on Rohlwing road, Palatine, closing similar plants at Waukegan and Aurora.

Customers, outside Chicago, north of Route 66 and east of Route 47 wil be served from the Palatine plant, which is in charge of Emil Grodotz.

The ice cream is manufactured in Milwaukee and three times a week will be delivered to Palatine by semi-trailers with a capacity of 40,000 gallons each.

The product is stored in a hardening room, 60 x 75 feet, which is kept at a temperature between 10 and 15 degrees below zero. Two electrically operated conveyors move it into the hardening room and later into nine trucks which supply customers of this area.

The plant is designed for a minimum amount of labor in its operation. In addition to a superintendent and a bookkeeper, the plant requires two warehousemen. There are nine drivers and three salesmen.

The greater part of the building is used for trucks and the loading and unloading operation at the north and south side.

Flood lights on the east side of the building and landscaping will give the plant a distinctive modern setting 24 hours of the day.

After proper zoning was denied by Arlington Heights two years ago, the company acquired its present site on Rohlwing road.

Noble J. Puffer High Man Nov. 2

There were probably many Republicans as well as Democrats who were surprised by the election results last week, but the greatest surprise of all was the total vote and pluaralty that Noble J. Puffer received for Cook county superintendent of schools.

In the country towns he received 12,000 more than Douglas for a total of 182,469; Chicago 867,164; total 1,049,633. His plurality was 357,234.

The showing Puffer made caused a Chicago newspaper to suggest that Noble become a candidate for Governor in 1956.

Scout Paper Pick-up On South Side Saturday

Since its beginning the school has always been financed by the congregation alone. All children of congregation members attend tuition free. Its graduates have always made a fine record at the local high school. The school's motto: "Religion gives character to education," has been born out in the development of the church itself which today has more than 1400 communicant members and a total of more than 2000 who attend the church.

FACULTY MEMBERS are as follows: A. W. Obermann, principal and eighth grade teacher; Ottomar A. Kolb, seventh grade; Lester Rush, sixth grade; Donald Hermann, fifth grade; Karl L. Accept Bid Of $19,297 For Campbell Lighting

The contract for the installation of ornamental street lighting along Campbell, from Chestnut to Evergreen, was awarded to H. & H. Electric company by the Arlington Heights village board at its meeting Wednesday night.

H. & H. gave a low bid of $19,297.35, which was approximately 7.7 per cent higher than the engineer's estimate. Other bidders were Contracting and Material Co., which bid $20,417.25 and L. & S. Construction Co., which bid $19,400.

The bid for the purchase of a chemical spreader was awarded to the R. C. Larkin Co., which had a low bid of $750. The other bidder, Griggs Equipment company bid $825.

THIS IS AN all purpose spreader, capable of spreading rock salt, chloride, sand, pea gravel and cinders. Thus it has a flexible use in that it may be used for ice and snow control, seal-coating and stone spreading operations. The unit will save labor as only the truck driver is required. He controls the operation of the spreader from the cab by an electric push-button.

F. Robert Buechner, village manager, reported to the board he had received a letter from the Chicago and North Western railroad stating the railroad was not instrumental in the delay of the installation of the automatic gates. It has done everything in its power to advance the work. Their revised plans, following action by the State August 22, are now being checked as to accuracy in detail and will be submitted to the State and Cook county November 1 for approval.

H. T. Fleisher, assistant chief engineer of the railroad, who wrote the letter, further stated it is expected they will be able to start work on the installation within 60 days after full approval of the State and Cook county is received by him.

AFTER EXAMINATION of the contract acceptance form from Park-O-Meter Co., it was found the installation of the post and flange for the parking meters was not included in the contract cost, and thus the village would not be entitled to a refund from the company. The posts are being installed by the street department.

The second million gallon water reservoir installed in Arlington Heights is now completed and in full operation. This gives the village a storage capacity of two and a quarter million gallons of water.

The board authorized the village engineers to draw up plans and specifications for improving and cleaning the Kennicott well, which, at present, is pumping far below its capacity.

Attorney Hugo J. Thal was authorized to draw up an ordinance to create a parking committee. The attorney also gave the first reading of an ordinance providing for the construction of sanitary sewers in the Arlingdale subdivision by special assessment.

Appointment of Frank Milz as a school crossing guard was approved by the board, as was the appointment of Floyd Terbell to serve on the planning commission. Terbell is filling the vacancy created by the death of Charles Seales.

Roselle Man, 68, Suicide Victim

A resident of the Roselle area for 10 years, Rudolph George Berberich, 68, committed suicide Tuesday afternoon after reportedly being despondent over his failing health due to a heart condition. He was found by his wife in the garage at their home on N. Marion st., north of the village.

Death, according to the coroner's inquest Wednesday morning, was due to carbon monoxide poisoning. A note found beside the body said, "I can't go on." Although the car in the garage wasn't running when he was found about 3 p.m., the ignition key was turned on and the building was filled with smoke.

Funeral services are scheduled to be held Friday at 2 p.m. from Richert and sons chapel, Roselle, with interment following in Lake St. Memorial Park cemetery, west of Bloomingdale. Friends may call at the chapel.

He leaves, besides his wife, Emma; five sons, Francis, Edward, Harold, Robert and Walter; two daughters, Mrs. Marie Hailton and Mrs. Helen Nickels; two sisters; three brothers; 23 grandchildren, and four great grandchildren.

November 11 Holiday Means Double Load For Mail Carriers Friday

It will mean an extra heavy load for mail carriers, but they have assured the publisher that they will make every effort to handle the hometown paper on that day.

Ask Immediate Construction Of Two Wing Addition to Plant

Following a four hour discussion and an adjournment after midnight Monday evening, the report of the Citizens Lay Committee was turned over to the Arlington Heights high school board of education.

That body will meet with the entire committee next Monday evening when it is expected and hoped a definite recommendation will be presented to the voters of the district. They defeated a $2,500,000 bond issue last February which would have erected by next September a complete new high school building on 60 acres of land on Foundry road, previously purchased by the board.

The report of the Lay committee was prepared by a special committee of nine members after several months study of population growth, future enrollment, and the many factors entailed in school facilities that the district will require next year and the years to come.

While the Lay committee has been gathering this mass of material, comprising over 85,000 words, the enrollment figures have been climbing until it is now certain that split sessions are inevitable next year.

The Lay committee is in agreement that a second high school north of Mount Prospect is inevitable and must be ready for operation within the next three years. Some members think that such a school should either take priority over the recommended addition or be built simultaneously.

THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE members pointed out several times Monday evening that it had given the school addition priority because it doubted if the voters would approve a double barrel bond issue. All present agreed that the approval of one bond issue for an addition to the present school would have no difficulty at the polls.

The four hour discussion was as frank as it was spirted. An attempt to postpone action by taking a week's adjournment was defeated at 11:30, after which the original recommendation of the special committee was adopted paragraph by paragraph.

That recommendation contains a number of "fringes." They are the selection of an experienced school architect, elimination of unnecessary attorney's fees, and an advisory council to work with the school board. Additional suggestion was that joint action be taken by all bodies within the high school district to invite desired and needed light industry to locate within Elk Grove and Wheeling township.

The recommendation adopted Monday evening was offered by a special committee comprising N. M. Lattof, general chairman; Ed Wilson, representing the vice chairman, and the chairmen of seven subcommittees who are as follows: Darwin Blix, Edgar Brookhouzen, Mrs. Chambers, George Hoban, Mr. Sayre, John Sicks and Mr. Zimmerman.

Their recommendations follow:

1. That the High School build two wings on the existing site as per suggestions made in 1947, adapted to present needs, including possible provision for girls' gym above the shops. It is suggested that the maximum cost shall be a million and a quarter dollars. This should be considered as the first step in solving our increasing enrollment problem.
2. That the addition of the wings at the present site to provide for a maximum additional 1000 students should be considered as the maximum possible expansion.
3. That a committee on future expansion, to be appointed by the Steering Committee, be given time to study the type of building that should be erected on the site of Foundry Road. It is suggested that this committee, in cooperation with the Board, shall obtain expert advice if necessary. The committee should strive to make its report within a maximum period of six months.
4. It is agreed that the enrollment picture makes it necessary to start on another building program within one year on the Foundry Road site.
5. That a committee from the lay committee be appointed by steering committee to co-operate with the board in the selection of a school architect.
6. That Chapman and Cutler be retained to furnish the legal opinion, ordinances and all further proceedings relative to the issurance of any bonds to be sold, the local board attorney to handle the other various legal details in connection with the building program.
7. That the lay committee, through its steering committee, should continue to co-operate with the board on the total building program.
8. In view of our financial condition, it is suggested that an effort be made with all governing bodies in the High School district to organize for non-objectionable industry in the district on a regulated and planned basis.

Barbershop Chorus To Present Famed Schmitt Brothers

Arlington Heights will rock with harmony November 21 when the local chapter of the SPEBSQSA presents its fourth annual concert at 8:15 p.m., in the old high school auditorium.

SPEBSQSA, of course, is the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartette Singing in America.

To help preserve it in Arlington, the chapter and its director, Joe Bryson, are presenting the Schmitt Brothers of Two Rivers, Wis.

In the past two years, they have appeared on the Arthur Godfrey and Ed Sullivan TV shows, made over 200 other appearances, and traveled more than 130,000 miles on concert tours.

A noted professor of music at the University of Illinois recently complained that Barber Shoppers couldn't change the classics. But after he listened to the Schmitt Brothers sing Brahm's Lullaby and Lieberstraum, he admitted that it was done well and that there wasn't "a dry eye in the house."

Tickets for the concert are $1.50 for adults and 75c for students.

'Royal Family' On Stage This Weekend

The senior class of Arlington Heights high school will present "The Royal Family," a comedy in three acts, by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the girls' gymnasium.

This play has delighted audiences across the country for more than a decade and has been revived on Broadway as well as in amateur theaters. It has also been adapted for radio and television performances, winning wide approval in both.

MOST OF the action concerns three generations of the Cavendish family, the "royal family" of the American theater, most of whose members resemble members of the Barrymore family.

Douglas Murphy, English and dramatics teacher who is directing the play, says, "This play is good theater and good fun. The cast and crew have worked hard to perfect their roles, and I think we can count on a good performance all around."

The cast includes Dodo, a monkey, and Linda, a parrot, as well as a baby and two great danes. Members of the senior class in the cast, in the order of their appearance, are:

Della, Marlene Kerschke; Jo, Larry Fischer; Hallboy, Harold Gjoen; McDermott, Dick Palmer; Herbert Dean, Bob Peters; Kitty LeMoyne Dean, Dorothy Balch; Gwen, Patricia Mors; Perry Stewart, Pete Holloway; Fanny Cavendish, Barbara Sheets; Oscar Wolfe, Ray Miller; Julie Cavendish, Dena Klingler; Anthony Cavendish, Laird Williamson; Anthony Hallboy, Walter Mulso; Chauffeur, Jim Hodges; Gilbert Marshall, Russ Igoe; Gunga, Floyd Burns; Miss Peake, Cheryl Sparling.

Tickets are 50 cents for students, 75 cents for adults, and may be purchased from members of the senior class or at the door.

Open House Sunday At Elk Grove School

Residents of the Elk Grove school district are invited to an informal open house to be held Sunday, from 2 to 4 p. m., at which time they may tour the new addition to the school, which should be completed Friday.

Already two classes are meeting in the $83,000 structure, which includes five classrooms, a teachers' room, lavatories, and an all-purpose room which can be divided into two more rooms if necessary.

The building was erected in a record 100 working days by the Mercury Builders of Chicago. Architects were Bryant and Walchli.

Supt. Ernest Cavallo estimated that before the year ends a third class will be using the addition. By next fall, five new rooms will be in use.

Explaining that the addition has no frills or fancy trimmings, Cavallo said the cost was $10.30 per square foot, an unusually low figure for an addition so large.

"These are practical, substantial classrooms," he said, "designed for practical use. Each room is designed for maximum natural light, floorspace, storage for supplies and books, and tack board for visual aids material."

The new fireproof addition can accomodate 210 students on a basis of 30 students per room. With the Elk Grove school growing at the rate of two classrooms a year, the current enrollment stands at 350 pupils.

Cavallo said the next goal is a gymnasium and cafeteria.

Open House Sunday At Elk Grove School

Residents of the Elk Grove school district are invited to an informal open house to be held Sunday, from 2 to 4 p. m., at which time they may tour the new addition to the school, which should be completed Friday.

Already two classes are meeting in the $83,000 structure, which includes five classrooms, a teachers' room, lavatories, and an all-purpose room which can be divided into two more rooms if necessary.

The building was erected in a record 100 working days by the Mercury Builders of Chicago. Architects were Bryant and Walchli.

Supt. Ernest Cavallo estimated that before the year ends a third class will be using the addition. By next fall, five new rooms will be in use.

Explaining that the addition has no frills or fancy trimmings, Cavallo said the cost was $10.30 per square foot, an unusually low figure for an addition so large.

"These are practical, substantial classrooms," he said, "designed for practical use. Each room is designed for maximum natural light, floorspace, storage for supplies and books, and tack board for visual aids material."

The new fireproof addition can accomodate 210 students on a basis of 30 students per room. With the Elk Grove school growing at the rate of two classrooms a year, the current enrollment stands at 350 pupils.

Cavallo said the next goal is a gymnasium and cafeteria.

Dr. Topp at Jr. High Nov. 23

No stranger to the PTA of Arlington Heights, Dr. Robert F. Topp, dean of the graduate school of the National College of Education in Evanston, will speak to junior high parents and teachers November 23, at 8:15 p.m. on "Parent Influence in Juvenile Delinquency." Dr. Topp's long experience as a teacher in elementary schools, principal of schools at Fort Morgan and Boulder, and assistant director of teacher education at the University of Illinois has well equipped him to discuss any phase of child education. Anyone who has heard Dr. Topp in previous years will not fail to attend this outstanding meeting.

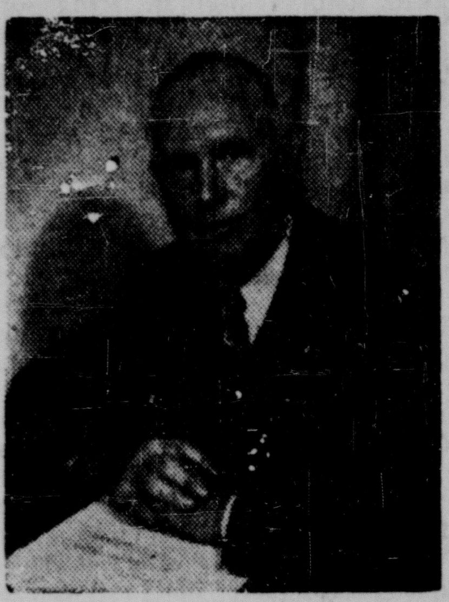
Refreshments will be served following the program by mothers of sections 7 and 8 of the sixth grade, in the school cafeteria.

This Week with PTA

This week with PTA ....

First program meetings of the year will be presented at the elementary schools next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. Programs are varied, but all are expected to be of unusual interest.

Dr. Carl Winters to Speak at Ridge



DR. WINTERS

One of the most outstanding speakers to come to Arlington Heights, Dr. Carl Winters, minister of the First Baptist church in Oak Park, will speak to Ridge school parents and teachers next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. on "Today's Youth in Tomorrow's World." Former crime commissioner of Michigan, chairman of Skid-Row Commission for 1200 churches of Chicago Federation, and one of the busiest lecturers in the country, Dr. Winters is also a member of the board of directors of the John Howard association, which works with the Chicago Crime commission, Illinois penal institutions, and paroled prisoners. His vast experience in problems of criminology and delinquency promises a highly informative and helpful address. Dr. Winters has had 20 years' experience in radio ministry, and has held a William Lyon Phelps book lectureship for 16 years, this from the Chautauqua institution, of whose scientific and literary circle he is a director. Arlington Heights is indeed fortunate to have secured the services of this well-known lecturer, who has promised to return here in January to speak at another school.

Mothers of both fifth grade sessions and of section two, second grade, will serve refreshments.

North School to See Village Theatre Play

Sponsored by the Village Theatre, and directed by Mrs. Dennis Malcolmson, "The Case of the Missing Handshake" will be presented at North school next Tuesday evening at 8:15. A stimulating and thought-provoking story of two young girls—one rude and aggressive by her parents' standards, and the other timid and withdrawn by her camp director's standards, the play examines the feelings and motives of the parents in relation to the girls' behavior. To find the conclusions reached on this often controversial subject, North School parents must come and hear for themselves. In anticipation of varied reactions to and opinions of the ideas presented in the play, a discussion has been scheduled to follow; this wil be led by Mrs. Larry Jenness, fourth grade teacher at North School.

The parents, Frank and Sarah, will be played by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hawley; their daughter, Valerie, by Roberta Hawley. Mrs. James Smith will pay the role of Miss Crosby, the camp director. This presentation is an excellent opportunity to get a foretaste of the talent which will be seen and heard later in the week at the Village Theater production of "The Male Animal."

Hostesses will be the mothers of both fifth grade sections.

Mr. Clabaugh and Mr. Lockwood to Speak at Dryden

Parents and teachers at Dryden school will hear Ralph E. Clabaugh, superintendent of schools, explain the organization and workings of the school system, describing the many problems connected with education in our growing community, and the aspirations which are the basis for all planning and decisions.

Robert Lockwood, president of the Board of Education, will discuss the duties and functions of the school board, and its services to the community. Both of these speakers are sure to answer many questions present in parents' minds, and to clarify much that is not thoroughly understood about the Arlington Heights public schools.

The meetin~ will be held at 8:15 p.m. next Tuesday. Hostesses will be mothers of both fifth grade sections.

South School to Hear Robert Goodman

Robert A. Goodman, resource staff member from the Association for Family Living, will address South school parents and teachers next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m., on the subject of "The Child as Influenced by the Family." Mr. Goodman received his bachelor's degree from the University of New Hampshire in 1936, attended the New York School of Social Work for a year, and received his master of arts degree from the University of Chicago school of social service administration in 1940. Having been active in social work for a number of years, he is now a therapist at Ridge Farm in Lake Forest. Mr. Goodman's training and experience should provide a rewarding evening for parents.

Hostesses who will provide refreshments after the meting are mothers of all three sections of the fifth grade.

Pre-School Census Starts Monday

Preparations have been completed for the community-wide pre-school census which volunteer mothers of the PTA will undertake, starting Monday. Every home in the Arlington Heights This Week With PTA—Gal 2 .... school district will be visited, and a card filled out for each child under school age, with a notation as to whether he is expected to attend a public, Catholic or Lutheran school. This information will be available to the officials of non-public schools, so that the project will serve the entire community and provide essential information about expected future enrollment and educational facilities which will be needed.

It is hoped that the information received from the census will also make possible the formation of a study group for parents of pre-school children, as considerable interest has been manifested in such a group.

"The Male Animal" to Be Presented Next Week

When "thought control" was but a specter leering dimly from foreign shores, and the benefits of academic freedom, as of orange juice, could not be questioned without arousing an irate citizenry, James Thurber and Elliott Nugent collaborated on a play that, instead of becoming outdated, has become more and more timely and pointed with each passing year. "The Male Animal," known and loved by millions of theater and movie-goers, will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings of next week by the Village Theatre, an organization known for its excellent productions in the past. The play is sponsored by the PTA, and will be presented at 8:30 p.m. both nights, at the junior high gymnasium. The sobering and thought-provoking theme of the play, the question of a professor's right to teach according to his own methods, is relieved and, perhaps, heightened by an extremely comic situation involving the professor's wife and a former sweetheart, a former football star who still fancies himself a fast man with a pass. The professor, prototype of the quiet, peaceful scholar, reveals unexpected strength in defense of what he considers an invasion of his rights as a teacher and a husband. Those who have seen the play will wish to renew the experience, and those who have not are urged to fill this yawning void in their cultural education without delay.

Tickets are now on sale, and are being distributed through room mothers, but anyone who wishes to go or has not been contacted may obtain tickets by calling Mrs. Allen H. Jones at CL 3-1372 or Mrs. Frank S. Harris at CL 3-2742.

Boot and Skate Exchange Tremendous Success

Facts and figures are not all in, but Mrs. Albert Dunham reports that the boot and skate exchange last Saturday was a huge success, approximately 400 pair of footgear changing hands (or feet). More details will be available next week.

Council Meeting of Much Interest

Those who attended the meeting of the Northwest Suburban council of PTA last Thursday in Des Plaines returned home full of enthusiasm about the fine speakers they heard and the wealth of information and ideas they received. The program was opened by Gilbert Rudiger of South school, Des Plaines, who pointed out that the passing of the blue ballot amendment is only the stepping stone to legislative reforms which are badly needed. He described certain of these, and urged his listeners to write to their representatives and encourage action on these issues.

Mrs. Arthur Williams of Normal, past president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, gave a talk on the objectives of PTA, and Mrs. Harold Cole, parent education chairman for District 21 of I.C.P.T., gave new scope and ideas for future work in parent education, reports Mrs. Charles Stewart, audio-visual education chairman of the Arlington Heights PTA. Mrs. Stewart regretted that so few members from here attended, and declared the program to be one of the most interesting and worthwhile she had ever heard.

Dr. Topp at Jr. High Nov. 23

No stranger to the PTA of Arlington Heights, Dr. Robert F. Topp, dean of the graduate school of the National College of Education in Evanston, will speak to junior high parents and teachers November 23, at 8:15 p.m. on "Parent Influence in Juvenile Delinquency." Dr. Topp's long experience as a teacher in elementary schools, principal of schools at Fort Morgan and Boulder, and assistant director of teacher education at the University of Illinois has well equipped him to discuss any phase of child education. Anyone who has heard Dr. Topp in previous years will not fail to attend this outstanding meeting.

Refreshments will be served following the program by mothers of sections 7 and 8 of the sixth grade, in the school cafeteria.

This Week with PTA

This week with PTA ....

First program meetings of the year will be presented at the elementary schools next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. Programs are varied, but all are expected to be of unusual interest.

Dr. Carl Winters to Speak at Ridge

DR. WINTERS

One of the most outstanding speakers to come to Arlington Heights, Dr. Carl Winters, minister of the First Baptist church in Oak Park, will speak to Ridge school parents and teachers next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. on "Today's Youth in Tomorrow's World." Former crime commissioner of Michigan, chairman of Skid-Row Commission for 1200 churches of Chicago Federation, and one of the busiest lecturers in the country, Dr. Winters is also a member of the board of directors of the John Howard association, which works with the Chicago Crime commission, Illinois penal institutions, and paroled prisoners. His vast experience in problems of criminology and delinquency promises a highly informative and helpful address. Dr. Winters has had 20 years' experience in radio ministry, and has held a William Lyon Phelps book lectureship for 16 years, this from the Chautauqua institution, of whose scientific and literary circle he is a director. Arlington Heights is indeed fortunate to have secured the services of this well-known lecturer, who has promised to return here in January to speak at another school.

Mothers of both fifth grade sessions and of section two, second grade, will serve refreshments.

North School to See Village Theatre Play

Sponsored by the Village Theatre, and directed by Mrs. Dennis Malcolmson, "The Case of the Missing Handshake" will be presented at North school next Tuesday evening at 8:15. A stimulating and thought-provoking story of two young girls—one rude and aggressive by her parents' standards, and the other timid and withdrawn by her camp director's standards, the play examines the feelings and motives of the parents in relation to the girls' behavior. To find the conclusions reached on this often controversial subject, North School parents must come and hear for themselves. In anticipation of varied reactions to and opinions of the ideas presented in the play, a discussion has been scheduled to follow; this wil be led by Mrs. Larry Jenness, fourth grade teacher at North School.

The parents, Frank and Sarah, will be played by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hawley; their daughter, Valerie, by Roberta Hawley. Mrs. James Smith will pay the role of Miss Crosby, the camp director. This presentation is an excellent opportunity to get a foretaste of the talent which will be seen and heard later in the week at the Village Theater production of "The Male Animal."

Hostesses will be the mothers of both fifth grade sections.

Mr. Clabaugh and Mr. Lockwood to Speak at Dryden

Parents and teachers at Dryden school will hear Ralph E. Clabaugh, superintendent of schools, explain the organization and workings of the school system, describing the many problems connected with education in our growing community, and the aspirations which are the basis for all planning and decisions.

Robert Lockwood, president of the Board of Education, will discuss the duties and functions of the school board, and its services to the community. Both of these speakers are sure to answer many questions present in parents' minds, and to clarify much that is not thoroughly understood about the Arlington Heights public schools.

The meeting will be held at 8:15 p.m. next Tuesday. Hostesses will be mothers of both fifth grade sections.

South School to Hear Robert Goodman

Robert A. Goodman, resource staff member from the Association for Family Living, will address South school parents and teachers next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m., on the subject of "The Child as Influenced by the Family." Mr. Goodman received his bachelor's degree from the University of New Hampshire in 1936, attended the New York School of Social Work for a year, and received his master of arts degree from the University of Chicago school of social service administration in 1940. Having been active in social work for a number of years, he is now a therapist at Ridge Farm in Lake Forest. Mr. Goodman's training and experience should provide a rewarding evening for parents.

Hostesses who will provide refreshments after the meting are mothers of all three sections of the fifth grade.

Pre-School Census Starts Monday

Preparations have been completed for the community-wide pre-school census which volunteer mothers of the PTA will undertake, starting Monday. Every home in the Arlington Heights This Week With PTA—Gal 2 .... school district will be visited, and a card filled out for each child under school age, with a notation as to whether he is expected to attend a public, Catholic or Lutheran school. This information will be available to the officials of non-public schools, so that the project will serve the entire community and provide essential information about expected future enrollment and educational facilities which will be needed.

It is hoped that the information received from the census will also make possible the formation of a study group for parents of pre-school children, as considerable interest has been manifested in such a group.

"The Male Animal" to Be Presented Next Week

When "thought control" was but a specter leering dimly from foreign shores, and the benefits of academic freedom, as of orange juice, could not be questioned without arousing an irate citizenry, James Thurber and Elliott Nugent collaborated on a play that, instead of becoming outdated, has become more and more timely and pointed with each passing year. "The Male Animal," known and loved by millions of theater and movie-goers, will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings of next week by the Village Theatre, an organization known for its excellent productions in the past. The play is sponsored by the PTA, and will be presented at 8:30 p.m. both nights, at the junior high gymnasium. The sobering and thought-provoking theme of the play, the question of a professor's right to teach according to his own methods, is relieved and, perhaps, heightened by an extremely comic situation involving the professor's wife and a former sweetheart, a former football star who still fancies himself a fast man with a pass. The professor, prototype of the quiet, peaceful scholar, reveals unexpected strength in defense of what he considers an invasion of his rights as a teacher and a husband. Those who have seen the play will wish to renew the experience, and those who have not are urged to fill this yawning void in their cultural education without delay.

Tickets are now on sale, and are being distributed through room mothers, but anyone who wishes to go or has not been contacted may obtain tickets by calling Mrs. Allen H. Jones at CL 3-1372 or Mrs. Frank S. Harris at CL 3-2742.

Boot and Skate Exchange Tremendous Success

Facts and figures are not all in, but Mrs. Albert Dunham reports that the boot and skate exchange last Saturday was a huge success, approximately 400 pair of footgear changing hands (or feet). More details will be available next week.

Council Meeting of Much Interest

Those who attended the meeting of the Northwest Suburban council of PTA last Thursday in Des Plaines returned home full of enthusiasm about the fine speakers they heard and the wealth of information and ideas they received. The program was opened by Gilbert Rudiger of South school, Des Plaines, who pointed out that the passing of the blue ballot amendment is only the stepping stone to legislative reforms which are badly needed. He described certain of these, and urged his listeners to write to their representatives and encourage action on these issues.

Mrs. Arthur Williams of Normal, past president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, gave a talk on the objectives of PTA, and Mrs. Harold Cole, parent education chairman for District 21 of I.C.P.T., gave new scope and ideas for future work in parent education, reports Mrs. Charles Stewart, audio-visual education chairman of the Arlington Heights PTA. Mrs. Stewart regretted that so few members from here attended, and declared the program to be one of the most interesting and worthwhile she had ever heard.

Korean Editors Amazed By America's Weekly Press

An editor of South Korea visited the country towns Tuesday and examined copies of Paddock Publications.

"We have nothing in Korea to compare with such community papers," declared K. S. Lim, editor of a daily paper in Seoul. "I am very much amazed and impressed with the quality of these weekly papers."

Mr. Lim said there are 115 newspapers in South Korea to serve 20 million people. Fourteen of these are located in Seoul, the capitol city.

Korean newspapers must be printed in Korean as well as Chinese characters, although there is an effort under way to publish only in Korean.

Although Korean papers cost only 6c, this represents an important part of the average Korean income. In rural areas, one person buys a paper, and the whole populace gather to hear it read.

Newspapers in South Korea are "double tabloid" size, four pages, with page one devoted to political news, page two to local events, page three to background and interpretative articles, and page four to cultural news.

Only 20 per cent of the press' income is derived from advertising.

Mr. Bronwell's subject was the recent flooding of basements in the area, as well as those elsewhere in town. Residents were given a report on the findings in the survey made on Weller creek in recent months. Steps the village plans to take to try to prevent a reoccurrence of the terrific sewer backups in basements were announced. Those who attended the meeting were well pleased with Mr Bronwell's interest in the subject and are hopeful that future heavy rains will bring on less destruction and possibly none. Card playing and refreshments served by Lou Larson and Mary Johnson concluded the evening.

Plans have been made for the group to visit the veterans division of Elgin hospital November 19. Any members wishing to go should meet at the Village hall at 6 p.m. where transportation will be furnished.

From The Police Blotter...

Richard Anderson, 12, of Arlington Heights, suffered injuries to his left hip and leg when he was knocked off his bicycle after colliding with a car at the corner of State and Park November 2. John W. Bowen, driver of the auto, told police he was traveling south on State rd. and started to turn east on Park when the accident occurred. The boy was riding his bike north on State. The accident occurred at 5:29 p.m.

Four hub caps off of a 1953 Buick were reported stolen by Joe Tamulis, 202 W. South st., October 30. He said the car was parked in front of his home when the theft occurred.

A rear view mirror fastened on the left door of the Nester Pastur auto was reported stolen November 4. The car was parked in the theatre parking lot when the mirror was taken.

Another theft of auto accessories was reported to the police by James Chase, Rohlwing rd. He said a radio, rear tire, four floor mats and a front seat cushion were taken out of his 1954 Ford parked in the Poole garage parking lot, November 6.

The police were called to the Ben Franklin store November 4 to pick up a young lad the proprietor had caught shoplifting.

Two inhalator calls were answered by the fire department the past week. They revived George Kost who suddenly became ill November 4. They also met a Chicago and North Western train, which reported an ill passenger.

Their services were not needed, however, as the passenger, a man from Woodstock, had suffered an epileptic attack, and was recovered by the time the train got into Arlington. Woodstock police were notified to meet the train and escort the man to his home.

Mrs. Arthur McElhose, 816 N. Belmont, reported to police that two windows in her auto were damaged while she had the car parked in the Jewel lot November 4. The left window had been cut with a glass cutter and the right window had a hole shot in it.

Mrs. Conrad Neumann, 833 N. Ridge, called police to investigate the cause of a broken storm door and inside door window November 4. She said she was working in the kitchen when she heard the glass break. Police could find no trace of anything that might have been thrown through the glass. They surmised that possibly a passing car had thrown up a stone, which glanced off the glass, breaking it.

Two six year old boys playing with matches caused a fire in a new home under construction at 725 S. Dunton last Saturday morning. The boys were apprehended and the parents were asked to settle the damage, which was confined to the garage and kitchen wall, with the builder.

The fire department also answered a call at 3:37 a.m. Friday at the Anderson home, corner of Central and Wilke rds. An oil stove had caught fire and the firemen put out the blaze.

Numerous cases were heard in traffic court Monday night and fines were assessed for the following violations: driving on the wrong side of the street, driving auto with heavy frost on windows, failing to yield right-of-way, no tail light, disobeying traffic signals and stop signs. One case where a man was booked for driving under the influence of liquor was sent downtown for disposition, as it was the man's second offense.

Palatine Post Office In Special Request To Rolling Meadows

A lot of mail for residents of Rolling Meadows is still addressed to Palatine, whose postmaster asks that residents of that area notify their correspondents of their correct Arlington Heights address.

Mail received in Palatine for Rolling Meadows is delayed at least a day. With the approach of the Christmas season, it is especially important that the correct address be furnished to all persons from whom mail is expected.

Skid Row Committeeman To Speak Tomorrow To Mr. and Mrs. Club

Dr. William Seath, Superintendent of the Chicago Christian Industrial league will speak at Mr. and Mrs. Club of First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights Friday, Nov. 12 at 6:45 p.m.

Work of the league has attracted national attention and Dr. Seath is recognized as an authority on the subject of homeless and transient men. He has been a member of the "Mayor's Committee of Skid Row" since its organization in 1950.

The league was organized in 1909 by the Presbytery of Chicago and is located in the heart of West Madison and Halsted area where thousands of homeless men gather. The mission serves an average of 435 meals daily and each night 325 men are provided with sleeping facilities. Over 80 men are regularly employed, gathering and repairing discarded furniture and other items, part of which are sold and others given to worthy families.

Hosts for the meeting will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tully and Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Jansen.

Shade Tree Loss Seen Curbed By Annual Surveys

Tree watching has become much more than just a pleasant pastime for nature lovers and municipalities.

Periodic checks on the condition of community trees in parks and on streets mean much in saving the nation's shade and ornamaental trees from insect enemies and diseases, such as Dutch elm.

More and more municipalities are becoming aware of the need for scientifically combatting tree enemies and are engaging city entomologists to curb arboreal depredations. Buffalo is one of the latest to have a scientist on its staff to help preserve its beautiful trees.

Smaller communities unable to afford a city entomologist can consult specialists as they need them at nominal cost, says F. R. Lancaster, technical consultant of the Davey Tree expert co.

Annual surveys of park and street trees will reveal extent of damage, dangerous trees, suspicious symptoms of major arboreal maladies and encroachment of dangerous insects. In most smaller cities, towns or villages, the service can be accomplished in two or three days, and at a cost of only a few cents a tree.

Such surveys reveal suspect trees outside known areas of infection, perhaps for such rampaging ills as Dutch elm disease.

However, the best-planned community programs will not be effective without the active support of private citizens. Home owners can help by recognizing the need for sanitation, removal and burning of dead, dying and fallen wood, and spraying, watering and feeding of trees.

Modern Kindergarten Methods in New School

Latest design and planning of kindergarten instruction is included in the kindergarten rooms of the new Paddock school in Palatine.

Rooms are irregularly shaped, providing for individual play activity areas.

The northeast corner of the room is v-shaped with windows on the east wall. This area is used for housekeeping and play house activity with doll beds, doll buggy, tables, and chairs.

Another section of the large room is equipped with partitions of glass brick, cupboards, drinking fountains, plants, and book shelves. Blocks and toys are stored here, and children can play with little disturbance from other parts of the room.

An easel is placed near the sink for painting, and the long north wall is completely glassed with a window ledge running the full length.

In front of windows are tables and chairs for children to use crayons, puzzles, clay, and picture books.

Each room has a door opening to the enclosed playground shared by both kindergarten rooms.

These facilities make it possible for Palatine teachers to use the most modern, thorough techniques of kindergarten instruction.

Consumers Hold Key To Business Outlook

Consumers are once more taking the center of the stage as the key figure in the nation's business outlook, the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago reports.

Since mid-1953 shrinking business inventories and declining defense spending have been in the driver's seat — forcing business into a mild decline. But now that these downward forces have slackened, any change in the current business pace is more than ever dependent on consumer behavior.

WHAT'S MORE, consumers have the wherewithal to step up spending if they so desire. Consumer income after taxes is near an all-time high as lower levels of employment have been offset by tax cuts and increased unemployment pension payments. In addition, liquid savings are larger than ever.

These developments, however, do not necessarily assure a business pickup in the near future. The ability of manufacturers and merchants to coax consumer dollars to the retail counter will be the chief determinant of whether sales and output start upward or even remain at present levels. Major obstacle to this achievement is the ample stocks of goods, especially autos and household items, already in the hands of consumers.

RISING PRODUCTION of television sets, furniture and floor coverings in recent months indicates that retail merchants are stocking up in anticipation of good fall sales. For the most part, retailers seem to have solved inventory problems which existed earlier in the year.

Over the last 12 months more and more firms of all types have reduced inventories to satisfactory levels. The rise in the rate of steel production from 63 per cent of capacity in July to 74 per cent in October indicates that some users have reached the bottom of their stockpile.

DEVELOPMENTS in the auto and military goods industries are also alleviating the pressure of inventory liquidation. Auto manufacturers have been accumulating parts and supplies for the production of new models.

Industry output, which has been picking up steam in recent weeks, may top 600,000 cars by December — the highest monthly output since April 1955. Although defense spending is not expected to increase, a steady gain in military orders in the past months promises to keep these outlays from sagging as sharply as they did last year.

About Your Health

A hernia is commonly known as a rupture. Actually there are several types of hernia, the commonest of which is the so-called inguinal hernia. The inguinal hernia is often found in the working man, but not necessarily one who is engaged in hard manual labor, the educational committee of the Illinois State Medical society points out in Health Talk.

In fact, many of the hernias that develop are in individuals who have never done any hard labor, which indicates that a weakness in the abdominal wall allows the hernia to occur.

While is it not certain heredity is a factor in the development of hernias, there is evidence these so-called ruptures occur frequently in father and son.

SMALL AREA where the thigh meets the body is called inguinal area. When there is a weakness in the lower abdominal muscles, a protrusion results which, in reality, is a sac containing the omentum or fat. The protrusion may also contain a portion of the small or large bowel, or the bladder. In other words, the protrusion may contain any one of these organs of the body or any combination of them. The contents of the sac may be limited to the groin or extend into adjacent parts of the body.

Ordinarily the hernia contents can be returned or what is medically known as reduced back into the abdominal wall. Thus the hernia is termed reducible, that is, when the contents can be pushed back.

HOWEVER, over a period of years as the abdominal wall becomes weaker the size of the hernia may increase from pressure or irritation or from the fact that the hernia has been allowed to protrude for an extended period of time. Again the hernia contents may become attached to the inside of the hernia sac, so that it may not be reduced. When this occurs the hernia is called irreducible.

WHEN THE HERNIA becomes irreducible, the condition becomes complicated. Now the omentum or fat, the small or large bowel, either individually or in combination are constantly outside the abdominal cavity and consequently becomes susceptible to further injury or constriction.

This may cause an interference in the normal flow of the intestinal contents, producing the condition known as intestinal obstruction. If the constriction is great enough to shut off the blood supply also, the hernia contents are apt to become gangrenous. If this complication is not cared for promptly, additional serious complications develop which may necessitate the removal of the gangrenous bowel.

Heat Absorbing Glass Popular For Jalousies

The cool-looking, blue-green glass being used in jalousies through the south and in the glass-enclosed porches of many northern homes is as practical as it is attractive, according to E. R. Pierce, plate glass sales manager for Libby-Owens-Ford Glass company

He said the glass is made with special chemicals which enable it to absorb more than half of the sum's radiant energy and, therefore, keep interiors cooler.

The heat absorbing glass in jalousies is the same as that used in many aircraft control towers, in the windows and window walls exposed to the sun's direct rays in many modern homes, and is similar to that used in automobiles to lessen eye fatigue and keep cars cooler.

Thermopane insulating glass, Mr. Pierce said, which is made of two panes of glass with a space of dehydrated air sealed between the panes, is also made with the outer pane of heat absorbing Thermopane provides winter insulation as well as excluding a high percentage of the sun's heat in summer.

Plymouth's bigger and more powerful 1955 model cars will be displayed by Palatine Motors, Chicago ave., Palatine, beginning Wednesday, November 17.

The 1955 Plymouths are entirely new, both in styling and engineering detail. They are lower, longer and wider than previous Plymouth cars.

They are the most powerful cars Plymouth ever built. The 1955 engines are a 117-horsepower PowerFlow six, a 157-horsepower Hy-Fire V-8 and a 167-horsepower Hy-Fire V-8. The latter engine also is available with a four-barrel carburetor and special manifold which increases its horsepower to 177.

The 1955 line includes 12 models, including for the first time four-door versions of the Plymouth Suburban, the all steel body "station wagon" type car which Plymouth pioneered in 1949.

Film About Arlington High Now Available To Public

The film which was shown to parents and friends of Arlington Heights high school at the recent open house is now available for showings to groups within the community, Harold L. Slichenmyer, superintendent of the school, announced this week.

It will be loaned together with a tape recording of the commentary presented by Larry Jenness. speech teacher. Film projector and tape recorder will be furnished and a member of the audio visual club will operate the equipment. The only charge will be a small fee to the operator. Groups using the film are asked to furnish transportation for the film and equipment.

THE FILM is an attempt to show the daily routine of typical students in our high school. Two boys and two girls representing each of the four classes in school were selected, and the camera followed them through their complete daily routine, with a few side trips to include classes and activities not on any of the four students' programs.

By following this technique, the photographers were able to show almost all the school's facilities in normal use, including general and special classrooms, study halls, gymnasiums, library, halls, shops, cafeteria, and offices.

Clubs and other groups which would like to schedule the film for their programs are asked to call the high school office. Since only one copy of the fflm was made, scheduling will be on a first come, first serve basis.

Students Can Get Milk For 2 Cents Half-Pint

Milk is now available to students of Arlington Heights high school at a price of 2 cents per half-pint as a result of the federal milk program for schools established by congress this year.

Students receive a half-pint of milk with their lunches and may purchase additional halfpints for two cents. Those who bring lunches from home may purchase milk at four cents for the first half-pint and two cents for each additional half-pint.

The program was established by Congress to provide for better nutrition among school children and uses surplus milk which the government would have to buy anyway. The milk is purchased through regular sources of supply and the school is re-imbursed for the increased consumption.

Teachers and other adults who eat at the school are not permitted to buy milk under this plan, but must pay full retail price.

Plymouth's bigger and more powerful 1955 model cars will be displayed by Palatine Motors, Chicago ave., Palatine, beginning Wednesday, November 17.

The 1955 Plymouths are entirely new, both in styling and engineering detail. They are lower, longer and wider than previous Plymouth cars.

They are the most powerful cars Plymouth ever built. The 1955 engines are a 117-horsepower PowerFlow six, a 157-horsepower Hy-Fire V-8 and a 167-horsepower Hy-Fire V-8. The latter engine also is available with a four-barrel carburetor and special manifold which increases its horsepower to 177.

The 1955 line includes 12 models, including for the first time four-door versions of the Plymouth Suburban, the all steel body "station wagon" type car which Plymouth pioneered in 1949.

Film About Arlington High Now Available To Public

The film which was shown to parents and friends of Arlington Heights high school at the recent open house is now available for showings to groups within the community, Harold L. Slichenmyer, superintendent of the school, announced this week.

It will be loaned together with a tape recording of the commentary presented by Larry Jenness. speech teacher. Film projector and tape recorder will be furnished and a member of the audio visual club will operate the equipment. The only charge will be a small fee to the operator. Groups using the film are asked to furnish transportation for the film and equipment.

THE FILM is an attempt to show the daily routine of typical students in our high school. Two boys and two girls representing each of the four classes in school were selected, and the camera followed them through their complete daily routine, with a few side trips to include classes and activities not on any of the four students' programs.

By following this technique, the photographers were able to show almost all the school's facilities in normal use, including general and special classrooms, study halls, gymnasiums, library, halls, shops, cafeteria, and offices.

Clubs and other groups which would like to schedule the film for their programs are asked to call the high school office. Since only one copy of the film was made, scheduling will be on a first come, first serve basis.

Students Can Get Milk For 2 Cents Half-Pint

Milk is now available to students of Arlington Heights high school at a price of 2 cents per half-pint as a result of the federal milk program for schools established by congress this year.

Students receive a half-pint of milk with their lunches and may purchase additional halfpints for two cents. Those who bring lunches from home may purchase milk at four cents for the first half-pint and two cents for each additional half-pint.

The program was established by Congress to provide for better nutrition among school children and uses surplus milk which the government would have to buy anyway. The milk is purchased through regular sources of supply and the school is re-imbursed for the increased consumption.

Teachers and other adults who eat at the school are not permitted to buy milk under this plan, but must pay full retail price.

Dale Taylor, Des Plaines, and Arthur Hale, Park Ridge, head the patron committee of the orchestra and have announced that over 100 patrons and associate members were enlisted in the recent drive. Over 50 local musicians attend rehearsals regularly each Tuesday evening at Maine high school. (AMP

Fifty Years Ago

November 11, 1904

Mrs. Josephine Vogt, Wheeling, died November 4 after a long illness. She was 66 years of age.

There is talk in Arlington Heights of combining the several village and township offices so that one man can draw the fat salaries for serving as treasurer assessor, supervisor, collector, president, etc.

Buffalo Grove's genial blacksmith, pickle raiser, cider manufacturer, bridge builder and all-around cyclone hustler, A. G Horcher, is busy decorating the new bridge with an elegant array of colors.

The telephones are in at Meacham now and should prove of much benefit to the farmers.

Some 160 signers of an ordinance asking that Arlington Hts. taverns be closed nightly at 11 p.m. found the measure defeated after only Trustee Lorenzen cast a favoring vote.

Forty Years Ago

November 13, 1914

The corn contest for the two largest ears ended November 9 at Krueger's in Schaumburg with W. C. Kreft winning the prize. His ears were raised by Herman Kreft of Plum Grove.

The Roselle telephone operators made a trip to Bensenville Tuesday to look at a new switchboard just installed there.

Plans are near completion for a project which will plant 1,200 rose bushes in Roselle so that it will be able to truly live up to its name as "The Rose Suburb."

Minnie Busche and Alfred Sunderlage were wed Sunday at St. Peter's Lutheran church in Schaumburg with the Rev. Theiss pronouncing the vows.

Every Mount Prospect businessman has reported increased business since the election and they all hope for a boom in everything.

The idea of withdrawing nine northern townships from Cook county to form a new county was proclaimed warmly at a meeting of 350 civic leaders in Evanston Friday night. Arlington Heights was mentioned as a likely spot for the county seat due to its central location in the territory.

Northwest Cook county found two local men elected in the election last Tuesday. Republican William Busse was elected a county commissioner He is from Mount Prospect. Noble J. Puffer of Palatine, running on the Democratic ticket, is the new county superintendent of schools.

Deaths this week: Fred W Redeker, who was born in Schaumburg township and had lived in Arlington Heights for the past 33 years, Sunady afternoon at the age of 81.

Mrs. Christina Volmer, who had been living with her niece in Palatine, died Tuesday morning following a stroke Friday. The niece, Mary Wiesmerslage, passed on 10 days ago.

With five victories in as many tests, the Arlington gridders appear a sure bet to take the Northwest conference title.

Tedrahn's country store at Cloverdale, a landmark, post office and gathering place for nearby farmers for the past half century, was completely destroyed by fire Wednesday evening. Since no water supply was available, firemen from Wheaton and Bloomingdale could do little more than watch.

The new Palatine National bank is scheduled to open for business Saturday with the following officers: John G. Ford, president; Stanley F. Pepper, vice-president, and Warren C. Kohler, cashier.

Thomas E. Dewey was a solid favorite over President Franklin D. Roosevelt in Tuesday's voting in the Northwest towns, but this was of course not the situation elsewhere in most places across the nation.

The Rev. W. F. Huebner, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church of Palatine for the past five years, will preach his final sermon there Sunday. He is going to a Chicago church.

Mount Prospect last week passed a plan for a new $27,000 well installation with the cost to be financed with receipts from water bills.

A record vote of close to 60,000 was reported in DuPage county Tuesday with 33,000 straight Republican ballots included in the total. Dewey was accorded a margin of better than 4 to 1 over President Roosevelt.

Doris LaGue and Richard Cooper of the U. S. Navy were married Saturday in the First Evangelical church of Bensenville.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

When the roaring cannon became mute and weary soldiers left their water soaked trenches in 1917, the whole world heaved a sigh of relief. The war to end wars had been fought to a finish. Out of the fiery ordeal, out of the death, suffering and starvation which millinos had endured for four long years was to be born a new freedom, a new security, a new peace. In gratitude to God who had permitted us to vanquish our foe, and to the brave men who had died that freedom might live, we Americans set aside November 11, the day the Armistice was signed, as a perpetual memorial to the dead who had not died in vail, but had won everlasting peace.

In bitter irony, we look back today over the years which followed; years in which the nations of the world discarded many of their weapons of war. In the Potomac river and other harbors of the United States, hundreds of war vessels were, we believed, anchored in their last resting place.

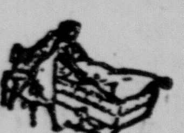
BUT NOW we know, lasting peace could not be because it did not live n the hearts of Men of Destiny. Great new leaders sprang up in Germany, Italy and Russia who inflamed their populations with dreams of world conquest. The swastika of Germany, the black shirt fascists of Italy, the hammer and sickle of Russia were the ominous and powerful insignia which once more set the stage for another show of suffering and death on a scale even more terrible and destructive than the war to end all wars. On this Armistice Day we cannot but look back over the tragedies of the past 37 years with sadness and into war clouds which threaten our future with grave premonition that only by the grace of God will another, most devastating of all wars, be avoided.

War cannot end until the lust for power and wealth no longer lives in the hearts of men who guide the destiny of nations. To hope that it will is sheer dreaming. The security of our nation and of the world rests in the hearts of Men of Destiny who love all mankind and fear God. There are but a few such men in the world. Hope will still live in the hearts of men as it always has since it is a part of our nature; but hope, without faith and love, is a vain, a helpless thing.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

FROM PATTY McARDLE



Dear Peg:

I enjoyed one of the most educational and rewarding experiences I've ever had, on election day this year. You know, it would be a very good thing if all of us were required at sometime to serve for a day at the polls—not only would we learn how very important every ballot is, but we couldn't help being inspired by the idea that this was really America, the land of freedom, busy at work electing American leaders in the true American Way.

I had been looking forward to election day ever since our precinct committeeman called and asked me to be a clerk at our poll that day. Having done very little political work, I was uncertain about the duties of a clerk, but eager to learn. Before going to bed Monday night, I carefully set the alarm clock for 5 a. m., then fell into a fitful sleep.

SINCE I DON'T TRUST alarm clocks to always bear the great responsibility that they're given, I awoke several times during the night to check on the setting mechanism. It was almost 5 when I reached over and turned the alarm off, not even giving the poor old clock a chance to prove it was going to perform its duty properly. It was cold, dark and still outside, and an unearthly hour for anyone to be crawling out of a nice warm bed. I crept softly around, dressing and having a cup of coffee, so as not to awaken Bob or the girls, and at exactly 10 minutes of 6 walked downstairs and out to Mrs. Spencer's waiting car.

There was something so unreal about the scene—eight of us sitting at a long table in the assessor's office, with several lights on since it was still dark, drinking coffee from someone's thermos and counting and initialing white and blue ballots. It was just 6:04 a. m. when the first voter walked in, stepped up to the table and according to law, clearly spoke his name and address to all of us. His name was checked off in the master file book and he was given a white slip of paper, which, after he signed, entitled him to a white and a blue ballot.

UNTIL 10 O'CLOCK large groups of men rushed in to vote just before train time. From then until about 4, people came through pretty regularly. Around 4, people coming home from work started coming in in fairly large groups and on the dot of 5 p. m. we took in our flag and our sign saying, "Precinct 10—Vote Here."

The ballot box was unlocked and the ballots poured out on the table. First came the separation of white and blue, then the separation of straight Democratic, straight Republican and split ballots. Although only 502 people voted out of a possible 732, and you wonder what happened to the other 230, more tragic than that was the number of votes that had to be thrown out due to improper marking.

FIVE COMPLETE BALLOTS had to be discarded—a couple had checks instead of x's, a couple had too hastily drawn x's that were not in the center of the boxes, another marked candidates for the same job on both sides. There were many single votes on ballots that had to be discarded mainly because the x was not drawn in the proper place. On the blue ballot too, several people wrote in the word "yes" for each of the three questions, and others drew their x's in the same box in which appeared the printed "yes."

If our one precinct had to discard that many votes, it's frightening to consider the percentage of incorrect ballots on a national scale. This is a serious problem that political workers had better tackle before going out after more votes, a large number of which may have to go uncounted. Peg, I wish you'd discuss this among your friends. I suspect they think the intention of the voter will count. This is not true. The mark must be an "x" and must cross in the middle of the box provided for the mark.

Needless to say, I fell into bed exhausted when I got home Tuesday night — and that's what I'm going to do right now. Good night.

My love,
Patty.

Chicago Vice, Corruption Spurs Growth Of Country Towns

by CHUCK HAYES

Chicago has survived reform like a boy survives childhood diseases.

Both are considered as temporary inconveniences.

Chicago views its reform movements like the mumps or whooping cough. Sooner or later it's gone and the recovered patient 'can forget the discomfort.

The city's indifference to its corruption is a major factor in the fantastic growth of the northwest country towns Families by the score have been fleeing the city in ever-increasing numbers.

The latest reform movement to begin its downward slide is the Citizens for Greater Chicago, which opened its crusade in a confident blast of publicity and may be fading in the embarassment of silence.

Perhaps like the old British Empire it wants to die in dignity.

With the resignation several weeks ago of its dynamic director, Fred Hoehler, CGC elevated itself to the historic obituary of Chicago's famed and ill-famed reform and crusade groups.

Chicagoans tire easily of graft. Revelations have been so commonplace, and the immunity to century-old corruption so established, that Chicago may never support a permanent and effective reform movement.

This may be an important factor in the continual growth of such model suburbs as Palatine, Arlington Heights, and Mt. Prospect.

CGC was Chicago's big opportunity because it sought not to piddle with the symptoms of crime, but rather correct the causes.

In the final analysis, will it become just another anti-crime committee, not dissimilar to dozens of others in Chicago history?

In 1872, for example, the city twice tried to establish a reform group, and twice it failed.

Another reform effort was made in 1874, this time with a Committee of One Hundred. Like its predecessors, it dispersed without having disturbed the city's customary pattern of life.

And that pattern was a familiar one: prostitution, gambling, rampant crime, and notorious political corruption.

Vice districts were so numerous that local guidebooks were published to help the stranger find his way among Dead Man's Alley, the Black Hole, the Levee, Bad Lands, or Little Cheyenne.

The Citizens Law and Order league in 1877, by concentrating on the sale of liquor to minors, had some success because saloonkeepers cooperated; efforts in other areas failed.

THE "GRAND DAME," of virtue in Chicago was the indefatigable Francis E. Willard, the devout Dean of Women at Northwestern university who quit her job to reform Chicago.

She, too, was doomed to the ignominy of failure that shadowed all reform efforts.

When Jane Addams began her work at Hull House, the feminist movement was on the march.

Chicago's tradition of- self-reliance was well-suited to the temperament of Jane Addams. She knew the best way to get things done was to do it yourself.

She supervised garbage collections in slum areas to make sure they were adequate.

An ally of Jane Addams was Louise de Koven Brown, who joined the war on brutal confusion and neglect. She opened a boys club in the basement of her mansion and fought social inertia among the upper classes.

But even with the gallant efforts of such women as these, the mass of Chicago still yawned in the face of civic disease.

When the seedy Levee district was at its boisterous height, a strong reform movement at last began to take shape. Its leader was William T. Stead, an English reformer and editor of the "Review of Reviews."

It was Stead who dramatized Chicago vice with a book called, "If Christ Came to Chicago," which detailed the flagrant vice, crime, and political corruption.

For a time he was successful. His principal target was political corruption which, because of public disinterest, allowed vice to flourish.

He said that the religion of the church had been replaced with a faith "built upon bribery, intimidation, bulldozing of every kind, knifing, shooting and the whole swimming in whiskey."

His successor was Lyman Gage and the Civic Federation, which maintained a steady attack upon public gambling, payroll stuffing, fraudulent street paving and sweeping, resignation and voting frauds, crooked assessors and collectors, opium dens, and other municipal evils.

In addition to this frontal assault upon gambling and related evils, the Civic Federation organized the Municipal Voters league to try and interest public-spirited citizens in accepting public office.

Typical of the response was that of Joseph Medill, editor of the Chicago Tribune, who said, "Politics and office-seeking are pretty good things to let alone for a man who has intellect and individuality."

While the league did not do away with corrupt practices, it at least provided a temporary leavening which did eliminate many of the worst abuses of the past.

OTHER COLORFUL figures which joined the crusade: Carrie Nation, who came "to pray not to smash"; Virginia Brooks. who organized an anti-vice parade with 5,000 marchers in a downpour; and Lucy Page Gaston, with her comical anti-tobacco crusade.

During the Twenties and the two terms of Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson, the corruption of the police was pushed to the saturation point.

During the first four months of 1926 there were 29 gang killings in Chicago; the total for four years was more than 200 and all without a single conviction for murder.

Despite efforts at reform from the Illinois Crime commission, little was done to really clean up Chicago.

WEAK ATTEMPTS by various "reform" mayors, stringer groups, and lecturing crusaders barely made a dent in the wall of public apathy.

Capone was finally removed from the scene by the federal government, which jailed him for tax evasion.

During the Thirties and up to World War II, continued efforts were made at reform. Chicago gave birth to such groups as the Honest Ballot committee (1935), the Joint Civic Committee on Election (1940), and the Women's Civic commission (1937), all of whom strove for reform in the city's political life.

They are still trying.

Have Citizens for Greater Chicago learned too late that the city is deaf to such cries?

The continued flow of families seeking good government and an honest way of life in the suburbs serves as a constant reminder of Chicago's failure to instill a sense of faith in the city's destiny.

Rumanian Family Reunited After 11 Year Separation

A mother, father and two children who had been separated 11 years because of conflicts during World War II, were reunited Monday and are now making their home in Palatine.

The happy family is Mr. and Mrs. Anton Putz and children, Hermina and Joseph. Mrs. Putz and children were living in Rumania, Mr. Putz being away from home working in Germany, when the war broke out and the Russians took over Rumania. Mr. Putz was forced to stay in Germany and his wife had to go to Russia and work for five years. Their children were left in Rumania in the care of their grandparents.

In December of 1949 Mrs. Putz was allowed to rejoin her children, but living behind the Iron Curtain Mr. Putz could not rejoin them. In 1951 he was able to get passage to the United States and since his arrival here has been working at the Arlington Seating company.

He is the nephew of Mrs. John Hehn of Palatine. The family has an apartment on N. Bothwell, Palatine, into which they will move in the near future. At present they are staying at a friend's home.

During the separation the family has kept contact through letters, but they were few and far between due to heavy censorship. The Putz' son is 14 and their daughter is 12.

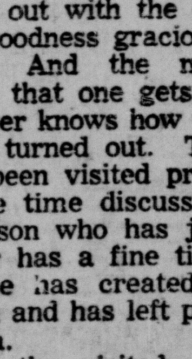
The mother and children flew here via American Airlines, arriving at Midway Airport, Chicago, Monday aternoon. (B5

Q. What is the order of recession at the conclusion of a church wedding?

A. Just the reverse of the entrance. The bride and bridegroom should lead, followed by the bridesmaids, and the ushers.

QUITE CONTRARY

BY MARY



We had the dubious pleasure of accompanying a very dear friend of ours on her first plane trip. She had sworn never never to desert terra firma for firmament. Feet on the ground was her motto.

But like all things that we all go around saying that we will never do, the time came when flying was, well, not exactly necessary, but more convenient. So she flew. We were feeling real bucked up because we have taken several trips and so were an old hand at the game. We were even jaunty as we boarded the plane and gayer than all get out when we took off.

The reason we have designated the pleasure of going along as being dubious is that we have heard that on occasion the uninitiated become ill. The thought of caring for someone in the throes of airsickness while eleven thousand feet in the air caused us qualms. It caused us such qualms that just guess who got queasy. You are so right. By the way, friend came through with flying colors and wonders what all the fuss was about.

Traveling is certainly good for the old ego. One gets all dressed up and proceeds to impress everyone in sight with one's brilliance and wordliness. Perhaps we should say that one makes every attempt in the book to be impressive. We suspect that one falls far short of knocking anyone out with the old personality but goodness gracious, what fun trying. And the nice thing about it is that one gets to go home and never knows how the whole thing has turned out. The ones who have been visited probably have a fine time discussing that strange person who has just left. The visitor has a fine time thinking that she has created a whale of a swath and has left people simply gaga.

We hope that the visited are happy because the visitor has had a fine time and came home thinking she is a pretty gay creature. Back to the salt mines with head uplifted and heart saddened at having to strip off what passes for glamor at our house. Out of the nylons and heels and back to the jeans and saddle shoes. It's good to be home, we hope.

Teaches In Hawaii

I can now fully agree with the many people who have written you in the past years saying how much they appreciate getting The Herald every week. Being so far away from home I find my interest doubles in what is going on in our own village.

Though my parents are regular correspondents, they find keeping five daughters "up on the news" a real task, so do the best thing —send copies of the paper to us all. We are probably the only family in Arlington that has to buy six copies every week to know what is happening in our growing community, but you can be assured that every page is read by all of us.

Incidentally I had saved all the articles written by your editor about Hawaii last year and get quite a kick out of re-reading them after visiting the same spots and comparing notes. I'm enjoying my stay here very much though I find it a bit difficult sometimes to get children to study in the play atmosphere of the islands. But children are the same the world over, I am quite sure.

The Russian Threat

As Commander-in-Chief of the newly created Continental Air Defense Command, I want to explain the absolute necessity for the expansion of the Ground Observer Corps — the grass roots element of the nation's air defense system.

I am soliciting your help in explaining to the people of the communities reached by Paddock Publications the reasons why more civilian plane spotters are urgently needed in air defense today.

First, despite the growing volume of "peaceful intention" speeches flowing from the Kremlin, we know that the Soviet Union air force is constantly and rapidly increasing its capability to launch a surprise, devastating air attack upon our country. Not only are the Soviets adding more long-range bombers to their attack groups, but they are concentrating on bigger and faster aircraft. I can assure you the Soviet Air Force has little need for aircraft of this type except for an attack against the United States.

Second, while we are constantly extending our electronic defenses, we must bear in mind that our radar installations are not infallible. Under certain conditions, civilian plane spotters might well be the principal means of providing information of approaching hostile aircraft.

The growing capabilities of the Soviet Union air force impel us to ask help now.

BUT NOW we know, lasting peace could not be because it did not live n the hearts of Men of Destiny. Great new leaders sprang up in Germany, Italy and Russia who inflamed their populations with dreams of world conquest. The swastika of Germany, the black shirt fascists of Italy, the hammer and sickle of Russia were the ominous and powerful insignia which once more set the stage for another show of suffering and death on a scale even more terrible and destructive than the war to end all wars. On this Armistice Day we cannot but look back over the tragedies of the past 37 years with sadness and into war clouds which threaten our future with grave premonition that only by the grace of God will another, most devastating of all wars, be avoided.

War cannot end until the lust for power and wealth no longer lives in the hearts of men who guide the destiny of nations. To hope that it will is sheer dreaming. The security of our nation and of the world rests in the hearts of Men of Destiny who love all mankind and fear God. There are but a few such men in the world. Hope will still live in the hearts of men as it always has since it is a part of our nature; but hope, without faith and love, is a vain, a helpless thing.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

FROM PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

I enjoyed one of the most educational and rewarding experiences I've ever had, on election day this year. You know, it would be a very good thing if all of us were required at sometime to serve for a day at the polls—not only would we learn how very important every ballot is, but we couldn't help being inspired by the idea that this was really America, the land of freedom, busy at work electing American leaders in the true American Way.

I had been looking forward to election day ever since our precinct committeeman called and asked me to be a clerk at our poll that day. Having done very little political work, I was uncertain about the duties of a clerk, but eager to learn. Before going to bed Monday night, I carefully set the alarm clock for 5 a. m., then fell into a fitful sleep.

SINCE I DON'T TRUST alarm clocks to always bear the great responsibility that they're given, I awoke several times during the night to check on the setting mechanism. It was almost 5 when I reached over and turned the alarm off, not even giving the poor old clock a chance to prove it was going to perform its duty properly. It was cold, dark and still outside, and an unearthly hour for anyone to be crawling out of a nice warm bed. I crept softly around, dressing and having a cup of coffee, so as not to awaken Bob or the girls, and at exactly 10 minutes of 6 walked downstairs and out to Mrs. Spencer's waiting car.

There was something so unreal about the scene—eight of us sitting at a long table in the assessor's office, with several lights on since it was still dark, drinking coffee from someone's thermos and counting and initialing white and blue ballots. It was just 6:04 a. m. when the first voter walked in, stepped up to the table and according to law, clearly spoke his name and address to all of us. His name was checked off in the master file book and he was given a white slip of paper, which, after he signed, entitled him to a white and a blue ballot.

UNTIL 10 O'CLOCK large groups of men rushed in to vote just before train time. From then until about 4, people came through pretty regularly. Around 4, people coming home from work started coming in in fairly large groups and on the dot of 5 p. m. we took in our flag and our sign saying, "Precinct 10—Vote Here."

The ballot box was unlocked and the ballots poured out on the table. First came the separation of white and blue, then the separation of straight Democratic, straight Republican and split ballots. Although only 502 people voted out of a possible 732, and you wonder what happened to the other 230, more tragic than that was the number of votes that had to be thrown out due to improper marking.

FIVE COMPLETE BALLOTS had to be discarded—a couple had checks instead of x's, a couple had too hastily drawn x's that were not in the center of the boxes, another marked candidates for the same job on both sides. There were many single votes on ballots that had to be discarded mainly because the x was not drawn in the proper place. On the blue ballot too, several people wrote in the word "yes" for each of the three questions, and others drew their x's in the same box in which appeared the printed "yes."

If our one precinct had to discard that many votes, it's frightening to consider the percentage of incorrect ballots on a national scale. This is a serious problem that political workers had better tackle before going out after more votes, a large number of which may have to go uncounted. Peg, I wish you'd discuss this among your friends. I suspect they think the intention of the voter will count. This is not true. The mark must be an "x" and must cross in the middle of the box provided for the mark.

Needless to say, I fell into bed exhausted when I got home Tuesday night — and that's what I'm going to do right now. Good night.

My love,
Patty.

Chicago Vice, Corruption Spurs Growth Of Country Towns

by CHUCK HAYES

Chicago has survived reform like a boy survives childhood diseases.

Both are considered as temporary inconveniences.

Chicago views its reform movements like the mumps or whooping cough. Sooner or later it's gone and the recovered patient can forget the discomfort.

The city's indifference to its corruption is a major factor in the fantastic growth of the northwest country towns Families by the score have been fleeing the city in ever-increasing numbers.

The latest reform movement to begin its downward slide is the Citizens for Greater Chicago, which opened its crusade in a confident blast of publicity and may be fading in the embarassment of silence.

Perhaps like the old British Empire it wants to die in dignity.

With the resignation several weeks ago of its dynamic director, Fred Hoehler, CGC elevated itself to the historic obituary of Chicago's famed and ill-famed reform and crusade groups.

Chicagoans tire easily of graft.

Revelations have been so commonplace, and the immunity to century-old corruption so established, that Chicago may never support a permanent and effective reform movement.

This may be an important factor in the continual growth of such model suburbs as Palatine, Arlington Heights, and Mt. Prospect.

CGC was Chicago's big opportunity because it sought not to piddle with the symptoms of crime, but rather correct the causes.

In the final analysis, will it become just another anti-crime committee, not dissimilar to dozens of others in Chicago history?

In 1872, for example, the city twice tried to establish a reform group, and twice it failed.

Another reform effort was made in 1874, this time with a Committee of One Hundred. Like its predecessors, it dispersed without having disturbed the city's customary pattern of life.

And that pattern was a familiar one: prostitution, gambling, rampant crime, and notorious political corruption.

Vice districts were so numerous that local guidebooks were published to help the stranger find his way among Dead Man's Alley, the Black Hole, the Levee, Bad Lands, or Little Cheyenne.

The Citizens Law and Order league in 1877, by concentrating on the sale of liquor to minors, had some success because saloonkeepers cooperated; efforts in other areas failed.

THE "GRAND DAME" of virtue in Chicago was the indefatigable Francis E. Willard, the devout Dean of Women at Northwestern university who quit her job to reform Chicago.

She, too, was doomed to the ignominy of failure that shadowed all reform efforts.

When Jane Addams began her work at Hull House, the feminist movement was on the march.

Chicago's tradition of self-reliance was well-suited to the temperament of Jane Addams. She knew the best way to get things done was to do it yourself.

She supervised garbage collections in slum areas to make sure they were adequate.

An ally of Jane Addams was Louise de Koven Brown, who joined the war on brutal confusion and neglect. She opened a boys club in the basement of her mansion and fought social inertia among the upper classes.

But even with the gallant efforts of such women as these, the mass of Chicago still yawned in the face of civic disease.

When the seedy Levee district was at its boisterous height, a strong reform movement at last began to take shape. Its leader was William T. Stead, an English reformer and editor of the "Review of Reviews."

It was Stead who dramatized Chicago vice with a book called, "If Christ Came to Chicago," which detailed the flagrant vice, crime, and political corruption.

For a time he was successful. His principal target was political corruption which, because of public disinterest, allowed vice to flourish.

He said that the religion of the church had been replaced with a faith "built upon bribery, intimidation, bulldozing of every kind, knifing, shooting and the whole swimming in whiskey."

His successor was Lyman Gage and the Civic Federation, which maintained a steady attack upon public gambling, payroll stuffing, fraudulent street paving and sweeping, resignation and voting frauds, crooked assessors and collectors, opium dens, and other municipal evils.

In addition to this frontal assault upon gambling and related evils, the Civic Federation organized the Municipal Voters league to try and interest public-spirited citizens in accepting public office.

Typical of the response was that of Joseph Medill, editor of the Chicago Tribune, who said, "Politics and office-seeking are pretty good things to let alone for a man who has intellect and individuality."

While the league did not do away with corrupt practices, it at least provided a temporary leavening which did eliminate many of the worst abuses of the past.

OTHER COLORFUL figures which joined the crusade: Carrie Nation, who came "to pray not to smash"; Virginia Brooks, who organized an anti-vice parade with 5,000 marchers in a downpour; and Lucy Page Gaston, with her comical anti-tobacco crusade.

During the Twenties and the two terms of Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson, the corruption of the police was pushed to the saturation point.

During the first four months of 1926 there were 29 gang killings in Chicago; the total for four years was more than 200 and all without a single conviction for murder.

Despite efforts at reform from the Illinois Crime commission, little was done to really clean up Chicago.

WEAK ATTEMPTS by various "reform" mayors, stringer groups, and lecturing crusaders barely made a dent in the wall of public apathy.

Capone was finally removed from the scene by the federal government, which jailed him for tax evasion.

During the Thirties and up to World War II, continued efforts were made at reform. Chicago gave birth to such groups as the Honest Ballot committee (1935), the Joint Civic Committee on Election (1940), and the Women's Civic commission (1937), all of whom strove for reform in the city's political life.

They are still trying.

Have Citizens for Greater Chicago learned too late that the city is deaf to such cries?

The continued flow of families seeking good government and an honest way of life in the suburbs serves as a constant reminder of Chicago's failure to instill a sense of faith in the city's destiny.

Rumanian Family Reunited After 11 Year Separation

A mother, father and two children who had been separated 11 years because of conflicts during World War II, were reunited Monday and are now making their home in Palatine.

The happy family is Mr. and Mrs. Anton Putz and children, Hermina and Joseph. Mrs. Putz and children were living in Rumania, Mr. Putz being away from home working in Germany, when the war broke out and the Russians took over Rumania. Mr. Putz was forced to stay in Germany and his wife had to go to Russia and work for five years. Their children were left in Rumania in the care of their grandparents.

In December of 1949 Mrs. Putz was allowed to rejoin her children, but living behind the Iron Curtain Mr. Putz could not rejoin them. In 1951 he was able to get passage to the United States and since his arrival here has been working at the Arlington Seating company.

He is the nephew of Mrs. John Hehn of Palatine. The family has an apartment on N. Bothwell, Palatine, into which they will move in the near future. At present they are staying at a friend's home.

During the separation the family has kept contact through letters, but they were few and far between due to heavy censorship. The Putz' son is 14 and their daughter is 12.

The mother and children flew here via American Airlines, arriving at Midway Airport, Chicago, Monday aternoon. (B5

Q. What is the order of recession at the conclusion of a church wedding?

A. Just the reverse of the entrance. The bride and bridegroom should lead, followed by the bridesmaids, and the ushers.

QUITE CONTRARY

BY MARY

We had the dubious pleasure of accompanying a very dear friend of ours on her first plane trip. She had sworn never never to desert terra firma for firmament. Feet on the ground was her motto.

But like all things that we all go around saying that we will never do, the time came when flying was, well, not exactly necessary, but more convenient. So she flew. We were feeling real bucked up because we have taken several trips and so were an old hand at the game. We were even jaunty as we boarded the plane and gayer than all get out when we took off.

The reason we have designated the pleasure of going along as being dubious is that we have heard that on occasion the uninitiated become ill. The thought of caring for someone in the throes of airsickness while eleven thousand feet in the air caused us qualms. It caused us such qualms that just guess who got queasy. You are so right. By the way, friend came through with flying colors and wonders what all the fuss was about.

Traveling is certainly good for the old ego. One gets all dressed up and proceeds to impress everyone in sight with one's brilliance and wordliness. Perhaps we should say that one makes every attempt in the book to be impressive. We suspect that one falls far short of knocking anyone out with the old personality but goodness gracious, what fun trying. And the nice thing about it is that one gets to go home and never knows how the whole thing has turned out. The ones who have been visited probably have a fine time discussing that strange person who has just left. The visitor has a fine time thinking that she has created a whale of a swath and has left people simply gaga.

We hope that the visited are happy because the visitor has had a fine time and came home thinking she is a pretty gay creature. Back to the salt mines with head uplifted and heart saddened at having to strip off what passes for glamor at our house. Out of the nylons and heels and back to the jeans and saddle shoes. It's good to be home, we hope.

Paddock Publications To Microfilm Old Chicago Newspapers Of Nels Olson

The Way-Back-When editor of Paddock Publications is indebted to Nels Olson, 219 S. State road, for a collection of Chicago newspapers published as early as 1893.

Among them are copies of the Chicago Record Herald and the Inter Ocean, newspapers that have since been discontinued. Included also are copies of the Chicago Tribune published in 1933 which contains facsimilies of 16 historic front pages telling of the attack on Fort Sumnter April 15, 1861 the surrender of Lee April 10, 1865, Assassination of Lincoln April 15, 1865, Chicago Fire 1871, Blowing Up of the Maine in the Havana Harbor, Dewey's Great victory at Manila, Commander Perry's arrival at the North Pole, Sinking of the Titanic, United States at War, Great War Ends, Lindberg Lands in Paris, Maniac Fires at Roosevelt, Cermak Killed, Prohibition is Voted Out.

A copy of the Inter Ocean which is especially interesting is an edition published October 9, 1893, which carries a facsimilie story of the Chicago fire and tells the story of the Chicago Day celebration at the World's Columbian Exposition held in Chicago that year.

The Olson files will be microfilmed and placed in the microfilm library of Paddock Publications. Newspapers recording historic events sent to publication office by readers will be included on the same microfilm.

Arlington Heights Public Library has offered storage space for historic documents of Elk Grove and Wheeling township, which offer is expected to hasten the organization of a local historical society.

Name Christmas Seal Chairman In Arlington

Mrs. John Allen, 116 W. Euclid, has been named local Christmas Seal Sale chairman for Arlington Heights, it was announced this week by George Dixon, Jr., general chairman for the annual campaign which raises funds for the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County. Mrs. G. Rex Volz will act as co-chairman.

"Mrs. Allen," Dixon explained, "will represent the Institute in the local campaign. While nearly every resident of the community will receive Christmas Seals through the mail when the drive opens November 15, there will be many who will wish to buy additional Christmas Seals, or make an extra contribution. For their benefit, Christmas Seal coin containers and self sellers will be placed throughout the area."

"In addition, Mrs. Allen will help call attention to the campaign through the placement of posters and other publicity materials," he said.

Teaches In Hawaii

I can now fully agree with the many people who have written you in the past years saying how much they appreciate getting The Herald every week. Being so far away from home I find my interest doubles in what is going on in our own village.

Though my parents are regular correspondents, they find keeping five daughters "up on the news" a real task, so do the best thing—send copies of the paper to us all. We are probably the only family in Arlington that has to buy six copies every week to know what is happening in our growing community, but you can be assured that every page is read by all of us.

Incidentally I had saved all the articles written by your editor about Hawaii last year and get quite a kick out of re-reading them after visiting the same spots and comparing notes. I'm enjoying my stay here very much though I find it a bit difficult sometimes to get children to study in the play atmosphere of the islands. But children are the same the world over, I am quite sure.

The Russian Threat

As Commander-in-Chief of the newly created Continental Air Defense Command, I want to explain the absolute necessity for the expansion of the Ground Observer Corps — the grass roots element of the nation's air defense system.

I am soliciting your help in explaining to the people of the communities reached by Paddock Publications the reasons why more civilian plane spotters are urgently needed in air defense today.

First, despite the growing volume of "peaceful intention" speeches flowing from the Kremlin, we know that the Soviet Union air force is constantly and rapidly increasing its capability to launch a surprise, devastating air attack upon our country. Not only are the Soviets adding more long-range bombers to their attack groups, but they are concentrating on bigger and faster aircraft. I can assure you the Soviet Air Force has little need for aircraft of this type except for an attack against the United States.

Second, while we are constantly extending our electronic defenses, we must bear in mind that our radar installations are not infallible. Under certain conditions, civilian plane spotters might well be the principal means of providing information of approaching hostile aircraft.

The growing capabilities of the Soviet Union air force impel us to ask help now.

General, USAF,
Commander-in-Chief.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Kenneth Tesmer who passed away November 12, 1950.

Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear;
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
Somewhere, someday, we'll meet you
When God's great will is done;
We shall see your smile to greet us,
When He calls for us, dearest one.

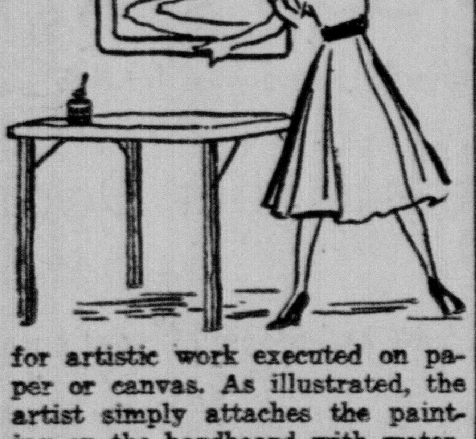
Picture Mounting Board

ARTISTS like to feel that their paintings are not only for contemporary enjoyment but "for the ages." In time, canvas will rot. Of course, it is fragile to begin with and subject to tears and rents.

Many artists nowadays are using a modern building material, Masonite Tempered Presdwood, available in lumber yards, instead of canvas. It's easy to paint on, and its durability is unquestioned.

In addition to being useful for the painting itself, the Tempered Presdwood makes an ideal backing for artistic work executed on paper or canvas. As illustrated, the artist simply attaches the painting on the hardboard with waterproof glue, leaving a properly-proportioned margin around the edges.



Corners of the backing material should be rounded and the exposed edges lightly sanded. To hang a picture or photograph mounted in this manner, use picture wire, attaching it to the back of the headboard by means of glued-on paper hangers.

Tempered Presdwood sawed into small rectangles or even into special shapes with a coping saw, which cuts curves, is an ideal mounting for the display of snapshots or photo enlargements. Use rubber cement, so that occasional changes of picture may be made.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. I have a very good friend who is constantly making glaring errors of grammar in her speech. Wouldn't it be all right for me to attempt to correct her?

A. I don't know how close your friend is, but in many cases this would quickly end a "beautiful friendship." Strictly speaking, it is very rude to correct another person's speech, unless specifically requested to do so.

Q. When a young woman is seated at a table in a public dining room and another woman stops at her table to chat for a minute, should the young woman rise?

A. Not unless the woman who stops is elderly.

Q. When unfolding a napkin at the dinner table, should it be done above or below the table?

A. Below the table.

Q. If one receives a written invitation that does not specify how long one is to visit as a house guest, should the letter of acceptance state it?

A. Yes; specify just how long you intend to stay.

Q. Can you please tell me how to fold napkins into various fancy designs?

A. I could probably suggest a few "fancy" folds, but this practice is frowned upon by good society. It is far preferable to make a plain, square fold of the napkin.

Q. Is it the man's or the woman's place to make the move to stop for conversation when they meet on the street?

A. Either one may do this.

Q. If there is to be no catering service engaged for a wedding reception, is it permissible to ask friends of the bride or bridegroom to help out?

A. This would depend upon how close these friends are and upon their personal reactions to such a request. Some people would consider it an honor to be asked, while others might think it an imposition.

Q. Should toothpicks be placed on the dinner table?

A. Certainly not! Since it is not good form to be seen using a toothpick in public, they do not have any place on the table.

Q. Is it correct for a man to use the double-sheet type of stationery for his personal correspondence?

A. While this is all right, men usually prefer the single sheet variety.

Q. Is it all right to stack the dishes when clearing a dinner table?

A. No; the person who is clearing the table should take no more than one plate in each hand

Lake Zurich Farm For Children To Hold Open House

In recognition of National Retarded Children's week, the Lake Zurich Farm for children will have open house November 14 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The farm is located on highway 22 two and a half miles east of Lake Zurich.

The special week-long observance of the problem of retarded children will emphasize the fact that mental retardation is an affliction 10 times more common than polio, 9 times as common as cerebral palsy, and more than 4 times as prevalent as rheumatic heart.

Mentally retarded children are unable to benefit from normal educational facilities. They have been hidden away oftentimes without social contact with children of their kind which ofen adds emotional disturbance to mental disability.

Recently parents of such children organized to start day schools and at present there are 47 such parent groups in Illinois.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Kenneth Tesmer who passed away November 12, 1950.

Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear;

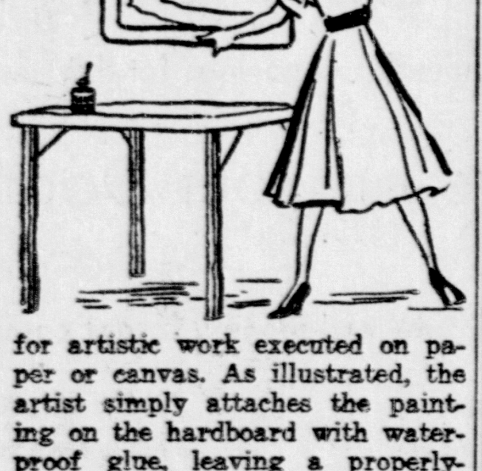
Picture Mounting Board

ARTISTS like to feel that their paintings are not only for contemporary enjoyment but "for the ages." In time, canvas will rot. Of course, it is fragile to begin with and subject to tears and rents.

Many artists nowadays are using a modern building material, Masonite Tempered Presdwood, available in lumber yards, instead of canvas. It's easy to paint on, and its durability is unquestioned.

In addition to being useful for the painting itself, the Tempered Presdwood makes an ideal backing for artistic work executed on paper or canvas. As illustrated, the artist simply attaches the painting on the hardboard with waterproof glue, leaving a properly-proportioned margin around the edges.



Corners of the backing material should be rounded and the exposed edges lightly sanded. To hang a picture or photograph mounted in this manner, use picture wire, attaching it to the back of the headboard by means of glued-on paper hangers.

Tempered Presdwood sawed into small rectangles or even into special shapes with a coping saw, which cuts curves, is an ideal mounting for the display of snapshots or photo enlargements. Use rubber cement, so that occasional changes of picture may be made.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. I have a very good friend who is constantly making glaring errors of grammar in her speech. Wouldn't it be all right for me to attempt to correct her?

A. I don't know how close your friend is, but in many cases this would quickly end a "beautiful friendship." Strictly speaking, it is very rude to correct another person's speech, unless specifically requested to do so.

Q. When a young woman is seated at a table in a public dining room and another woman stops at her table to chat for a minute, should the young woman rise?

A. Not unless the woman who stops is elderly.

Q. When unfolding a napkin at the dinner table, should it be done above or below the table?

A. Below the table.

Q. If one receives a written invitation that does not specify how long one is to visit as a house guest, should the letter of acceptance state it?

A. Yes; specify just how long you intend to stay.

Q. Can you please tell me how to fold napkins into various fancy designs?

A. I could probably suggest a few "fancy" folds, but this practice is frowned upon by good society. It is far preferable to make a plain, square fold of the napkin.

Q. Is it the man's or the woman's place to make the move to stop for conversation when they meet on the street?

A. Either one may do this.

Q. If there is to be no catering service engaged for a wedding reception, is it permissible to ask friends of the bride or bridegroom to help out?

A. This would depend upon how close these friends are and upon their personal reactions to such a request. Some people would consider it an honor to be asked, while others might think it an imposition.

Q. Should toothpicks be placed on the dinner table?

A. Certainly not! Since it is not good form to be seen using a toothpick in public, they do not have any place on the table.

Q. Is it correct for a man to use the double-sheet type of stationery for his personal correspondence?

A. While this is all right, men usually prefer the single sheet variety.

Q. Is it all right to stack the dishes when clearing a dinner table?

A. No; the person who is clearing the table should take no more than one plate in each hand

Lake Zurich Farm For Children To Hold Open House

In recognition of National Retarded Children's week, the Lake Zurich Farm for children will have open house November 14 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The farm is located on highway 22 two and a half miles east of Lake Zurich.

The special week-long observance of the problem of retarded children will emphasize the fact that mental retardation is an affliction 10 times more common than polio, 9 times as common as cerebral palsy, and more than 4 times as prevalent as rheumatic heart.

Mentally retarded children are unable to benefit from normal educational facilities. They have been hidden away oftentimes without social contact with children of their kind which ofen adds emotional disturbance to mental disability.

Recently parents of such children organized to start day schools and at present there are 47 such parent groups in Illinois.

Marketing Ills To Be Aired At Farm Sessions

Marketing problems of Illinois farmers will be fully aired at the annual meeting of the Illinois agricultural association November 15-18 in Chicago.

Famers attending the state-wide farm bureau organization's meeting can participate in special conferences on grain, livestock, and dairy marketing, Monday, November 15.

A general marketing conference on Wednesday, November 17, will bring the special groups together for a discussion of mutual problems.

MARVIN BRIGGS, manager of the Indiana farm bureau co-op, will tell of the cooperative's operations at the grain marketing conference. A panel of livestock farmers will try to answer the question "Where do we go from here?" at the livestock marketing conference.

IAA President Charles B. Shuman will talk about "translating farmers' ideas into action marketing programs" at the combined marketing gathering.

In addition, farmers, their families, and others attending the four-day IAA meeting can sit in on the annual meetings of marketing cooperatives affiliated with the IAA. (Fm

Increased Emphasis On Soil Bank Idea, Diverted Acres

Increased emphasis on the soil bank idea for diverted acres under the ASC program is the national issue foremost in the thinking of Illinois farmers.

That statement was made by Otto Steffey, vice president of the Illinois agricultural association, in summing up the first phase of the IAA's 1954 policy development program.

Farmer opinion on local, state and national issues was gathered at a series of five area report meetings. The reports followed a month of intensive discussion in township and community gatherings.

THESE ADVISORY reports will guide the writing of resolutions to be submitted to the voting delegates at the state-wide farm bureau organization's annual meeting- November 15-18 in Chicago.

Steffey, a Henderson county farmer, who is also chairman of the IAA tentative resolutions committee, said, "There's a strong feeling among farmers that historic land use is not a fair approach in setting acreage allotments."

He added that "There is no question that flexible price supports as opposed to fixed supports are becoming better understood by farm people and are gaining approval."

STEFFEY SAID A complete tabulation of information on questionnaires written data submitted by counties, and tape recording made at each meeting was necessary before final conclusions can be drawn.

Other points of general agreement emerging from the report meetings were emphasis on increased world trade, opposition to compulsory social security for farmers, and a desire for investigation of water use programs.

If you are troubled with Box Elder Bugs in your house, spray the sides and foundations of your houses this fall with lindane or dieldrin.

Spray a 3 foot strip on the ground beside the house where the bugs are clustering.

Use half a pint of 20% lindane concentrate in 2½ gallons of water to make a .5% spray. Apply to the point of run-off. You can mix one-fourth pint of dieldrin in 2 gallons of water to make a .25% spray that will give good control. You may have to repeat the spray every week or so.

NOW IS A GOOD time to test the soil. If you want to produce high yields it is essential you have enough plant food. You can get instruction sheets at the farm bureau office in Arlington Heights on how to collect the samples.

After you have collected the samples bring them to the farm burezu office and we will see they are sent to the laboratory.

Soil testing doesn't cost — it pays.

YOU WILL NOTICE the Illinois agricultural association annual meeting will be held in the Sherman hotel in Chicago, November 15-18;" our own secretary of agriculture, Ezra T. Benson, and dean of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, Louis B. Howard, are on the program together with Chas. B. Shuman, president of the I.A.A.

In my estimation it would pay every farm member to hear these addresses. Why don't you plan to attend. Every county farm bureau member is invited.

Cook county should have the largest delegation of any county in the state, because it is the largest county farm bureau in the United States and the meeting is held in your own county."

WHEN YOU DRIVE through the country you see farmers everywhere harvesting their corn. Some do not have cribs enough to store it, while others cannot fill the cribs they have. What is the answer —"Management."

Henry L. Moehling, farmer in Palatine township, called me last Thursday and said he was drying corn. I had told him if he ever had the drier going to call me, I wanted to see it in operation.

He was running heat from 200-210 degrees into the crib. Steam was pouring out from all sides of the crib.

It takes about 30 hours to dry a 300 bu. crib. Henry stated after the moisture content is reduced to 15% he will shell the corn and either store or sell it. Shelled corn takes only one half the storage space of ear corn.

HENRY ALSO told me he applied annhydrous ammonia — 60 lbs. per acre to one field and the yield increased 18 bu. per acre. The nitrogen cost approximately $9.00 per acre. Not a bad investment.

Nitrogen applications will usually pay off good on all land except where clover has been plowed under. Clover adds nitrogen, therefore, commercial nitrogen does not give the response it does on land low in nitrogen.

MAURICE UMBDENSTOCK, farm planner for North Cook soil conservation district checked the yield of corn on the Frank Rathje farm, managed by Paul Engler, and found a yield of 126 bu. per acre on a field treated with a 150 lb. application of annhydrous ammonia per acre.

There are other good yields reported in the county.

If I continue writing this column I may have others to report from week to week. Nitrogen's not the answer to high yields but if the state of fertility of your tion of nitrogen may bring you land is high, certainly an applica- an increased hield.

'Who Has Right To What Water' To Be Discussed At IAA Meet

Who has the right to use what water, a question on the minds of many Illinois farmers, hard-pressed during the recent drouth, is being examined through their state-wide farm bureau organization, the Illinois agricultural association.

A special conference on small watershed programs and water use problems is slated for November 17, during the IAA's 40th annual meeting in Chicago.

Charles C. Butler, director of land and water use for the American farm bureau federation, will discuss small watershed programs at this conference.

THE IMPORTANT water use question will be subject of a talk by Ray Hunter, IAA director of natural resources. Farmers attending the conference will talk over state water legislation and other problems.

Current thinking of Illinois farmers on this subject may find its way into a resolution put before the voting delegates later in the annual meeting.

An article by Hunter in the November IAA Record, official Illinois farm bureau publication, raises the question, "Do we need laws for water?"

Because of rapidly increasing population and new uses for water, Hunter says in the article, "we are faced with the necessity of adopting good management practices and of determining the rights of citizens to use water resources.

"WE STILL HAVE a total supply of water sufficient to provide for a larger population and expanded industries. The problem is that the large supplies are concentrated," Hunter claims.

"This has created a distribution problem and has raised the question of the rights of users located near a supply compared to users farther from the supply."

Farmers Can Resume Brucellosis Testing

Illinois livestock farmers can now resume their brucellosis testing and vaccination program by contacting their local veterinarian, according to Paul Mathais, general counsel for the Illinois Agricultural association.

State funds for the work were exhausted in June because of unusually heavy demands for testing, Mathias says. The 83rd Congress, however, authorized additional funds to carry on the program.

N. H. Howlett, in charge of the USDA animal disease eradication branch in Illinois, reports the federal government will now start paying local veterinarians for herds in the state.

An Illinois law requires that all Grade A milk must come from brucellosis-free herds after Jan. 1, 1955, for the St. Louis milkshed, and after July 1, 1955, for the remainder of the state.

Economical Feed

Milk may be the most economical feed this fall for young calves on many dairy farms, says a University of Illinois dairyman.

Tell Opportunity To Increase National Demand For Wool

The expanding population of the Western states gives the nation's wool-growing industry, traditionally centered in the West, an opportunity to increase the markets for wool, Max F. Schmitt, president of the wool bureau, told the California wool growers association. Mr. Schmitt was a speaker at the association's 94th annual convention. "No element of the wool industry has a greater stake in the future of wool than the wool growers," Mr. Schmitt asserted. "By their number alone, America's growers are in a position to influence demand for wool, and to create new markets for the remarkable wool fibre."

THE NATION'S wool growers should welcome programs designed to increase wool production to meet the needs of a rising population, Mr. Schmitt said. At the same time, he added, they must recognize the importance of increased promotion and advertising in developing consumer appreciation for wool in an increasingly competitive economy.

Events of last year have clearly indicated, Mr. Schmitt said, that the nation's consumers have developed a strong preference for wool, and are gaining new respect for its unique combination of performance qualities.

Picker-Shellers

A team of researchers at the University of Illinois college of agriculture this fall are studying the operations of 100 farmers who use field picker-shellers and who dry and store shelled corn.

Last year, through the efforts and generosity of American school children more than half a million gift boxes containing personal, health, and educational articles were distributed to homeless and displaced children in disaster-stricken Greece, Holland, Turkey, Italy, Korea and Japan.

Turkish Postmaster Awaits Arrival of Gen'l Delivery Before Opening Mail

by BILL DILLINGHAM

I asked the girl in Turkey at the General Delivery window for my mail. Out came a pile of letters under the letter "D." She turned each letter for me to see. There was no mail for me, I found, but I did notice one envelope addressed:

Postmaster, General Delivery
(Poste Restante)
Ankara, Turkey.

I pointed to the letter, and then to the girl, motioning for her to open it. She shook her head negatively. I tried this sign language again, and she quickly became irritated.

JUST ABOUT this time a fellow behind me tapped my shoulder and asked, "Can I help you? I speak a little English."

"I am trying to explain to this person," I answered, "that there is a letter here for her to open."

I was pretty sure that it was concerning an American, because English people usually write the words "General Post Office" instead of "General Delivery."

After an exchange of words with the girl, the fellow turned to me and asked, "Is this letter for you?"

"No, it isn't," I answered. "An American is probably waiting in some city for his mail to be forwarded. I'm just trying to be helpful. It is for the girl to open."

By this time the head of the post office turned up on the scene. There was so much noise and argument going on that it is a wonder the police didn't turn up, too.

"The Postmaster explains," said the fellow, "that there is no censorship here. They do not open other people's mail."

"What's the trouble?" came a voice from behind me.

A German turist was added to the salad. I explained the problem, and then told him I was sorry I ever mentioned it to the postal clerk.

"But you should defenitely try to explain to them," he said.

EVERYBODY on the Turkish side of the picture seemed pretty angry. And then I was asked by the interpreter what my name was. I told him, and then he asked if the letter was for me. When I told him it wasn't, he said very loudly: "Then what do you want, anyway?"

So at that moment the German tourist broke in and explained all over again. I was looking for an exit from the whole business when the interpreter screamed out: "But what difference does it make to you?"

"It's the difference between Europe and Asia," the German yelled.

AFTER A FEW minutes of discussion between the Turkish people involved, the interpreter said: "That letter is for a General, it isn't for you."

(So then it became clear that the words "General Delivery" were not understood. They were more familiar with the French "Poste Restante.")

"Nobody is going to come here with a passport that reads General Delivery," I answered.

"It must be a password," the Turk said. "Your name is Dillingham, not Delivery, so what do you want here?"

"Sorry," I said. "I was trying to help someone."

"A friend of yours?" he asked.

"No. Not that I know of."

"What a fine fellow you are," he said sarcastically.

Q. Is it proper for a man to say, "I am very glad to have met you," when taking leave of a woman to whom he has just been introduced?

A. It is better if he waits until the women expresses her pleasure (if any) over the meeting, before the expresses his own. If she says nothing, a nod of the head and a pleasant "good-by" is all that is necessary.

Turkish Postmaster Awaits Arrival of Gen'l Delivery Before Opening Mail

by BILL DILLINGHAM

I asked the girl in Turkey at the General Delivery window for my mail. Out came a pile of letters under the letter "D." She turned each letter for me to see. There was no mail for me, I found, but I did notice one envelope addressed:

Postmaster, General Delivery
(Poste Restante)
Ankara, Turkey.

I pointed to the letter, and then to the girl, motioning for her to open it. She shook her head negatively. I tried this sign language again, and she quickly became irritated.

JUST ABOUT this time a fellow behind me tapped my shoulder and asked, "Can I help you? I speak a little English."

"I am trying to explain to this person," I answered, "that there is a letter here for her to open."

I was pretty sure that it was concerning an American, because English people usually write the words "General Post Office" instead of "General Delivery."

After an exchange of words with the girl, the fellow turned to me and asked, "Is this letter for you?"

"No, it isn't," I answered. "An American is probably waiting in some city for his mail to be forwarded. I'm just trying to be helpful. It is for the girl to open."

By this time the head of the post office turned up on the scene. There was so much noise and argument going on that it is a wonder the police didn't turn up, too.

"The Postmaster explains," said the fellow, "that there is no censorship here. They do not open other people's mail."

"What's the trouble?" came a voice from behind me.

A German turist was added to the salad. I explained the problem, and then told him I was sorry I ever mentioned it to the postal clerk.

"But you should defenitely try to explain to them," he said.

EVERYBODY on the Turkish side of the picture seemed pretty angry. And then I was asked by the interpreter what my name was. I told him, and then he asked if the letter was for me. When I told him it wasn't, he said very loudly: "Then what do you want, anyway?"

So at that moment the German tourist broke in and explained all over again. I was looking for an exit from the whole business when the interpreter screamed out: "But what difference does it make to you?"

"It's the difference between Europe and Asia," the German yelled.

AFTER A FEW minutes of discussion between the Turkish people involved, the interpreter said: "That letter is for a General, it isn't for you."

(So then it became clear that the words "General Delivery" were not understood. They were more familiar with the French "Poste Restante.")

"Nobody is going to come here with a passport that reads General Delivery," I answered.

"It must be a password," the Turk said. "Your name is Dillingham, not Delivery, so what do you want here?"

"Sorry," I said. "I was trying to help someone."

"A friend of yours?" he asked.

"No. Not that I know of."

"What a fine fellow you are," he said sarcastically.

Q. Is it proper for a man to say, "I am very glad to have met you," when taking leave of a woman to whom he has just been introduced?

A. It is better if he waits until the women expresses her pleasure (if any) over the meeting, before the expresses his own. If she says nothing, a nod of the head and a pleasant "good-by" is all that is necessary.

Words Often Misused

Do not say, "Many years' experience are guiding him." Say, "is guiding him." "Experience" is the singular subject.

The word "casket" is not used by the best writers and speakers as a euphemism for "coffin." A casket is a small, elegant box, used chiefly for keeping jewels.

Say, "I expect (merely implying belief) to go, and I anticipate (look forward to with pleasure) having a good time."

Do not say, "It's an all right proposition." It is much better to say, "It's a good (fair; honest; attractive) proposition."

Do not say, "He bought himself a new car." Omit "himself."

Do not say, "The plumber welded the two pipes together." Omit "together," since "weld' 'means to unite, or bring together.

Words Often Mispronounced

Decorous. Pronounce dek-o-rus, e as in deck, accent first syllable.

Pretense. Accent second syllable, not the first.

Desperado. Pronounce the a as in ray preferred, principal accent on third syllable.

Mnemonics (art of improving the memory). Pronounce ne-mon-iks, e as in knee unstressed, o as in on, accent second syllable.

Alloy. Accent second syllable, not the first.

Words Often Misspelled

Patronize, ize; enterprise, ise. Effervesce; observe the two f's and the sce. Eulogize; observe the eu and the z. Fellow, two l's; felon, only one l. Paralysis, sis; paralyze, yze. Intelligent (having keen mental perception); intelligible (capable of being understood).

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Celestial; pertaining to the spiritual heaven; divine. "In his dream, he saw and talked with celestial beings."

Dissension; disagreement in opinion. "There was much dissension in the ranks."

Appellation; a name or title. "What appellation can we bestow on persons such as these?"

Incorrigible; incapable of being corrected; not reformable. "Some of her pupils were incorrigible."

Depect; to portray; describe. "He knows how to depict a story realistically."

Nascent; coming into existence; beginning to develop. "He was aware of a certain nascent admiration on the part of Mary."

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

The most disturbing plea which rises to the lips of a fellow-human and rings in the ears is the cry, "Why did this happen tc me?" Each of us hears it at one time or another, perhaps we utter it on occasion.

It is disturbing because it is one question which cannot be answered at the time it is asked. It is always asked in a last resort mood, at a time when calmness and reason are out of the question.

The fact that we may come to conclusions in moments of calmness and reason will not preclude the possibility of desparation in time of crisis. But it might help if we keep in mind certain principles for facing the trials of life.

A PERSON believes in God or he doesn't. If he does not, then the troubles of life are the result of happenstance, stupidity or cruelty. His only protection is to be prudent, to try to be wise, and to seek to restrain the cruelty of others.

If a person does believe in God, a part of his attitude depends on the character of the God in whom he believes. His troubles may result from the capricious amusements of a powerful god, or they may be punishments for offenses against a jealous god. In either case, in the words of the title of one of J. B. Phillips' little books, "Your God is too Small."

The final alternative is that our trials and troubles may be due to circumstances which are to be expected in a world where God has made man free to love Him. Men are weak in such a world with a tendency to choose the lesser gods. They are often the victims of happenstance, stupidity or cruelty. But this kind of God has planned to shape the events of life to lead men to Himself.

IF "YOUR GOD is too small" you have no protection against a capricious deity; your only protection against a jealous deity is to give Him no occasion for vindictiveness(but this is impossible for human nature).

If God wants to lead men to Himself as responsible persons, they have the same practical alternatives of the non-theist, with a difference. They pray for guidance and for help. Their testimony is given to us in words like the Apostle Paul's:

"What shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or the sword? . . . No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him who loved us.' (Romans 8:35,37 RSV)

Dems To Give Battle To GOP In Suburbs

A Cook county Democratic official this week told Paddock Publications that there is a definite trend toward a "two party system in the country towns."

John Drexler, press representative for the central committee, said the GOP "solid suburbs" are rapidly becoming a "myth." He added that there is a tendancy away from straight party voting in the suburbs, and that there have emerged "maverick voters" who cast ballots independently.

Declaring that the firm Republican grip on country towns is slipping, Drexler said this is due in large measure to the changing character of suburbs.

"Since the war, there has been an exodus of working people to the low cost and medium priced housing in many suburbs," he said. "Contrary to popular opinion, people don't become Republican just by whiffing clean, country air."

Drexler said Democrats haven't made strong showings yet because party organization in suburbs is relatively new and weak compared to established GOP organizations.

He cited the strong suburban vote given Joseph Lohman, Noble Puffer, and Herbert Paschen as examples of a "revolutionary" trend toward "split ticket" voting.

Even such rock-ribbed Republican strongholds as Park Ridge, Mount Prospect, and Wilmette were showing increased Democratic strength. In normally Republican Skokie, the GOP lead was slashed from 4 to 1 in 1952 to 8 to 5 in 1954.

"It is becoming increasingly apparent that Republicans are going to have competition in luring 'country town' voters," he said.

University Field Trip To Barrington Woods

University of Illinois small homes council, in cooperation with the national association of home builders, made their annual field trip to United States Gypsum research village located at Barrington Woods Saturday, November 6.

The University of Illinois has done much experimental and research work in the home building field in the study of materials and methods. Builders from all parts of the country attend their annual 10 day course. One field trip each year is included with the course.

After inspection of Research village, the group attended a luncheon as guests of United States Gypsum company. Maxon Construction company of Barrington is builder of Research village.

Bits O' Business

Machine tool orders in September, at $53.1 million, were up 45 per cent from the year's low in July . . . John Wanamaker's main New York store, a landmark for three generations, will close January 31 . . . Cigarette use was down 3.6 per cent and manufacture 5 per cent in July than in the like month of 1953 . . . In August, Secretary Benson reported, the government whittled 7 million pounds off its hoard of butter.

Don't Wrap Clothes For Cedar Storage

Do not wrap or cover clothing or other fabrics when storing them in a cedar closet. Let them receive the full benefit of the moth-repellent cedar aroma Gold or silver articles, however, should be wrapped carefully since fumes may have a tarnishing effect.

Let us not underrate the value of a fact; it will one day flower into a truth.

Words Often Misused

Do not say, "Many years' experience are guiding him." Say, "is guiding him." "Experience" is the singular subject.

The word "casket" is not used by the best writers and speakers as a euphemism for "coffin." A casket is a small, elegant box, used chiefly for keeping jewels.

Say, "I expect (merely implying belief) to go, and I anticipate (look forward to with pleasure) having a good time."

Do not say, "It's an all right proposition." It is much better to say, "It's a good (fair; honest; attractive) proposition."

Do not say, "He bought himself a new car." Omit "himself."

Do not say, "The plumber welded the two pipes together." Omit "together," since "weld' 'means to unite, or bring together.

Words Often Mispronounced

Decorous. Pronounce dek-o-rus, e as in deck, accent first syllable.

Pretense. Accent second syllable, not the first.

Desperado. Pronounce the a as in ray preferred, principal accent on third syllable.

Mnemonics (art of improving the memory). Pronounce ne-mon-iks, e as in knee unstressed, o as in on, accent second syllable.

Alloy. Accent second syllable, not the first.

Words Often Misspelled

Patronize, ize; enterprise, ise. Effervesce; observe the two f's and the sce. Eulogize; observe the eu and the z. Fellow, two l's; felon, only one l. Paralysis, sis; paralyze, yze. Intelligent (having keen mental perception); intelligible (capable of being understood).

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Celestial; pertaining to the spiritual heaven; divine. "In his dream, he saw and talked with celestial beings."

Dissension; disagreement in opinion. "There was much dissension in the ranks."

Appellation; a name or title. "What appellation can we bestow on persons such as these?"

Incorrigible; incapable of being corrected; not reformable. "Some of her pupils were incorrigible."

Depect; to portray; describe. "He knows how to depict a story realistically."

Nascent; coming into existence; beginning to develop. "He was aware of a certain nascent admiration on the part of Mary."

Aromatic Red Cedar In 'Carry-Home' Packages

Aromatic red cedar closet lining, tongued and grooved for easy application, is now available at lumber dealers in handy packages. Five or six cartons are sufficient for lining an average size closet to make it moth-repellent.

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

The most disturbing plea which rises to the lips of a fellow-human and rings in the ears is the cry, "Why did this happen tc me?" Each of us hears it at one time or another, perhaps we utter it on occasion.

It is disturbing because it is one question which cannot be answered at the time it is asked. It is always asked in a last resort mood, at a time when calmness and reason are out of the question.

The fact that we may come to conclusions in moments of calmness and reason will not preclude the possibility of desparation in time of crisis. But it might help if we keep in mind certain principles for facing the trials of life.

A PERSON believes in God or he doesn't. If he does not, then the troubles of life are the result of happenstance, stupidity or cruelty. His only protection is to be prudent, to try to be wise, and to seek to restrain the cruelty of others.

If a person does believe in God, a part of his attitude depends on the character of the God in whom he believes. His troubles may result from the capricious amusements of a powerful god, or they may be punishments for offenses against a jealous god. In either case, in the words of the title of one of J. B. Phillips' little books, "Your God is too Small."

The final alternative is that our trials and troubles may be due to circumstances which are to be expected in a world where God has made man free to love Him. Men are weak in such a world with a tendency to choose the lesser gods. They are often the victims of happenstance, stupidity or cruelty. But this kind of God has planned to shape the events of life to lead men to Himself.

IF "YOUR GOD is too small" you have no protection against a capricious deity; your only protection against a jealous deity is to give Him no occasion for vindictiveness(but this is impossible for human nature).

If God wants to lead men to Himself as responsible persons, they have the same practical alternatives of the non-theist, with a difference. They pray for guidance and for help. Their testimony is given to us in words like the Apostle Paul's:

"What shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or the sword? . . . No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him who loved us.' (Romans 8:35,37 RSV)

Dems To Give Battle To GOP In Suburbs

A Cook county Democratic official this week told Paddock Publications that there is a definite trend toward a "two party system in the country towns."

John Drexler, press representative for the central committee, said the GOP "solid suburbs" are rapidly becoming a "myth." He added that there is a tendancy away from straight party voting in the suburbs, and that there have emerged "maverick voters" who cast ballots independently.

Declaring that the firm Republican grip on country towns is slipping, Drexler said this is due in large measure to the changing character of suburbs.

"Since the war, there has been an exodus of working people to the low cost and medium priced housing in many suburbs," he said. "Contrary to popular opinion, people don't become Republican just by whiffing clean, country air."

Drexler said Democrats haven't made strong showings yet because party organization in suburbs is relatively new and weak compared to established GOP organizations.

He cited the strong suburban vote given Joseph Lohman, Noble Puffer, and Herbert Paschen as examples of a "revolutionary" trend toward "split ticket" voting.

Even such rock-ribbed Republican strongholds as Park Ridge, Mount Prospect, and Wilmette were showing increased Democratic strength. In normally Republican Skokie, the GOP lead was slashed from 4 to 1 in 1952 to 8 to 5 in 1954.

"It is becoming increasingly apparent that Republicans are going to have competition in luring 'country town' voters," he said.

Don't Wrap Clothes For Cedar Storage

Do not wrap or cover clothing or other fabrics when storing them in a cedar closet. Let them receive the full benefit of the moth-repellent cedar aroma Gold or silver articles, however, should be wrapped carefully since fumes may have a tarnishing effect.

POWELL STUDIO

Subject:
"Music-Maker"

Now just in case you think this week's column might be a "recipe" on how to make a piano — or some such — let me say to begin with that this is not the case . . . This is the story of a person — a gal, who, all her life, has exemplified Make It Yourself principles in the broadest sense . . . You may know her —for she lives near Arlington Heights — but even if you don't, you are bound to be hearing about her very shortly . . . Born in Clarksville, Tenn., she became a registered nurse at an early age and has worked in almost all the big hospitals in Cook County. Married in 1941 to a young engineer, she and her husband established a small business in a neighboring town —starting from scratch — and during the next eight years she acted as sales-girl, bookkeeper and general trouble-shooter — taking an occasional nursing job during this interim.

Those first years were lean and tough — but working together, the two of them not only survived — but prospered . . . In 1949, she decided that her town could benefit from a promotional event — and with the help of other civic minded people and groups a successful "Frontier Days" Rodeo was launched . . . She bagged performers, organized committees, bamboozled prizes and displays . . . all the thousand and one details needed to promote such an undertaking, were capably handled by this gal from the "sleepy South" — and who still speaks with a soft drawl! . . . At this point, I might add that she and her husband have always had a terrific interest in blooded horses; they raised and "showed," even when the animals had to be boarded out — and recently, this interest has extended to Hereford cattle.

In 1951, they bought a 22 acre "farm" near Arlington Heights . . . I stopped by one day when they had just taken over and was not at all surprised to see the familiar back-side of a pair of denims, protruding from a sewer ditch leading away from the house. My friends were installing some plumbing . . . a leak had developed and Bettye (for that is her name) not only found it — but knew what to do about it — and was doing it! . . . Later, over the coffee cups, we were catching up with news — and I happened to mention the Rodeo. "I hated to say 'No,' this year," she told me — "but for the first time in my life, some leisure time looms ahead—and I know what I've got to do with it."

And that, my dear reader, is an introduction to Bettye Kummerle, "Music-Maker", composer, lyricist, arranger and conductor —the gal who is being hailed by big-time critics as "The Girl Gershwin" . . . When you hear her latest release, "Our Lady of Guadalupe," you will understand why Bishop Bernard J. Sheil calls it "an inspired creation" — why the Archbishop of Montreal has given it an official blessing — why it looms up as a strong contender for the Christopher Award, and why Clark Dennis (who sings it beautifully) has just accepted an all-expense tour to the Dublin Concert for Polio offered by a New York philanthropist.

Bettye, starting at the age of 18, has written ballads and folk-songs—off and on— all her life and here are current titles (Tiffany) that you may have heard; "You Can Push Your Luck Too Far" (Buccaneers) "Two Can Play Your Game" (Bob Atcher) "Point Of No Return" (Patricia Scot) . . . Just as publishers say that everyone has a "best-seller" (story) hidden away somewhere within themselves, Bettye believes that everyone has a potential song-hit . . . the trick is to get it out! No matter what the musical background or native talent, there is still a lot of technical knowledge and music-promotion-know how that must be acquired before one can reasonably hope for success in this highly competive field . . . I asked Bettye if there were any short-cuts, any magic formula . . . "I wish I could add something to the old cliche, 'Keep Trying' " she said, "But there are so many angles that actually, when you boil it down, it amounts to that — plus having faith in yourself, in life . . My mother wanted me to become a nun; I hope that this song makes up a little for that disappointment."

So, there you have it, faith and "Keeping On" plus the personal initiative that would still today send Bettye scurrying (should the need arise) for a pair of denims!

The "Our Lady" record is being released this month and we are having an Autograph Party in our Studio next Saturday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock, November 13 . . . Drop in and take a look and a listen; a look at a gal who is making Tin Pan Alley take notice—and a listen to a song that—no matter what your religious creed—will pull at your devotional heartstrings! . . . Incidently, all proceeds from the sale of this record go to the C.Y.O.

Plan Your Windows Properly For Best Light, Ventilation

Because windows affect the comfort of people both physically and psychologically, they deserve much consideration in the early planning stages of a house, the University of Illinois Small Homes council says in a new circular, "Window Planning Principles."

This circular, the first of a series of three publications on windows, sets forth principles for their selection and placement from the standpoints of daylight, ventilation, view, and appearance.

Its suggestions include:

PROVIDE GLASS areas in excess of 20 per cent of the floor area of each room.

"Place principal window areas toward the south.

"Group window openings in the wall to eliminate undesirable contrasts in brightness.

"Use windows in more than one wall for greater admission and better distribution of daylight.

"Place the window as high in the wall as possible to lengthen the depth of light penetration into the room.

"Do not specify corner windows or bay windows as a means to increase daylight effectiveness of the window.

"SCREEN ONLY those parts of the window that open for ventilation — full screens can absorb as much as 50 per cent of available daylight; half screens only 15 per cent.

"Finish ceiling and walls in light colors to take advantage of light distribution by reflection.

"Mount draperies, curtains, shades, and other window hangings above the head and to the side of the window frame.

"Provide ventilation openings in excess of 10 per cent of the floor area of a room.

"Locate the house and ventilation openings to take full advantage of prevailing breezes.

"LOCATE WINDOWS to effect best air movement across the room and within the level where occupants sit and stand.

"Plan landscaping, interior partitions, and furniture so they do not interfere with air movement.

"Minimize obstructions in the line of sight by using fixed glass except where ventilation must be provided.

She bagged performers, organized committees, bamboozled prizes and displays . . . all the thousand and one details needed to promote such an undertaking, were capably handled by this gal from the "sleepy South" -- and who still speaks with a soft drawl! . . .At this point, I might add that she and her husband have always had a terrific interest in blooded horses; they raised and "showed," even when the animals had to be boarded out — and recently, this interest has extended to Hereford cattle.

In 1951, they bought a 22 acre "farm" near Arlington Heights . . . I stopped by one day when they had just taken over and was not at all surprised to see the familiar back-side of a pair of denims, protruding from a sewer ditch leading away from the house. My friends were installing some plumbing . . . a leak had developed and Bettye (for that is her name) not only found it — but knew what to do about it — and was doing it! . . . Later, over the coffee cups, we were catching up with news — and I happened to mention the Rodeo. "I hated to say 'No,' this year," she told me — "but for the first time in my life, some leisure time looms ahead—and I know what I've got to do with it."

And that, my dear reader, is an introduction to Bettye Kummerle, "Music-Maker", composer, lyricist, arranger and conductor —the gal who is being hailed by big-time critics as "The Girl Gershwin" . . . When you hear her latest release, "Our Lady of Guadalupe," you will understand why Bishop Bernard J. Sheil calls it "an inspired creation" — why the Archbishop of Montreal has given it an official blessing — why it looms up as a strong contender for the Christopher Award, and why Clark Dennis (who sings it beautifully) has just accepted an all-expense tour to the Dublin Concert for Polio offered by a New York philanthropist.

Bettye, starting at the age of 18, has written ballads and folk-songs—off and on— all her life and here are current titles (Tiffany) that you may have heard; "You Can Push Your Luck Too Far" (Buccaneers) "Two Can Play Your Game" (Bob Atcher) "Point Of No Return" (Patricia Scot) . . . Just as publishers say that everyone has a "best-seller" (story) hidden away somewhere within themselves, Bettye believes that everyone has a potential song-hit . . . the trick is to get it out! No matter what the musical background or native talent, there is still a lot of technical knowledge and music-promotion-know how that must be acquired before one can reasonably hope for success in this highly competive field . . . I asked Bettye if there were any short-cuts, any magic formula . . . "I wish I could add something to the old cliche, 'Keep Trying' " she said, "But there are so many angles that actually, when you boil it down, it amounts to that — plus having faith in yourself, in life . . My mother wanted me to become a nun; I hope that this song makes up a little for that disappointment."

So, there you have it, faith and "Keeping On" plus the personal initiative that would still today send Bettye scurrying (should the need arise) for a pair of denims!

The "Our Lady" record is being released this month and we are having an Autograph Party in our Studio next Saturday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock, November 13 . . . Drop in and take a look and a listen; a look at a gal who is making Tin Pan Alley take notice—and a listen to a song that—no matter what your religious creed—will pull at your devotional heartstrings! . . . Incidently, all proceeds from the sale of this record go to the C.Y.O.

Plan Your Windows Properly For Best Light, Ventilation

Because windows affect the comfort of people both physically and psychologically, they deserve much consideration in the early planning stages of a house, the University of Illinois Small Homes council says in a new circular, "Window Planning Principles."

This circular, the first of a series of three publications on windows, sets forth principles for their selection and placement from the standpoints of daylight, ventilation, view, and appearance.

Its suggestions include:

PROVIDE GLASS areas in excess of 20 per cent of the floor area of each room.

"Place principal window areas toward the south.

"Group window openings in the wall to eliminate undesirable contrasts in brightness.

"Use windows in more than one wall for greater admission and better distribution of daylight.

"Place the window as high in the wall as possible to lengthen the depth of light penetration into the room.

"Do not specify corner windows or bay windows as a means to increase daylight effectiveness of the window.

"SCREEN ONLY those parts of the window that open for ventilation — full screens can absorb as much as 50 per cent of available daylight; half screens only 15 per cent.

"Finish ceiling and walls in light colors to take advantage of light distribution by reflection.

"Mount draperies, curtains, shades, and other window hangings above the head and to the side of the window frame.

"Provide ventilation openings in excess of 10 per cent of the floor area of a room.

"Locate the house and ventilation openings to take full advantage of prevailing breezes.

"LOCATE WINDOWS to effect best air movement across the room and within the level where occupants sit and stand.

"Plan landscaping, interior partitions, and furniture so they do not interfere with air movement.

"Minimize obstructions in the line of sight by using fixed glass except where ventilation must be provided.

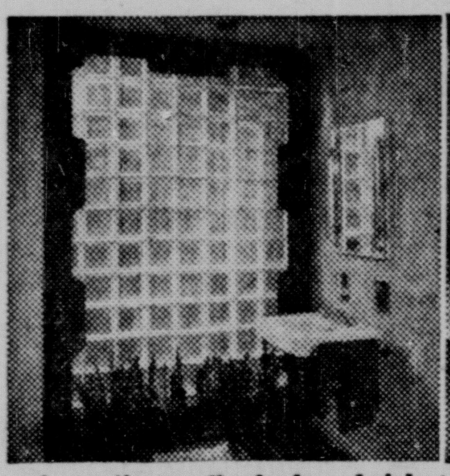
Bathrooms Can Be Distinctive With a Few Original Touches

No matter how small your bathroom is, there's room for originality. Many novel touches, such as those pictured below, are suggested in an article in the current issue of Home Modernizing magazine.

Open shelves for linens can be very decorative.

The towel ring or "stirrup" is a clever touch.



An entire wall of glass bricks lets in cheerful light.

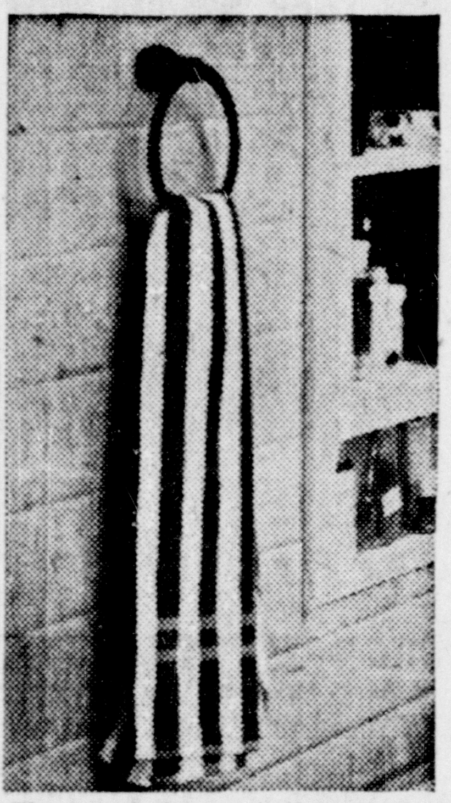
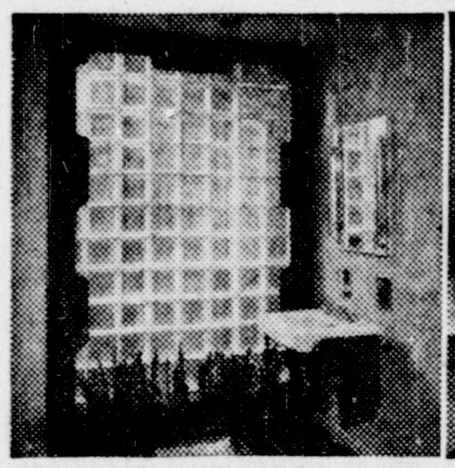
Bathrooms Can Be Distinctive With a Few Original Touches

No matter how small your bathroom is, there's room for originality. Many novel touches, such as those pictured below, are suggested in an article in the current issue of Home Modernizing magazine.

Open shelves for linens can be very decorative.



The towel ring or "stirrup" is a clever touch.



An entire wall of glass bricks lets in cheerful light.

Record 125 Boys Report For Basketball At Arlington

MAC SAYS - By G. A. McELROY

NORTHWEST CONFERENCE grid season is ended with Glenbrook undefeated champ. Walter Sherman developed a very fine team in two years at the new high school and deserves every bit of praise the enthusiastic fans of Northbrook and Glenview will heap upon him.

In Palatine the fans still think Palatine is just as good and they have a pretty sound basis for such reasoning except that the league standings show the Pirates with one defeat, that 7-0 last minute loss to Glenbrook.

Glenbrook's 55-0 defeat of Ela in the final game moved them way out in front as the top team on offense. Palatine shut out four of their seven opponents and allowed Glenbrook, Wauconda and Grayslake each one touchdown and Grayslake a safety to lead the league defensively with only 23 points scored against them. Weakest on offense was Ela-Vernon with 34 points and weakest on defense was Bensenville whose opponents tallied 173.

GLENBROOK'S BOB BOYD, junior halfback, won the Northwest scoring title with 82 points, beating out Alan Eck of Palatine on the final night. Eck scored 73 and led in touchdowns with 12. In addition Eck had six touchdowns called back due to team mates incurring penalties, longest of which was a useless 93 yard jaunt against Antioch. The one he made which did not count in the Glenbrook game cost Palatine a title tie.

Boyd and Eck were without question the backfield standouts of the conference. Each of the leading teams also had a lineman who rates at the top and who will be a real college prospect.

We are speaking of Larry Borre of Glenbrook, one of the finest downfield blockers the conference has ever seen running from a guard position. Palatine's Douglas Hildebrandt was in our book the top defensive lineman in the league playing at tackle. Standing six-foot-two and weighing 190, Hildebrandt is fast and active and led the Pirates in every game in number of tackles and number of opponents thrown for losses. Borre was fullback a year ago at Glenbrook but really came into his own when shifted into the line. Coach Sherman rated Borre as worthy of all-state consideration.

FOR THE FIRST TIME in several seasons this column called the positions of the first four teams in the final league standings before the league schedule opened. Quoting from the issue of September 25: "Glenbrook, with the line of last year intact and five veteran backs available, is the favorite to take the title.

"Pushing Glenbrook for top honors will be the Palatine Pirates and Antioch Sequoits.

"Antioch is riding the crest of a very fine crop of all round athletes and may have what it takes to finish on top. However, we pick them behind Palatine in the third spot. We are picking Ela and Bensenville for fourth and fifth."

We got some criticism from down DuPage county way on naming the Bensenville team as low as fifth.

As it turned out we missed on them for they won only one game and tied for sixth, seventh, and eighth. Our worst pick was Grant to be at the bottom of the heap. They tied with Ela for fourth.

WON-LOST RECORD of Arlington Heights high school athletic teams, so carefully totalled by athletic director Wally Grace, will never be the same since football and a couple of one point cross country meets are over. Wally's teams have always at least reached the .500 mark.

But prospects in other sports and spirit and willingness to listen on the part of boys in all sports is evident this year, something lacking, generally, in recent seasons.

First, the basketball picture at Heights has 125 boys reporting for the four teams, including 20 juniors with the varsity certain to see plenty of action in a full schedule of JV games. Out for frosh five are 53 boys, with a series of doubleheaders scheduled to give more boys needed experience.

At the frosh-soph level another creditable year is forecast with the squad possibly becoming a formidable one by mid-season.

Wrestling turnout at Arlington includes 83 boys, including 35 freshmen. This will probably mean a frosh schedule, as well as a soph and varsity slate with two coaches directing. This sport does not have conference blessing as Glenbard does not have, and Downers quit grappling.

But before anyone gets too excited, let us remind Cardinal fans that next year they open the football season against Leyden (always tough), defending champ Hinsdale, '54 runner-up Maine, and third-in-'54 Downers Grove. The Grovers also won the frosh-soph title this season.

LAST WEEK PRINCIPALS of the state were asked to vote on an amendment to the Illinois high school association code for athletics which would forbid any high school basketball practice between the finals of the state tournament and October 1.

This was done to clear the way for spring sports programs. A few years ago spring football practice was outlawed for the same reason.

We are inclined to think that a basketball practice and game season from October through March is plenty long without any spring practice for it covers two thirds of the school year.

THIS WEEK BASKETBALL PRACTICE is getting underway. In the Northwest conference coaches are already talking of who will get second place for it seems a foregone conclusion that Antioch, with nine out of 10 regulars back, will take their third straight title and maybe this time follow in Barrington's footsteps to the state tournament. No Northwest Conference has ever been in the "Sweet Sixteen." It could happen this year.

Hunting Season On Pheasants Opens Thursday

What promises to be a very attractive hunting season for the favorite game of Illinois hunters, opens at noon Thursday, November 11. It won't be an Armistice day for pheasants, quail and rabbits.

Farmers from the major pheasant areas report seeing a great many pheasants as they finish picking their corn. As most of the corn will be out of the field when the season opens, it will make pheasant hunting much simpler for the average hunter.

THERE IS A question as to whether or not lack of standing corn is likely to lead to an overkill of pheasants. Some maintain too many birds are killed when they don't have the cover provided by standing corn, others think the kill is less because birds become more wary any scatter all over the landscape so the footsore hunter isn't so likely to come within shooting distance.

Quail populations are better than expected in the face of serious drought so the quail hunter also should find pretty fair hunting. His dogs will likely work better than in the past couple of years as recent moisture will improve scenting conditions.

BY FAR the greater number of hunters will pursue the cottontail rabbit, which has long been the most attractive game animal for the large majority of hunters. There is pretty good evidence the rabbit population has improved this year in most sections of the state.

Mt. Prospect And Wheeling Tie

Wheeling and Mt. Prospect battled to a 14-14 tie, on the Mt. Prospect flag football field Thursday.

Mt. Prospect drove the ball from the kick-off for a touchdown only to have Wheeling match to tie 7-7 at half-time.

In the middle of the third quarter, Mt. Prospect broke away on a fifty-yard run to score their second counter. This was again matched by the driving ground attack of the Wheeling Graders, knotting the score, 14 all.

MOST OF the playing was on the Mt. Prospect end of the field. They were forced to kick out twice. Wheeling drove to the goal-line in two other scoring attempts, but lost their chances when touchdown passes were intercepted by Mt. Prospect.

Both teams worked from the ground with only a minimum of passing being done. Mt. Prospect gained their yardage on double reverses, and Wheeling on single wing and T-drives through the line. (Sp

Six new baskets have been installed, the area blacktopped, and are awaiting action of neighborhood youngsters on the grounds of Arlington Heights junior high school. The courts are available to all comers between and after school hours, with the hope more boys can participate in basketball, eventually meaning better high school cage teams. The courts can be used for tennis during the summer after nets have been installed. —Staff Photo

Arlington Junior High Puts Up 3 Outdoor Cage Courts

Additional opportunities for playing basketball have been provided Arlington Heights youngsters by the grade school board on a black top area of the junior high school with installation of three outdoor basketball courts.

The combination junior high school and new south school have had growing pains, but with the black topping of the new recreational area between the two schools, kids in the neighborhood will be able to play basketball outdoors after school hours and on weekends to their hearts content. Up will go tennis nets for the summer months.

THE BASKETBALL program at the junior high school includes intramural and inter-school, with the latter divided into heavyweight and lightweight divisions. Boys over 105 pounds and in the seventh or eighth grades will be competing in the heavyweight division in home and home doubleheaders against Park Ridge, Glenview, Palatine and Mt. Prospect this year. Boys under 105 in the same classes will be working with the lightweights.

The Palatine games will be played Saturday mornings, while the other six games will be after school affairs. Coaching the two teams will be Bob Spinks and Ted Wissen, two of the junior high's physical education instructors. Mary Christie directs the girls' gym activities.

GYM CLASSES are held out of doors when weather permits with basketball on the program in late fall and winter. Otherwise the courts are available for use during the lunch hour, when about 75 have been playing daily, and after school. One court is reserved for the girls during the noon hour.

Intramural program for all three grades includes boys not on either of the school's two basketball teams. Sixth graders will be playing intramural ball many Saturdays.

Goal of the six new baskets is more recreational opportunities with more boys competing, plus better basketball teams in the future for the high school.

Steals 892 Bases

During his 24-year career in the majors, Ty Cobb stole a total of 892 bases. And The Sporting News reports that Cobb's lifetime figure is greater than the overall total of 776 compiled by the major's five best base-stealers of the present time. They are Pee Wee Reese, 205; Jackie Robinson, 173; Phil Rizzuto, 139; Mickey Vernon, 135, and Richie Ashburn, 124. (Sp

Determined look of this Antioch foursome was not enough to stop Palatine Friday night, and the Pirates won, 6-0. —Staff Photo.

LEONARD WEISE, Palatine's lone entry Saturday in the state cross country meet, took 26th place of 163 boys competing as the local district champ, Proviso, once again took team honors. Last year Evanston, again the winner of the local district, took the team championship.

Leonard's record for the season included eight firsts, one second and fourth in the district.

Arlington Heights Considering Plans For 15-16 Year Colt League

Card Opener vs. Woodstock A Week Away

by BOB PADDOCK

Basketball is in full swing at Arlington Heights high school where 125 boys have reported to four coaches for the four cage teams. Initial doubleheader is slated for next week Friday, Nov. 19, at home against Woodstock, for the varsity and frosh-sophs. Frosh and JV's will get into action December 4 against Egin.

Thirty-two boys have reported to varsity mentor Howard Lester, including lettermen Dennis Maher and Jack Riggs. These two boys are short, but most of the rest of the squad is of good six-feet-plus height, a big help to any team.

Transfer this year is John Lukan, a 6'2" senior, who played center at Menominee Falls, Wisconsin, before moving to Heights.

WITH ONLY ten practices for the full squad before the opening game, Coach Lester has the problem of developing his team in a hurry. Helping is the good attitude on the part of the boys, as well as a willingness to learn.

Twenty junior with the squad are bringing smiles to Lester's face, with these boys certain to see plenty of action in a full schedule of JV games. Only juniors and sophomores will compete with the JV's.

THE FROSH-SOPH picture has Coach Maurice Klotz his usual non-committal self. "About the same as last year, probably formidable by the middle of the season, only nine practices before the opener," were the only thoughts forthcoming from Coach Klotz.

Forty boys have reported for the second year team, including three freshmen; Jack Weber, Bruce Bjorklund and Bob Lockwood. Weber, who attended Wheaton academy, has a good basketball background and should be heard from, as well as the other two boys. Just how long these three will stick with the sophomores remains to be seen.

Dan Vittum, one of the mainstays of last year's freshman team, will be out a month due to a knee injury in the Hinsdale football game Saturday.

THE FROSH picture at Heights, directed by co-coaches "Bus" Ormsbee and Ken Schaller, is bright with 53 boys reporting. A full schedule of doubleheaders is planned, giving all of the boys a chance to play, though some cuts will necessarily have to be made.

Spirit is good, but the boys lack experience in fundamentals. Opener is against Elgin December 4.

Poor sale of reserved seats at last year's basketball games has cancelled that policy at Arlington Heights high school this time. No reserved seats will be sold, unless demand changes the minds of the school administration. Large seating capacity of the gym makes reserved seats unnecessary.

Grayslake Surprises Wauconda Eleven, 15-0

Grayslake, a victim of bad breaks and weak signal calling all season, came into their own Saturday at Wauconda to gain their first victory 15-0.

The Rams, coached by Pat Rooney, scored in the first quarter on a 28 yard field goal kicked from placement by Jerry Beck. This provided the margin until Bob Miller scored on a 10 yard end run following a long drive in the third period. Bill Moore, fullback, plunged over from the three yard line in the final period. Peregrin was moved from full back to quarterback in a lineup shift for Grayslake which paid off.

Seek Rest Of Midget Football Equipment

Plenty of midget footballers' equipment still hasn't been turned in, "Bus" Ormsbee reported this week for the Arlington Heights park board.

"That equipment," continued Ormsbee, "must be turned in immediately at the fieldhouse. The park board is anxious to have it put away in mothballs, so plans can be made for next year's program.

"An extended program will not be possible next fall if the boy do not come in with their head gear, jerseys and shoulder pads." Equipment can be turned over to the superintendent any time of the day at the Arlington Heights fieldhouse.

Opener Tuesday With Hampshire At Bensenville

Basketball practice has begun at Bensenville and all Northwest conference schools with the opener for the Bisons scheduled Tuesday night, November 16, against Hampshire. The locals will play host Tuesday night in the first doubleheader.

First practices were held Monday and Tuesday of this week. Coaching the varsity is Frank Novatny with Art Dietz directing the frosh-sophs and Bill Jonkheer the freshmen.

THREE VETERANS are back this year for Coach Novatny, including guard Ken Sirotzki, forward Francis Cheze and guard Bob Heckler. Complete schedule calls for nine doubleheaders at home, ten away.

Hunting Season On Pheasants Opens Thursday

What promises to be a very attractive hunting season for the favorite game of Illinois hunters, opens at noon Thursday, November 11. It won't be an Armistice day for pheasants, quail and rabbits.

Farmers from the major pheasant areas report seeing a great many pheasants as they finish picking their corn. As most of the corn will be out of the field when the season opens, it will make pheasant hunting much simpler for the average hunter.

THERE IS A question as to whether or not lack of standing corn is likely to lead to an over-kill of pheasants. Some maintain too many birds are killed when they don't have the cover provided by standing corn, others think the kill is less because birds become more wary any scatter all over the landscape so the footsore hunter isn't so likely to come within shooting distance.

Quail populations are better than expected in the face of serious drought so the quail hunter also should find pretty fair hunting. His dogs will likely work better than in the past couple of years as recent moisture will improve scenting conditions.

BY FAR the greater number of hunters will pursue the cottontail rabbit, which has long been the most attractive game animal for the large majority of hunters. There is pretty good evidence the rabbit population has improved this year in most sections of the state.

Mt. Prospect And Wheeling Tie

Wheeling and Mt. Prospect battled to a 14-14 tie, on the Mt. Prospect flag football field Thursday.

Mt. Prospect drove the ball from the kick-off for a touchdown only to have Wheeling match to tie 7-7 at half-time.

In the middle of the third quarter, Mt. Prospect broke away on a fifty-yard run to score their second counter. This was again matched by the driving ground attack of the Wheeling Graders, knotting the score, 14 all.

MOST OF the playing was on the Mt. Prospect end of the field. They were forced to kick out twice. Wheeling drove to the goal-line in two other scoring attempts, but lost their chances when touchdown passes were intercepted by Mt. Prospect.

Both teams worked from the ground with only a minimum of passing being done. Mt. Prospect gained their yardage on double reverses, and Wheeling on single wing and T-drives through the line. (Sp

Six new baskets have been installed, the area blacktopped, and are awaiting action of neighborhood youngsters on the grounds of Arlington Heights junior high school. The courts are available to all comers between and after school hours, with the hope more boys can participate in basketball, eventually meaning better high school cage teams. Arlington Junior High Puts Up 3 Outdoor Cage Courts

Additional opportunities for playing basketball have been provided Arlington Heights youngsters by the grade school board on a black top area of the junior high school with installation of three outdoor basketball courts.

The combination junior high school and new south school have had growing pains, but with the black topping of the new recreational area between the two schools, kids in the neighborhood will be able to play basketball outdoors after school hours and on weekends to their hearts content. Up will go tennis nets for the summer months.

THE BASKETBALL program at the junior high school includes intramural and inter-school, with the latter divided into heavyweight and lightweight divisions. Boys over 105 pounds and in the seventh or eighth grades will be competing in the heavyweight division in home and home doubleheaders against Park Ridge, Glenview, Palatine and Mt. Prospect this year. Boys under 105 in the same classes will be working with the lightweights.

The Palatine games will be played Saturday mornings, while the other six games will be after school affairs. Coaching the two teams will be Bob Spinks and Ted Wissen, two of the junior high's physical education instructors. Mary Christie directs the girls' gym activities.

GYM CLASSES are held out of doors when weather permits with basketball on the program in late fall and winter. Otherwise the courts are available for use during the lunch hour, when about 75 have been playing daily, and after school. One court is reserved for the girls during the noon hour.

Intramural program for all three grades includes boys not on either of the school's two basketball teams. Sixth graders will be playing intramural ball many Saturdays.

Goal of the six new baskets is more recreational opportunities with more boys competing, plus better basketball teams in the future for the high school.

Steals 892 Bases

During his 24-year career in the majors, Ty Cobb stole a total of 892 bases. And The Sporting News reports that Cobb's lifetime figure is greater than the overall total of 776 compiled by the major's five best base-stealers of the present time. They are Pee Wee Reese, 205; Jackie Robinson, 173; Phil Rizzuto, 139; Mickey Vernon, 135, and Richie Ashburn, 124. (Sp

LEONARD WEISE, Palatine's lone entry Saturday in the state cross country meet, took 26th place of 163 boys competing as the local district champ, Proviso, once again took team honors. Last year Evanston, again the winner of the local district, took the team championship.

Leonard's record for the season included eight firsts, one second and fourth in the district.

Card Opener vs. Woodstock A Week Away

by BOB PADDOCK

Basketball is in full swing at Arlington Heights high school where 125 boys have reported to four coaches for the four cage teams. Initial doubleheader is slated for next week Friday, Nov. 19, at home against Woodstock, for the varsity and frosh-sophs. Frosh and JV's will get into action December 4 against Egin.

Thirty-two boys have reported to varsity mentor Howard Lester, including lettermen Dennis Maher and Jack Riggs. These two boys are short, but most of the rest of the squad is of good six-feet-plus height, a big help to any team.

Transfer this year is John Lukan, a 6'2" senior, who played center at Menominee Falls, Wisconsin, before moving to Heights.

WITH ONLY ten practices for the full squad before the opening game, Coach Lester has the problem of developing his team in a hurry. Helping is the good attitude on the part of the boys, as well as a willingness to learn.

Twenty junior with the squad are bringing smiles to Lester's face, with these boys certain to see plenty of action in a full schedule of JV games. Only juniors and sophomores will compete with the JV's.

THE FROSH-SOPH picture has Coach Maurice Klotz his usual non-committal self. "About the same as last year, probably formidable by the middle of the season, only nine practices before the opener," were the only thoughts forthcoming from Coach Klotz.

Forty boys have reported for the second year team, including three freshmen; Jack Weber, Bruce Bjorklund and Bob Lockwood. Weber, who attended Wheaton academy, has a good basketball background and should be heard from, as well as the other two boys. Just how long these three will stick with the sophomores remains to be seen.

Dan Vittum, one of the mainstays of last year's freshman team, will be out a month due to a knee injury in the Hinsdale football game Saturday.

THE FROSH picture at Heights, directed by co-coaches "Bus" Ormsbee and Ken Schaller, is bright with 53 boys reporting. A full schedule of doubleheaders is planned, giving all of the boys a chance to play, though some cuts will necessarily have to be made.

Spirit is good, but the boys lack experience in fundamentals. Opener is against Elgin December 4.

Poor sale of reserved seats at last year's basketball games has cancelled that policy at Arlington Heights high school this time. No reserved seats will be sold, unless demand changes the minds of the school administration. Large seating capacity of the gym makes reserved seats unnecessary.

Grayslake Surprises Wauconda Eleven, 15-0

Grayslake, a victim of bad breaks and weak signal calling all season, came into their own Saturday at Wauconda to gain their first victory 15-0.

The Rams, coached by Pat Rooney, scored in the first quarter on a 28 yard field goal kicked from placement by Jerry Beck. This provided the margin until Bob Miller scored on a 10 yard end run following a long drive in the third period. Bill Moore, fullback, plunged over from the three yard line in the final period. Peregrin was moved from full back to quarterback in a lineup shift for Grayslake which paid off.

Seek Rest Of Midget Football Equipment

Plenty of midget footballers' equipment still hasn't been turned in, "Bus" Ormsbee reported this week for the Arlington Heights park board.

"That equipment," continued Ormsbee, "must be turned in immediately at the fieldhouse. The park board is anxious to have it put away in mothballs, so plans can be made for next year's program.

"An extended program will not be possible next fall if the boy do not come in with their head gear, jerseys and shoulder pads." Equipment can be turned over to the superintendent any time of the day at the Arlington Heights fieldhouse.

Opener Tuesday With Hampshire At Bensenville

Basketball practice has begun at Bensenville and all Northwest conference schools with the opener for the Bisons scheduled Tuesday night, November 16, against Hampshire. The locals will play host Tuesday night in the first doubleheader.

First practices were held Monday and Tuesday of this week. Coaching the varsity is Frank Novatny with Art Dietz directing the frosh-sophs and Bill Jonkheer the freshmen.

Cardinals Come Within 6" of Hinsdale Goal, But Lose 26-0

Arlington's varsity and frosh- ph grid teams traveled to Hins- le to end the season Saturday, d came up with two white- ashings at the hands of the eedy hosts, 26-0 and 24-0.

The varsity, though, did some- ing no other team in the West burban league had accom- ished. They came within six ches of the Red Devils' goal. Only TD tallied against the ampions this fall was a 105 ird pass interception by Glen rd. Arlington's nearness to me was the only offensive ac- on, that wasn't strong enough. owever, to go the final half ot.

A BETTER defensive game as racked up by the Cardinals esult of two weeks of empha- izing this half of gridiron play inemen looking good were Bruce Wilkerson, who played his best of the year, Chris Blueberg, who looked very good, and Tom Hanson, who looked better.

Arlington pass defense was a bit weak, possibly a result of the team watching for the end arounds of Dennis Krause which rarely materialized.

HINSDALE SCORED the second time with the ball, starting from the Heights 42. Six plays later Poswilko went over from the one foot line, including a 19 yard dash by Poswilko. Cortesi converted.

Arlington fumbled at midfield at the end of the first quarter, but the winners were unable to make it pay. The Red Devils did score the next time they had the ball, though, traveling from their 44 in eight plays, the last one a three yard pass, Krause to Seul. Again Cortesi kicked the extra point.

The Cardinals started a drive from their own 22 to Hinsdale's 32, but a pass interception by Ridley put Hinsdale in the driver's seat again. Seven plays later it was 20-0 with Krause picking up the final five yards.

THIRD QUARTER was in the Heights end of the field. Arlington fumbled, stopped Hinsdale, lost nine yards, held again, then had a pass intercepted on the 23. Hinsdale covered the distance in four plays, 26-0.

Fourth period found the Cardinals deep in Red Devils' territory with a fumble stopping Coach Ormsbee's boys on the 17, and the Hinsdale line holding at the six inch line. The winners brought the ball to the 43, but the game ended shortly after.

Roast Coot With Rice Stuffing

One of the choicest of the duck foods is the ribbon-like wild celery which contributes much to the fine flavor of the canvasbacks. An equally heavy eater of wild celery is the coot and so, if you can put aside your prejudices, you will find that he, too, is quite delicious!

Baked with this rice stuffing is one of the tastier ways of preparing the birds. Skin them, of course, and remove every trace of fat, then stuff and bake 1 to 1½ hours in a moderate over (350 degrees). Being skinned, the meat will dry out if not protected by several strips of fat bacon on each bird or a cloth that is kept mosit by basting with melted butter and water.

For stuffing, saute ½ cup chopped onions, ½ cup diced celery and ½ cup diced green pepper in butter 5 minutes, mix with 3 cups cooked rice (ordinary rice, not wild rice) and season with ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper and ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper.

Palatine Takes Second With 6–0 Victory Over Antioch

Palatine copped second place in the Northwest conference Friday with a 6-0 vicotry over a strong Antioch team. The victory broke a deadlock, giving the Pirates a 6-1 record for the season, having lost only to Glenbrook by 7-0. It was Antioch's second setback giving them third place with a 5-2 mark.

The Pirates got the lone tally of the game in the second quarter. Alan Eck's 47 yard punt rolled dead on the Antioch five yard line and the Pirates held the Sequoits on downs. Antioch's punt was run back by Eck to the 31 yard line and from that point the Palatine team scored in 10 plays. John Dilks gained 27 of the 31 yards and Eck plunged over from the two yard stripe.

IN THE SECOND half the Antioch passing attack functioned for 108 yards but three interceptions by Dave Nesset and one by Larry Wheeler stopped the Sequoits at crucial moments. Douglas Hildebrandt who plays end on offense and tackle on defense was in on practically all the tackles made on his side of the line throwing Antioch backs for eight losses totaling 52 yards.

Eck had a bad night from the stand point of net yards gained but did get away on a 93 yard touchdown run in the last quarter which did not count due to one of his backfield teammates being in motion. John Dilks was Palatine's leading ground gainer with a net of 68 yards which exceeded the Antioch total made by rushing.

WARREN BROWNLEE, Antioch quarterback, played an outstanding game with runs of 14 and 29 yards and eight forward pass completions totaling 108 yards. Antioch had an 8-3 edge on first downs and a total yardage edge of 160 to 95. Palatine's punting superiority was a factor in the victory as Eck averaged 34.4 yards on eight kicks.

This was a game where Palatine's defensive lineup which does not get in the listings was most responsible for the victory. This lineup includes Jim Penning and Dave Cornwell at ends, Douglas Hildebrandt Lawrence Wheeler, and Bill Thompson at tackles; Leonard Rohde, Elwood Kuntson, and George Huber at guards; Tom Hillesheim at center; Bob Coates and Dave Nesset, linebackers; and Bruce McClung and Alan Eck, halfbacks.

Illini Must Patch Line For Wisconsin Game

Coach Ray Eliot faces another line-patching task as his Illini squad began preparations for its Homecoming tilt with Wisconsin before a sellout crowd of 71,119 in Memorial Stadium Saturday.

Team physicians announced Monday that Rudy Siegert, 215-pound junior right tackle from Pana, was through for the season because of a cartilage injury in the right knee. Siegert was a 60-minute performer in Illinois' 14 to 7 loss to Michigan last Saturday.

TO COMPENSATE, Eliot again moved Don "Bucky" Tate to right tackle and installed George Walsh, hard-driving little junior from Atwood, at right guard. Veteran Wally Vernasco, who has been favoring a bad ankle, will be held as a first-line replacement either for Walsh or Capt. Jan Smid at left guard.

"Siegert's loss hurts materially," Eliot commented. "He was just hitting peak form and played a fine game for us against Michigan. That's four varsity men, Siegert, Floyd McAfee, Bob Gongola and Jim Minor, who have been lost during the season.

"Then, too, 10 others have been injured enough to miss one or more games. On a squad which normally would have been thin at various positions, such a series of injuries has been disastrous."

ELIOT'S CHIEF hope in drills this week is that J. C. Caroline, who missed all of the Purdue contest and made only a token appearance against Michigan, can get back into shape to be effective against Wisconsin.

"Caroline hasn't worked enough in the last two weeks to be of any value. He has lost timing and his sharpness. But, we hope that with hard work he can be ready to help us by Saturday. While Harry Jefferson played well as his replacement, he isn't a J. C. Caroline," Eliot said.

Eliot felt that Em Lindbeck, junior quarterback from Kewanee, played best game of his career against the Wolverines. "He called plays very well, used his offense effectively, and passed enough to keep Michigan loose on defense."

Grant Scores Twice First Quarter, Trims Bisóns, 18–2

by ELI WHITNEY

Grant Bulldogs weren't barking up the wrong tree Saturday evening when they whipped the Bensenville Bisons, 18-2, on the new Grant gridiron.

The Bulldogs didn't waste time in starting action: They made their way to the Bensenville two yard line with runs off tackle and around end. Fullback Weaver then pierced the B'ville forward wall to score. The attempted conversion was off to to the left.

SHORTLY AFTERWARDS Captain Klaus, playing Grant quarterback, shifted into high gear and raced 65 yards on a punt return to tally. Breaking through the line, Bisons prevented an attempted pass for extra point from leaving the backfield.

Another Bulldog drive which started near the end of the first quarter lasted into the second period. Six to ten yard gains brought them to the B'ville 6 Klaus trotted the remaining yardage to cross the goal line Again the conversion went wild.

AFTER INTERMISSION a Bison punt bounced out of bounds on the Bulldog 22. A five yard loss and 15 yard penalty found Grant on their own 2. Two Bensenville linemen crashed the line and downed fullback Weaver in the end zone to score a safety for B'ville. The score 18-2, Grant.

The Bulldogs achieved 13 first downs to Bensenville's 8. Of Grants 13, ten were made in the first half. Captain Klaus ran 151 of Grants total 313 yards and halfback Sirotzki gained 132 of B'ville's total 225 yards. Two-thirds of Sirotzki's yardage was made on punt and kick-off returns.

Cardinals Come Within 6" of Hinsdale Goal, But Lose 26-0

Arlington's varsity and frosh- ph grid teams traveled to Hins- le to end the seaso.. Saturday, d came up with two white- ashings at the hands of the eedy hosts, 26-0 and 24-0.

The varsity, though, did some- ing no other team in the West burban league had accom- ished. They came within six ches of the Red Devils' goal. Only TD tallied against the ampions this fall was a 105 rd pass interception by Glen rd. Arlington's nearness to me was the only offensive ac- n, that wasn't strong enough. wever, to go the final half ot.

A BETTER defensive game as racked up by the Cardinals sult of two weeks of empha- izing this half of gridiron play inemen looking good were ruce Wilkerson, who played his best of the year, Chris Blueberg, who looked very good, and Tom Hanson, who looked better.

Arlington pass defense was a bit weak, possibly a result of the team watching for the end arounds of Dennis Krause which rarely materialized.

HINSDALE SCORED the second time with the ball, starting from the Heights 42. Six plays later Poswilko went over from the one foot line, including a 19 yard dash by Poswilko. Cortesi converted.

Arlington fumbled at midfield at the end of the first quarter, but the winners were unable to make it pay. The Red Devils did score the next time they had the ball, though, traveling from their 44 in eight plays, the last one a three yard pass, Krause to Seul. Again Cortesi kicked the extra point.

The Cardinals started a drive from their own 22 to Hinsdale's 32, but a pass interception by Ridley put Hinsdale in the driver's seat again. Seven plays later it was 20-0 with Krause picking up the final five yards.

THIRD QUARTER was in the Heights end of the field. Arlington fumbled, stopped Hinsdale, lost nine yards, held again, then had a pass intercepted on the 23. Hinsdale covered the distance in four plays, 26-0.

Fourth period found the Cardinals deep in Red Devils' territory with a fumble stopping Coach Ormsbee's boys on the 17, and the Hinsdale line holding at the six inch line. The winners brought the ball to the 43, but the game ended shortly after.

Roast Coot With Rice Stuffing

One of the choicest of the duck foods is the ribbon-like wild celery which contributes much to the fine flavor of the canvasbacks. An equally heavy eater of wild celery is the coot and so, if you can put aside your prejudices, you will find that he, too, is quite delicious!

Baked with this rice stuffing is one of the tastier ways of preparing the birds. Skin them, of course, and remove every trace of fat, then stuff and bake 1 to 1½ hours in a moderate over (350 degrees). Being skinned, the meat will dry out if not protected by several strips of fat bacon on each bird or a cloth that is kept mosit by basting with melted butter and water.

For stuffing, saute ½ cup chopped onions, ½ cup diced celery and ½ cup diced green pepper in butter 5 minutes, mix with 3 cups cooked rice (ordinary rice, not wild rice) and season with ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper and ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper.

Palatine copped second place in the Northwest conference Friday with a 6-0 vicotry over a strong Antioch team. The victory broke a deadlock, giving the Pirates a 6-1 record for the season, having lost only to Glenbrook by 7-0. It was Antioch's second setback giving them third place with a 5-2 mark.

The Pirates got the lone tally of the game in the second quarter. Alan Eck's 47 yard punt rolled dead on the Antioch five yard line and the Pirates held the Sequoits on downs. Antioch's punt was run back by Eck to the 31 yard line and from that point the Palatine team scored in 10 plays. John Dilks gained 27 of the 31 yards and Eck plunged over from the two yard stripe.

IN THE SECOND half the Antioch passing attack functioned for 108 yards but three interceptions by Dave Nesset and one by Larry Wheeler stopped the Sequoits at crucial moments. Douglas Hildebrandt who plays end on offense and tackle on defense was in on practically all the tackles made on his side of the line throwing Antioch backs for eight losses totaling 52 yards.

Eck had a bad night from the stand point of net yards gained but did get away on a 93 yard touchdown run in the last quarter which did not count due to one of his backfield teammates being in motion. John Dilks was Palatine's leading ground gainer with a net of 68 yards which exceeded the Antioch total made by rushing.

WARREN BROWNLEE, Antioch quarterback, played an outstanding game with runs of 14 and 29 yards and eight forward pass completions totaling 108 yards. Antioch had an 8-3 edge on first downs and a total yardage edge of 160 to 95. Palatine's punting superiority was a factor in the victory as Eck averaged 34.4 yards on eight kicks.

This was a game where Palatine's defensive lineup which does not get in the listings was most responsible for the victory. This lineup includes Jim Penning and Dave Cornwell at ends, Douglas Hildebrandt Lawrence Wheeler, and Bill Thompson at tackles; Leonard Rohde, Elwood Kuntson, and George Huber at guards; Tom Hillesheim at center; Bob Coates and Dave Nesset, linebackers; and Bruce McClung and Alan Eck, halfbacks.

Grant Scores Twice First Quarter, Trims Bisóns, 18—2

by ELI WHITNEY

Grant Bulldogs weren't barking up the wrong tree Saturday evening when they whipped the Bensenville Bisons, 18-2, on the new Grant gridiron.

The Bulldogs didn't waste time in starting action: They made their way to the Bensenville two yard line with runs off tackle and around end. Fullback Weaver then pierced the B'ville forward wall to score. The attempted conversion was off to to the left.

SHORTLY AFTTERWARDS Captain Klaus, playing Grant quarterback, shifted into high gear and raced 65 yards on a punt return to tally. Breaking through the line, Bisons prevented an attempted pass for extra point from leaving the backfield.

Another Bulldog drive which started near the end of the first quarter lasted into the second period. Six to ten yard gains brought them to the B'ville 6 Klaus trotted the remaining yardage to cross the goal line Again the conversion went wild.

AFTER INTERMISSION a Bison punt bounced out of bounds on the Bulldog 22. A five yard loss and 15 yard penalty found Grant on their own 2. Two Bensenville linemen crashed the line and downed fullback Weaver in the end zone to score a safety for B'ville. The score 18-2, Grant.

The Bulldogs achieved 13 first downs to Bensenville's 8. Of Grants 13, ten were made in the first half. Captain Klaus ran 151 of Grants total 313 yards and halfback Sirotzki gained 132 of B'ville's total 225 yards. Two-thirds of Sirotzki's yardage was made on punt and kick-off returns.

Illini Must Patch Line For Wisconsin Game

Coach Ray Eliot faces another line-patching task as his Illini squad began preparations for its Homecoming tilt with Wisconsin before a sellout crowd of 71,119 in Memorial Stadium Saturday.

Team physicians announced Monday that Rudy Siegert, 215-pound junior right tackle from Pana, was through for the season because of a cartilage injury in the right knee. Siegert was a 60-minute performer in Illinois' 14 to 7 loss to Michigan last Saturday.

TO COMPENSATE, Eliot again moved Don "Bucky" Tate to right tackle and installed George Walsh, hard-driving little junior from Atwood, at right guard. Veteran Wally Vernasco, who has been favoring a bad ankle, will be held as a first-line replacement either for Walsh or Capt. Jan Smid at left guard.

"Siegert's loss hurts materially," Eliot commented. "He was just hitting peak form and played a fine game for us against Michigan. That's four varsity men, Siegert, Floyd McAfee, Bob Gongola and Jim Minor, who have been lost during the season.

"Then, too, 10 others have been injured enough to miss one or more games. On a squad which normally would have been thin at various positions, such a series of injuries has been disastrous."

ELIOT'S CHIEF hope in drills this week is that J. C. Caroline, who missed all of the Purdue contest and made only a token appearance against Michigan, can get back into shape to be effective against Wisconsin.

"Caroline hasn't worked enough in the last two weeks to be of any value. He has lost timing and his sharpness. But, we hope that with hard work he can be ready to help us by Saturday. While Harry Jefferson played well as his replacement, he isn't a J. C. Caroline," Eliot said.

Eliot felt that Em Lindbeck, junior quarterback from Kewanee, played best game of his career against the Wolverines. "He called plays very well, used his offense effectively, and passed enough to keep Michigan loose on defense."

84 Boys Report For Wrestling At Arlington; Three Teams

Eighty-four boys have reported to wrestling coaches Dick Mudge and Maurice Kellogg at Arlington Heights high school, with plans for varsity and frosh-soph matches now extended to a freshman team, as well.

The entire group is working out together daily in the foyer of the gym, with boys gaining their wind in long dashes outside. Many of the boys were out for football and cross country this fall, though, and are already in shape.

THE SQUAD includes 35 freshmen and 16 sophomores, a healthy situation, with five lettermen on the varsity. Coach Mudge is planning six meets for the freshmen.

The sport is still not conference-wide. Downers Grove, which tried it last year, is not continuing this season. Glenbard has never started wrestling. The other schools of the West Suburban league are on the locals' schedule.

ALL MEETS on the schedule are frosh-soph and varsity affairs, except the final at home against Zion-Benton. Opener is at Leyden December 3, starting at 7:30 in the evening.

N.U. Aims For First Victory Against Indiana

Northwestern's injury-ridden football team eyes a chance to win its first conference game of the season when it meets Indiana in the final home game of the 1954 campaign at Dyche stadium Saturday.

The Wildcats will also be out to avenge a 14 to 6 loss to the Hoosiers last year which was the first time the Crimson had beaten the Purple since 1946. Northwestern leads in the series with 18 victories against 11 for Indiana with one tie.

NORTHWESTERN comes up to its home finale in a prevarious physical condition which finds only one quarterback, sophomore Dale Pienta, available, and he is lame from a severe leg bruise suffered in the Ohio State game two weeks ago.

Coach Bob Voigts' embattled young men have lost three quarterbacks in their last two games. John Readen suffered a broken hand in the Ohio State game, and last week sophomores Jack Ellis and Ed Broeker were sidelined for the season, the former with a broken foot and the latter with a twisted knee.

PIENTA who was pressed into service against Wisconsin despite a leg injury, carries much of Northwestern's hopes of snapping a six game losing streak. He came up with the Wildcats' best passing attack of the year with 10 completions out of 19 attempts against Wisconsin.

The Wildcats who stepped up the tempo of their passing attack in the last two games, will undoubtedly continue to stress passes against the Hoosiers, especially since the ground assault has been weakened by the loss of Jim Troglio, the team's leading ball carrier, in the Ohio State game.

Roselle Dogs Win More Show Honors

King Roselhof of Willow Wink, a collie owned by Dorothy J. Lamberti, won "best of breed" at the Rock River Valley Kennel club show Sunday.

The Lambertis own and operate the IGA Super Market, 111 Main st., Roselle. (SP

Palatine Frosh End Year With 47-0 Victory

Palatine's freshman football schedule of seven games was completed at Bensenville last Tuesday when the first year Pirates scuttled Bensenville 47-0. It was Palatine's third win in a row after four defeats. Palatine had beaten Antioch, 27-12, and Grayslake, 21-12. Palatine lost to Glenbrook 19-0, Crystal Lake 14-6, Arlington Heights 13-6, and Niles Twp. 22-6. This was one of the best frosh grid teams Palatine has ever presented.

At Bensenville Dick Wisner and Jordan Danforth sparked the rout of the Bisons. Wisner at quarterback scored on runs of 41, 27, 8, and 2 yards. He threw touchdown passes which Jordan Danforth, left end, caught for 61 and 43 yard scores. Danforth also ran 36 yards for a third touchdown on a recovered fumble and caught a pass from Wisner for an extra point. Dan Lemanski plunged over for four extra points.

Bensenville Sophs Put On Merriwell Finish To Win

by MAX ZOLLNER

Bensenville sophs pounded out a 20-13 win over Grant Friday in a twilight game at the Fox Lake school. Lars Henriksen, quarterback of the junior Bisons, was the sensation of the evening as he scored two touchdowns, one in the final seconds of play. Leading the Bulldogs' attack were Autschback and Hamm.

Early in the first period, the Grant gridders, aided by a string of successive first downs, fought to the Bensenville 30. Autschback broke loose to score, but, due to an offside penalty the tally was nullified.

LATER in the half, Ken Cooper of the Bisons carried the ball deep into Bulldog territory. The team's attack was stopped cold, however, leaving a halftime score of 0-0.

Grant, having fought their way to the Bensenville ten, took to the air lanes, only to have a pass intercepted by Lars Henriksen on the three. After a fumble on the following play again put the Bisons in a precarious position, they put up a goal line stand and pushed Grant back to the seven, but Grant's Autschback sneaked around right end to score. The conversion was missed.

WITH TIME running out in the fourth quarter, Lars Henriksen carried for 32 yards and a T. D. He also smashed up the middle to make the vital extra point. Terry Biefeld followed with a 30 yd. jaunt and a plunge into the end zone. This put the Bisons ahead, 13-6.

Coming right back, Grant's quarterback flipped a pass to Hamm who raced 50 yards for Grant's second score. Derwa converted to tie the score at 13 all.

WITH LITTLE more than a minute remaining in the game, Lars Henriksen picked up Grants kickoff on his own 40 yd. line. Fine blocking from his teammates enabled him to go 60 yds. for the winning touchdown.

Henriksen converted also, making the final score 20-13 favor of the Bisons.

Palatine Harriers Close With 3-6 Mark

Coach Dick Welty's Palatine cross country squad had a fine season in spite of only three victories in nine runs. The Pirates beat Glenbrook twice and Crystal Lake, while losing close decisions to Arlington and Leyden twice, and to Crystal Lake and Elgin once. All the meets were close with two lost by one point.

Lester Wiese, a consistent first place winner all season, took fourth in the district at Evanston and was 26th out of 165 runners in the state meet last Saturday at Urbana.

In addition to Wiese Palatine boys who won varsity letters are John Greenwood, Ronald Bessemer, Bob Hamilton, Duane Gordon, and Roy Hahnfelt. George Zobel and Dan Kusek won frosh-soph letters. A squad of 23 boys stayed out all season and will give Palatine a stronger combination in 1955 as well as in track next spring. (SP

N.U. Aims For First Victory Against Indiana

Northwestern's injury-ridden football team eyes a chance to win its first conference game of the season when it meets Indiana in the final home game of the 1954 campaign at Dyche stadium Saturday.

The Wildcats will also be out to avenge a 14 to 6 loss to the Hoosiers last year which was the first time the Crimson had beaten the Purple since 1946. Northwestern leads in the series with 18 victories against 11 for Indiana with one tie.

NORTHWESTERN comes up to its home finale in a prevarious physical condition which finds only one quarterback, sophomore Dale Pienta, available, and he is lame from a severe leg bruise suffered in the Ohio State game two weeks ago.

Coach Bob Voigts' embattled young men have lost three quarterbacks in their last two games. John Readen suffered a broken hand in the Ohio State game, and last week sophomores Jack Ellis and Ed Broeker were sidelined for the season, the former with a broken foot and the latter with a twisted knee.

PIENTA who was pressed into service against Wisconsin despite a leg injury, carries much of Northwestern's hopes of snapping a six game losing streak. He came up with the Wildcats' best passing attack of the year with 10 completions out of 19 attempts against Wisconsin.

The Wildcats who stepped up the tempo of their passing attack in the last two games, will undoubtedly continue to stress passes against the Hoosiers, especially since the ground assault has been weakened by the loss of Jim Troglio, the team's leading ball carrier, in the Ohio State game.

Roselle Dogs Win More Show Honors

Two dogs owned by Dorothy and Carl Lamberti of Roselle won prizes last week in two Chicago area judging contests.

King Roselhof of Willow Wink, a collie owned by Dorothy J. Lamberti, won "best of breed" at the Rock River Valley Kennel club show Sunday.

Ginger Von Roselle, German shorthair owned by Carl Lamberti, won a first place trophy in the West Suburban Hunting dog field trial. A second place trophy in the Downers Grove trial had been awarded the dog earlier this fall.

The Lambertis own and operate the IGA Super Market, 111 Main st., Roselle. (SP

by MAX ZOLLNER

Bensenville sophs pounded out a 20-13 win over Grant Friday in a twilight game at the Fox Lake school. Lars Henriksen, quarterback of the junior Bisons, was the sensation of the evening as he scored two touchdowns, one in the final seconds of play. Leading the Bulldogs' attack were Autschback and Hamm.

Early in the first period, the Grant gridders, aided by a string of successive first downs, fought to the Bensenville 30. Autschback broke loose to score, but, due to an offside penalty the tally was nullified.

LATER in the half, Ken Cooper of the Bisons carried the ball deep into Bulldog territory. The team's attack was stopped cold, however, leaving a halftime score of 0-0.

Grant, having fought their way to the Bensenville ten, took to the air lanes, only to have a pass intercepted by Lars Henriksen on the three. Arlington Harriers Tie Hinsdale; End Year

Arlington Heights high school harriers tied their final meet of the season at Hinsdale Thursday, 28—all. This gave Coach Russ Attis' squad a 3-5-1 record for the year.

Once again it was the Cardinals' John Sheppard who led the locals, though this time in second place, Conference individual champ David Hohl copped first for Hinsdale, with Olcott 3rd, Holderness 4th, David 9th, Baumrucker 11th.

For Arlington it was Sheppard 2nd, Palmer 5th, Reinke 6th, Hornbostel 7th, Landmeier 8th, Garr 10th. Performance of the last five was all important to the Arlington cause as a single position change would have meant Hinsdale's meet.

JOHN SHEPPARD was elected honorary captain for the year, with just four boys winning letters at Arlington this year. Three were repeats of last season, Sheppard, Lodiegard, Reinke and Ray Hornbostel. Other was Bill Palmer, a sophomore.

Sheppard took six firsts, three seconds in the nine duals. Heights beat Riverside once, Palatine twice, the last time by one point. Included in the losses were one pointers to Downers Grove and York.

Average finish of the top four boys were Sheppard 1.3, Palmer 5.9, Reinke 8.6, and Hornbostel 9.8.

Palatine Sophomores Defeat Antioch, 14-6

Palatine frosh-sophs defeated Antioch Friday night, 14-6, for their third straight victory following three losses and a tie. The Palatine boys played their best game of the season. In the first period Eldridge got off a long run to the Antioch 28 and after a four yard gain Douglas Peterson carried the ball 24 yards for a touchdown. McClung ran over the extra point.

Antioch scored in the third period on a 38 yard run to make the score 7-6, but Palatine got another tally when Peterson plunged over from the one yard after Roger Knitter and Dave Shaw had put the ball in scoring position. Wisner got the extra point from the seven yard line on a run after Palatine had been set back five yards on the first try by an offside penalty.

Palatine frosh-sophs coached by Claude Bailey and John Ellis beat Antioch, Bensenville, and Wauconda during the past season and lost to Glenbrook and Grayslake, were tied by Grant and Ela-Vernon. They also lost to Barrington 6-0 outside the conference. (SP

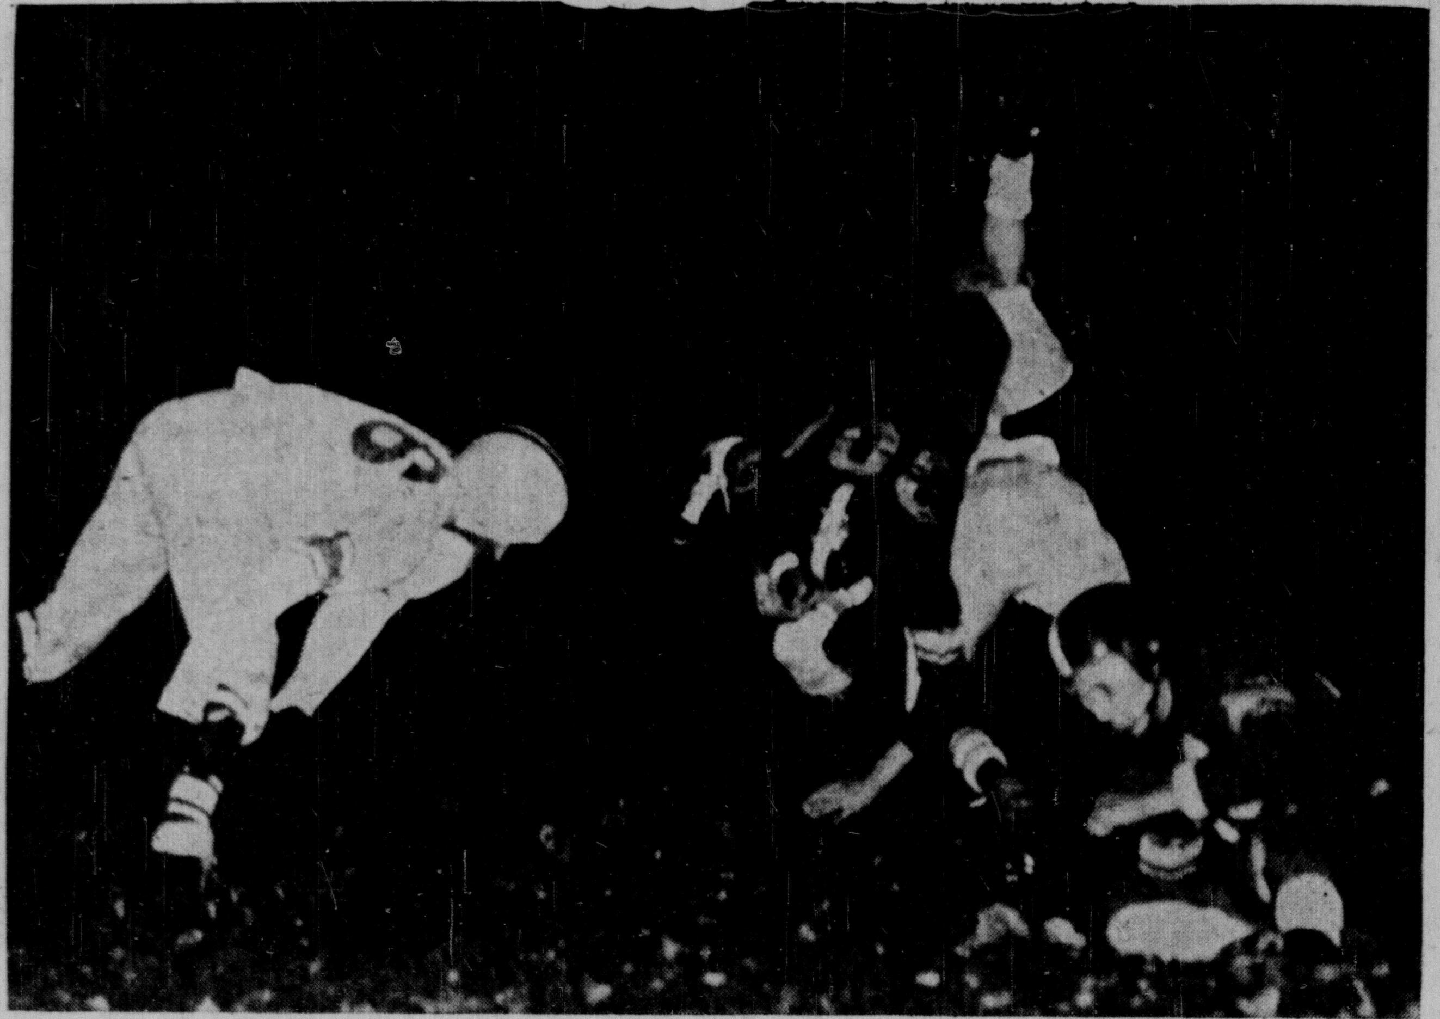
Wheeling Soccer

Wheeling eighth grade girls dropped the seventh grade, 3-0 in a soccer game that saw the only score a penalty kick until the final second of play. This was another step on the part of the Wheeling school to bring a good, competitive program to all of its students.



Up and over he goes, as Antioch tries to gain another first down against Palatine Friday night, but the Pirates won, 6-0, to take sole possession of second spot in Northwest conference play.

Illini-Badger Series One Of Dashed Hopes

Illinois' football rivalry with Wisconsin — homecoming opponent in Memorial Stadium here next Saturday afternoon — has been one of dashed title hopes and Rose Bowl dreams.

Last year was no exception. Coach Ivy Williamson's inspired Badgers handed Illini their only defeat of the season, 34-7, in Camp Randall Stadium. The loss knocked Illinois out of an undisputed Big Ten title, and although Coach Ray Eliot's charges shared part of the championship, the one-sided defeat by the Badgers may have been a factor which swung the RoseBowl bid to co-champion Michigan State.

ILLINOIS opened the 1953 game with a 66-yard touchdown drive that gave the false impression that another comparatively easy victory was in the offing. Wisconsin roared back with its own 66-yard scoring drive, however, then added a second touchdown to lead 14-7 at halftime. Wisconsin dominated the second half thoroughly, and poured across touchdowns in the final quarter for its one-sided victory.

That game marked the first time since 1932 that either team has been able to win two consecutive games. Through the years, the rivalry has been deadlocked numerous times, but the Wisconsin victory last season gave Badgers a two-game edge.

THE 1952 GAME reversed the trend of the preceding two seasons, which had seen Illinois and Wisconsin knock each other out of Rose Bowl contention. In 1952, the Badgers won an early-season game at Madison, and went on to a share of the conference title and a Rose Bowl bid. (Sp

Players' Demands Cut Baseball Revenues, May Cut Squads To 21

There must be a leveling off in operational costs immediately if baseball is to continue to be a prosperous business both for the owners as well as the players. That's the word from one major league club owner, in an exclusive interview with J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of The Sporting News, the national baseball weekly. This club magnate, who for obvious reasons insists on remaining anonymous, says the clubs cannot continue to make concessions financially and still maintain salaries at their present high figures.

Elaborating on this theme, the club owner warns that "if the players continue to heap one demand on top of another in their relentless dealings with the major league club owners, then they are going to price themselves right out of existence!" The Sporting News' informant says the result is going to be that the player limit eventually will be reduced.

HE DISCLOSED that a strong minority at the league meetings during the past year has agitated for a reduction of the player limit from 25 to 23. And, says the magnate, it may be whittled down even as low as 21 men, if the owners are pressed too hard financially.

Discussing the restrictions that are making operation of a big league club more difficult each year, the club owner told Spink that one of the most costly will be the curb on night games.

The informant pointed out that whether there actually will be a reduction in the number of night games on the 1955 schedule in the two leagues remains to be seen, since the final schedules have not yet been drawn.

But, he continued, this much is certain: There would be additional night contests if the players did not insist on the regulation that there can be no night games on getaway days, and also that there cannot be night games before double-headers. If it weren't for that regulation, he said, there would be a lot more Saturday night games.

NIGHT GAME restriction isn't the only revenue of which the teams are deprived, the club owner told The Sporting News publisher. "The players also have exerted pressure so that we now will not play any spring exhibitions before March 10. That may cost us quite a bit of money some years, because it means the elimination of that first week-end in March when we used to open our schedule."

The informant, summing up, says it's hard for the owners to understand why the players persist in making it difficult for the clubs by constantly cutting off some of their revenue.

Eventually, he repeats, it will force the clubs to try to get by with less players. "And don't think a big league club can't get by with only 21 men." he asserts. "That would break down to nine pitchers, two catchers, six infielders and four outfielders, or probably five infielders and five outfielders.

Card Sophs Defeated, 24-0

Arlington sophomore football squad ended the season on a 24-0 note, the wrong way, at Hinsdale Saturday afternoon with the winners scoring in the first, third and fourth quarters.

The young Devils scored the opening period on a pass from Dutkovich to Moyers, covering 86 yards. The second year Cardinals had muffed a chance just before when Dan Vittum caught a pass from Jacobsen, and lateraled to Brown on the Hinsdale 35. The ball was fumbled, though, then kicked all the way into the end zone where Moyers picked it up and ran back to the 14.

HEIGHTS CAME back with a long drive but an intercepted pass on the Hinsdale 32 stopped it just before the quarter ended. Most of the play the second quarter was in Arlington's end of the field.

A screen pass, Mathias to Deuter, for 56 yards and the TD was chalked up by Hinsdale the middle of the third period after the locals had brought the ball from the 20 to the Hinsdale 41, only to fumble.

COACH LIGON'S squad was pushed against the wall the final quarter, and had to kick. Hinsdale started from the 37 and scored in three plays, the final one a 13 yard yard run by Francis. An intercepted pass two plays later gave HT another opening with Mathias going the final three yards.

Arlington led in first downs, 8-6, and in fumbles, 4-2. The locals completed five of 12 passes, Hinsdale five of six. Three interceptions by the winners determined the game.

McAuliffe Stars As Carleton Ends Season

Dick McAuliffe, former Arlington Heights high school athlete, made a key contribution this year toward Carleton college's undefeated football season.

Tackle Dick McAuliffe, a towering 6' 5" sophomore who packs 220 pounds, is responsible for paving the way for Carleton's winning touchdown in the contest with Lawrence college. The Carls 14-7 win clinched their first Midwest conference championship in 18 seasons.

A fine downfield block by McAuliffe paved the way for an 89-yard return of the second hab kickoff, resulting in the winning touchdown. He also knocked down a Lawrence pass in the end zone.

The Northfield, Minn., champions are one of the nation's undefeated and untied football teams (8-0). Tihs is their first perfect record since 1916 and their first league title since 1935.

McAuliffe played full games in all eight contests except for a few minutes in one game due to a minor injury. He is also a member of the Carleton basketball and track squads.

A pre-season poll of the Midwest conference had rated the Carleton champs a sixth place finish in the loop.

Arlington Harriers Tie Hinsdale; End Year

Arlington Heights high school harriers tied their final meet of the season at Hinsdale Thursday, 28—all. This gave Coach Russ Attis' squad a 3-5-1 record for the year.

Once again it was the Cardinals' John Sheppard who led the locals, though this time in second place, Conference individual champ David Hohl copped first for Hinsdale, with Olcott 3rd, Holderness 4th, David 9th, Baumrucker 11th.

For Arlington it was Sheppard 2nd, Palmer 5th, Reinke 6th, Hornbostel 7th, Landmeier 8th, Garr 10th. Performance of the last five was all important to the Arlington cause as a single position change would have meant Hinsdale's meet.

JOHN SHEPPARD was elected honorary captain for the year, with just four boys winning letters at Arlington this year. Three were repeats of last season, Sheppard, Lodiegard, Reinke and Ray Hornbostel. Other was Bill Palmer, a sophomore.

Sheppard took six firsts, three seconds in the nine duals. Heights beat Riverside once, Palatine twice, the last time by one point. Included in the losses were one pointers to Downers Grove and York.

Average finish of the top four boys were Sheppard 1.3, Palmer 5.9, Reinke 8.6, and Hornbostel 9.8.

Palatine Sophomores Defeat Antioch, 14-6

Palatine frosh-sophs defeated Antioch Friday night, 14-6, for their third straight victory following three losses and a tie. The Palatine boys played their best game of the season. In the first period Eldridge got off a long run to the Antioch 28 and after a four yard gain Douglas Peterson carried the ball 24 yards for a touchdown. McClung ran over the extra point.

Antioch scored in the third period on a 38 yard run to make the score 7-6, but Palatine got another tally when Peterson plunged over from the one yard after Roger Knitter and Dave Shaw had put the ball in scoring position. Wisner got the extra point from the seven yard line on a run after Palatine had been set back five yards on the first try by an offside penalty.

Palatine frosh-sophs coached by Claude Bailey and John Ellis beat Antioch, Bensenville, and Wauconda during the past season and lost to Glenbrook and Grayslake, were tied by Grant and Ela-Vernon. They also lost to Barrington 6-0 outside the conference. (SP

Illinois' football rivalry with Wisconsin — homecoming opponent in Memorial Stadium here next Saturday afternoon — has been one of dashed title hopes and Rose Bowl dreams.

Last year was no exception. Coach Ivy Williamson's inspired Badgers handed Illini their only defeat of the season, 34-7, in Camp Randall Stadium. The loss knocked Illinois out of an undisputed Big Ten title, and although Coach Ray Eliot's charges shared part of the championship, the one-sided defeat by the Badgers may have been a factor which swung the RoseBowl bid to co-champion Michigan State.

ILLINOIS opened the 1953 game with a 66-yard touchdown drive that gave the false impression that another comparatively easy victory was in the offing. Wisconsin roared back with its own 66-yard scoring drive, however, then added a second touchdown to lead 14-7 at halftime. Wisconsin dominated the second half thoroughly, and poured across touchdowns in the final quarter for its one-sided victory.

That game marked the first time since 1932 that either team has been able to win two consecutive games. Through the years, the rivalry has been deadlocked numerous times, but the Wisconsin victory last season gave Badgers a two-game edge.

THE 1952 GAME reversed the trend of the preceding two seasons, which had seen Illinois and Wisconsin knock each other out of Rose Bowl contention. In 1952, the Badgers won an early-season game at Madison, and went on to a share of the conference title and a Rose Bowl bid. (Sp

Players' Demands Cut Baseball Revenues, May Cut Squads To 21

There must be a leveling off in operational costs immediately if baseball is to continue to be a prosperous business both for the owners as well as the players. That's the word from one major league club owner, in an exclusive interview with J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of The Sporting News, the national baseball weekly. This club magnate, who for obvious reasons insists on remaining anonymous, says the clubs cannot continue to make concessions financially and still maintain salaries at their present high figures.

Elaborating on this theme, the club owner warns that "if the players continue to heap one demand on top of another in their relentless dealings with the major league club owners, then they are going to price themselves right out of existence!" The Sporting News' informant says the result is going to be that the player limit eventually will be reduced.

HE DISCLOSED that a strong minority at the league meetings during the past year has agitated for a reduction of the player limit from 25 to 23. And, says the magnate, it may be whittled down even as low as 21 men, if the owners are pressed too hard financially.

Discussing the restrictions that are making operation of a big league club more difficult each year, the club owner told Spink that one of the most costly will be the curb on night games.

The informant pointed out that whether there actually will be a reduction in the number of night games on the 1955 schedule in the two leagues remains to be seen, since the final schedules have not yet been drawn.

But, he continued, this much is certain: There would be additional night contests if the players did not insist on the regulation that there can be no night games on getaway days, and also that there cannot be night games before double-headers. If it weren't for that regulation, he said, there would be a lot more Saturday night games.

NIGHT GAME restriction isn't the only revenue of which the teams are deprived, the club owner told The Sporting News publisher. "The players also have exerted pressure so that we now will not play any spring exhibitions before March 10. That may cost us quite a bit of money some years, because it means the elimination of that first week-end in March when we used to open our schedule."

The informant, summing up, says it's hard for the owners to understand why the players persist in making it difficult for the clubs by constantly cutting off some of their revenue.

Eventually, he repeats, it will force the clubs to try to get by with less players. "And don't think a big league club can't get by with only 21 men." he asserts. "That would break down to nine pitchers, two catchers, six infielders and four outfielders, or probably five infielders and five outfielders.

Card Sophs Defeated, 24-0

Arlington sophomore football squad ended the season on a 24-0 note, the wrong way, at Hinsdale Saturday afternoon with the winners scoring in the first, third and fourth quarters.

The young Devils scored the opening period on a pass from Dutkovich to Moyers, covering 86 yards. The second year Cardinals had muffed a chance just before when Dan Vittum caught a pass from Jacobsen, and lateraled to Brown on the Hinsdale 35. The ball was fumbled, though, then kicked all the way into the end zone where Moyers picked it up and ran back to the 14.

HEIGHTS CAME back with a long drive but an intercepted pass on the Hinsdale 32 stopped it just before the quarter ended. Most of the play the second quarter was in Arlington's end of the field.

A screen pass, Mathias to Deuter, for 56 yards and the TD was chalked up by Hinsdale the middle of the third period after the locals had brought the ball from the 20 to the Hinsdale 41, only to fumble.

COACH LIGON'S squad was pushed against the wall the final quarter, and had to kick. Hinsdale started from the 37 and scored in three plays, the final one a 13 yard yard run by Francis. An intercepted pass two plays later gave HT another opening with Mathias going the final three yards.

Arlington led in first downs, 8-6, and in fumbles, 4-2. The locals completed five of 12 passes, Hinsdale five of six. Three interceptions by the winners determined the game.

Here's Scouting

With Explorer Scout Bill Hogate

Explorer Scouts To Trip The Light Fantastic

All of the Explorer Scouts in the Northwest Suburban Council, we hope, will escort their dates, November 26, at 8 p.m. to the Crystal Ball. A terrific band will be on hand to beat out the rhythm for these fast steppers. Explorer's partners are advised by the Here's Scouting "Technical Staff" to wear steel toed pumps so as not to acquire injuries as a result of the enthusiastic tempo of the Emplorer's feet. All joking aside, games of fun, dancing and an evening of enjoyment is in store for each and every Explorer and his partner who attend this "Crystal Ball." Tickets for this event will be on sale for $2 per couple as soon as the place of the ball has been selected. Further news of this event will appear in this column at a later date.

Mount Prospect Troop On Over Night

This column was informed that Troop 23 of Mount Prospect held an over-night last Saturday in Deer Grove. We are anxious to get first hand the details of this late fall camp out.

New Troop Officers

Scout Cabin

This reporter felt that it might be of interest to the scouts in this area to know that the Prospect Heights improvement association sponsored, in 1943 the erection of a scout cabin to be used by the Boy and Explorer Scouts in Prospect Heights. This cabin was built of logs and is thirty feet by fifty feet in size. It is located on Palatine road one-fourth mile west of Elmhurst road on one hundred by three hundred feet of land adjacent to McDonald Creek. Explorers recently constructed a rustic bridge spanning McDonald Creek and completed other projects for the improvement of this camp site.

Every Tuesday night at seven-thirty the Boy and Explorer Scouts of Troop 36 and Post 136 gather around the hearth in the cabin and conduct their meetings. In the estimation of the troop officials this project would prove worth while to other troops as it not only provides a meeting place for the troop but also offers an excellent camping site at all times.

This column was informed that Troop 23 of Mount Prospect held an over-night last Saturday in Deer Grove. We are anxious to get first hand the details of this late fall camp out.

New Troop Officers

Scout Cabin

This reporter felt that it might be of interest to the scouts in this area to know that the Prospect Heights improvement association sponsored, in 1943 the erection of a scout cabin to be used by the Boy and Explorer Scouts in Prospect Heights. This cabin was built of logs and is thirty feet by fifty feet in size. It is located on Palatine road one-fourth mile west of Elmhurst road on one hundred by three hundred feet of land adjacent to McDonald Creek. Explorers recently constructed a rustic bridge spanning McDonald Creek and completed other projects for the improvement of this camp site.

Every Tuesday night at seven-thirty the Boy and Explorer Scouts of Troop 36 and Post 136 gather around the hearth in the cabin and conduct their meetings In the estimation of the troop officials this project would prove worth while to other troops as it not only provides a meeting place for the troop but also offers an excellent camping site at all times.

Facts are more powerful than arguments.
—Thomas Paine

A little fact is worth a whole limbo of dreams.
—Ralph Waldo Emerson

I cannot accept hearsay, and would need to know the circumstances and facts reguarding both sides of the subject, to form a proper judgment.
—Mary Baker Eddy

Anyone is entitled to an opinion, but no one has a right to be wrong in relation to the facts.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Facts are more powerful than arguments.

—Thomas Paine

A little fact is worth a whole limbo of dreams.

Phyllis Engelking Weds Robert Thompson

White gladioli decorated the altar of Faith Lutheran church for the marriage October 16 of Miss Phyllis Mae Engelking, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Engelking, S. Dunton ave., Arlington Heights, to Robert W. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Thompson of Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Rev. Edgar Behrens officiated at the 7:30 o'clock candlelight ceremony. Mrs. Ruth Kirchhoff, soloist, sang "Oh Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Entering the church with her father, the bride wore a white silk taffeta gown fashioned princess style and trimmed with chantilly lace at the neckline. She wore a finger tip veil and carried a white orchid with white mums.

Miss Hazel Fricke served as the bride's maid of honor and Miss Constance Engelking, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid. Miss Fricke's gown was of emerald green shantung fashioned gallerina length with a lace bodice. Miss Engelking's gown was of gold, fashioned identically to the maid of honor's gown. Both attendants carried bronze mums.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Engelking wore a pink nylon lace dress with black velvet accessories while the groom's mother wore a turquoise blue taffeta dress. Both mothers wore glamellia corsages.

Charles Thompson, brother of the groom from Crestline, Ohio, served as best man and the bride's brother, Lawrence Engelking, served as usher.

Arlington Heights American Legion hall was the scene of the reception. Held immediately after the double ring ceremony, 140 guests were in attendance.

Mr. Thompson and his bride are now at home in their Elmhurst apartment following a wedding trip to Florida and the Smoky mountains.

Sisters Wed Navy Men In Double Ceremony

A double wedding climaxed the courtship of two Fort Pierce, Fla., sisters and two Navy men serving aboard the USS Shannon, whose home port is Charleston, S.C.

The brides were Shirley Janice and Elsie Marie Albritton, daughters of the E. E. Albrittons, and their bridegrooms were Ralph Meyer of Palatine and Bob Stratton of Lovenia, Mich.

The wedding took place September 21 in the Albritton home and marked the birthday anniversary of Mr. Albritton who gave his daughters in marriage.

The marriage was solemnized by the Rev. Dottson Mills, pastor of First Baptist Church of Fort Pierce in the presence of relatives and close friends.

The brides wore identical frocks of bridal satin, lace and net made with lace bodices and jackets and full net ballerina skirts.

Sweetheart roses, tube roses and carnations were in their corsages and hair ornaments.

White carnations and gladioli with palms were used to form the nuptial setting.

For the reception that followed, there was a large, tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple.

The couples' honeymoon trip was back to Charleston, S.C. stopping at places of interest along the way.

Among the guests at the wedding were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Meyer Sr. and his sister, Miss Dorothy Meyer of Palatine, his grandmother, Mrs. A. Kalkbrenner, and his uncle the Rev. Hans Kalkbrenner of Carpentersville, Ill.

Joseph P. Krieter Takes Dolores Olson As Bride

St. Mary's Catholic church in Buffalo Grove was the setting for a double ring ceremony October 16 during which Joseph P. Krieter Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kreiter Sr., Wheeling, took Miss Dolores Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Olson, Chicago, as his bride.

Father Ballweber officiated at the three o'clock nuptials during which Mr. Olson gave his daughter in marriage.

For her marriage, the bride chose a ballerina length gown of French imported lace fashioned semi-princess style with full skirt. Her elbow-length veil was held in place with a crown of matching French lace set with pearls. White spoon mums edging a white orchid made up her bridal bouquet.

Miss Helen-Joyce Olson served as her sister's only attendant wearing a street-length gown of turquoise green crystalette. Her bouquet was of bronze mums and she wore a headpiece of the same flowers.

Cecil Carder of Norwood Park served as the groom's attendant.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Wheeling home of the groom's aunt, Mrs. Frances Meyer. The bride's mother received the 100 guests wearing a deep pink crystalette dress with black velvet accessories. The groom's mother wore an off-white faille coat dress with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of rubrum lilies.

After a week's honeymoon in the Smoky mountains, Mrs. Krieter and his bride are residing in Wheeling. The groom is employed by the Sievert corporation in Chicago.

News of Rolling Meadows

HELENE BRISTOL, Editor 2104 South Street CLearbrook 3-8125

Cub Scouts

At last Rolling Meadows can boast of a fully organized Cub Pack. Leif Maseng, 2604 George st., has accepted the appointment as cubmaster, a position for which he is extremely well qualified. Mr Maseng, who originally hails from the Northwest suburban area, lived for a number of years in Louisville, Ky., where he actively engaged in Cub Scout work. Mr Maseng's active co-workers in the Rolling Meadows Cub Scout Pack are enthusiastic about the progress possible with Mr. Maseng at the helm. The other active Cub Scout workers here in Rolling Meadows are Bill Croutch, 2205 Bluebird lane, pack committee chairman, J. G. Walker . 2310 Sigwalt st., institutional representative; Clifford Kierstead, 2312 Eastman st., advancement man; Charles Brown, 2301 Bluebird lane, secretary-treasurer; and Jim Borel 2610 South st., activities man. The Den mothers and assistant Den mothers are Myrla Garrity, Eleanor Keller, Laverne Sladek, Dorothea Griesman, Grace Martin, Elaine Grunwald and Audrey Krause. Because of the rapid growth there are now three active Dens in the Pack and it is felt that a fourth Den will have to be organized in the very near future The Cub Scout group has set two tentative meetings for their group. The first, a meeting for all Den mothers and committeemen, will be held November 15. A tentative pack meeting for all Cub Scouts as well as adult supervisors has been tentatively scheduled for November 22. This will be the first official "Pack Meeting" and both the boys and the adults are anxiously looking forward to it.,

Hello World!

Mr. and Mrs. Don Paulson, 2703 Dove st., are the proud parents of their first son, Gary David, who was born October 23. Little Gary weighed in at 6 pounds ½ ounce. Gary's sister, Doris, could hardly wait until he arrived from the hospital.

Another new Rolling Meadowite to join our community is little Penny May Bremer who arrived October 28. Penny May's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bremer were one of the "pioneer" families to move to Rolling Meadows. Their home at 2603 Wilke rd. next to the service office was one of the first to be occupied. Now the Bremer family is "pioneering" in a little different way, to the delight of little Chuckie Bremer who is just two years old. The Bremer family with their new addition, Penny May are temporarily staying in Chicago with Mrs. Bremer's parents, but they should be back to their Rolling Meadows homestead very soon.

Bridge Club

The first session of the Rolling Meadows Bridge club has been tentatively planned for Saturday November 20. Bridge players to join the group are still very welcome, and Gene Farrell, the promoter and guiding light of the club, would be very glad to talk to any prospective members. Gene's telephone number is Clearbrook 3-7558

Visiting

Bill and Dorothy Dow of 2304 Sigwalt st., spent a too-brief weekend visit in Grand Rapids, Michigan, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dow and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Geegh. Since Grand Rapids is their "home town" you can be sure Bill and Dorothy had a grand time during their short visit. In the beautiful "Injun Summer" weather of last weekend it seemed like everyone was busy raking leaves and burning them — to the great envy of typical treeless Rolling Meadowite Bill. Bill admits he was not envying his Grand Rapids friends their work — just their trees! The Dow family brought a distinguished visitor to Rolling Meadows on their return. Dorothy's aunt, Miss Mary Geegh of Holland, Michigan, is temporarily back in the States enjoying a leave from her missionary work in Chitoor, South India. Because of the tremendous distance involved, Miss Geegh does not return to the States very often, and this is the first time Dorothy has seen her aunt since her marriage. Miss Geegh, who is a missionary of the Reformed church, will be returning to her work in Chitoor very soon, and Dorothy and Bill were happy that they could entertain her in their new home in Rolling Meadows for even a short visit.

Junior Woman's Club

The second meeting of the newly —organized Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's club was held Monday, at the home of Mrs. Marge Schmidt, 2900 Dove st. There was an excellent turnout of the young women of Rolling Meadows and a great deal of progress was made in the organization of the club. Among those present were Alice Farrell, Rose Roesler, Sue Schultz, Muriel Schrock, Marguerite Rypkema, Jean Ehard, Marge Schmidt, Donna Anderson, Martha Jordan, Helen Burlette, Rene Jaremus, Charlotte Hietbrink, Emma Macior, Ginger Groves, Anna Traub, Elva Rumrey and Jackie Grady. Also present to assist in the organization of the group were Mrs. Mary Beattie of the Des Plaines Junior Woman's club and Mrs. Ruth Kirchhoff of the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club. In addition to the temporary officers which were previously listed in the column, several new officers and chairmen were elected. They are Rene Jaremus, first vice president; Charlotte Hietbrink, second vice president and membership committee chairman; Marge Schmidt, program chairman, Muriel Schrock, treasurer; and Jackie Grady, philanthropic chairman. The successful meeting was climaxed by the excellent refreshments provided by Mrs. Schmidt, topping what those in attendance agreed was a "perfectly wonderful evening."

Birthday Celebration

A special birthday celebration, particularly for Rolling Meadows, was held October 31 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Garns. The important occasion was the 75th birthday of Mrs. Svea Garns' mother, Mrs. Elvira Carlson. Mrs Carlson, who is making her home with her daughter and son-in-law at 2304 Meadow drive, was also honored at the worship service of the Rolling Meadows Community church that Sunday morning. She was presented with a corsage during the service, congratulated on the happy event, and those present were reminded of the many, many things we can learn to great advantage from the more-mature people in our community.

Card Club

The first meeting of the most newly-organized Rolling Meadows card club was held last Monday at the home of Mrs. Dolores Szurec, 2504 Fremont st. No cards were played at this first more-or-less organizational meeting, but the women did have a wonderful time getting acquainted. Those present weer Harriet Richard, 2207 Wren lane, Mary Ellis, 2205 Wren lane; Millie Braiske. 2310 Fremont st.; Wanda Coffaro. 2505 Fremont st.; and Dolores Sander, 2704 Oriole lane. Two other members of the club who were unable to attend the meeting are Shirley Kellerman, 2307 Bluebird lane and Shirley Cook of 2309 Bluebird lane. Following their "get-together" the women were served coffee and cake by Mrs. Szwiec. The next meeting has been planned for a real "card session" and the girls are eagerly looking forward to getting started

Church Luncheon

Can you imagine holding a formal luncheon in your home for 32 people? This is just the gigantic undertaking which Mrs. Dorothea Griesman tackled last Wednesday. November 3. The luncheon which was held for the benefit of the Community church organ moving fund was a financial success, and the organ moving fund was enriched by $50. Adding to the success of the luncheon were several gifts donated by the generous merchants of Arlington Heights. Among the many merchants who donated prizes and supplies for the luncheon were Bowen's Gift Shop, the Arlington Beauty Service, James Bell (All-Brite representative for Rolling Meadows), Sauerland's Florist, The Cake Box, Borden's Milk Company, Eureka, Hedlin's Dairy and the A&P Food Store of Arlington Heights. Assisting Mrs Griesman in the tremendous undertaking were Edith Paeglow, Myrla Garrity, and Betty Maseng, not to mention Dorothea Griesman's very patient and hard-working husband, Fred. Mrs. Griesman also claims the luncheon would have been an absolute impossibility without the assistance of her good neighbors who generously donated extra tables, chairs, silver, dishes, not to mention stove and refrigerator service.

Baby Sitting

Last week I really tampered with a literary hornets' nest! The babysitting problem in Rolling Meadows, as you can well imagine by our child population, is a very great one, and since all of us are new in the community established "sitters" are hard to locate, although we are definitely convinced they are there! Mrs. Nadine Cranmer of St. James st., who was looking for a sitter for her childrun, was successful in finding someone and had many, many other offers. Since this "Baby Sitting" is mainly a problem of finding someone suitable just when you happen to need one, I'd like to tell you about one of the suggestions I received on it. Mrs. Marjory Hansen of 2317 Bluebird lane has suggested the establishment of a "Baby Sitters Registry" working on the order of a Nurse Registry which is used by hospitals and doctors when they need extra-duty nurses. Mrs. Hansen, who is a registered nurse herself, operated a Nurses Registry for some time in Chicago, and is obviously well-qualified to initiate a "Sitters Registry" in Rolling Meadows. Women who are interested in "sitting" could register with Mrs. Hansen, stating the times they would be available and then Rolling Meadowites who found themselves in need of a sitter's services could contact Mrs. Hansen who would refer them to a suitable person to care for their child. If you are interested in any way — either as a sitter or as a sitter employer — why not give Mrs. Hansen a call on the telephone? The plan is still in the "idea" stage, but it certainly should be a service the community can use. Mrs. Hansen would like to have opinions on the idea, and certainly would like to have some of you Rolling Meadow women who are interested in occasional or frequent child care contact her. Her telephone number is Clearbrook 5-0854.

Home Parties

A "Christmas Shopping Party" was recently held in the home of Mrs. Ed Preston at 2404 Sigwalt st. Shopping being the delight it is to women. the 23 ladies present spent an enjoyable evening. Climaxing the evening Mrs. Preston provided refreshments, for her guests, whose best accomplishment was the avoidance of those Christmas shopping crowds.

Mrs. Shirley Roeing of 2300 Campbell st., was also the hostess at a home demonstration party last Wednesday, November 3. This was a real Rolling Meadows affair since the demonstrator was Mrs. Dolores Szwiec of Fremont st. Among those present were Mrs. Doris Tatar of Campbell st., Mrs. Mary Carrozza of Dove st., Mrs. Helene Bristol of South st., Mrs. Shirley Knudsen of Campbell st., and Mrs. Sven Roeing, Mrs. Virginia Stone and Mrs. Rose Roeing all of Chicago. Cake and coffee were served by Shirley following the showing of the plastics.

Halloween Party

Overlooked in the many children's Halloween parties which we reported last week was the special party given October 28 by Rita Robbins of 2602 Campbell st. Several children from Campbell st. and Meadow dr. were in attendance having a good time. Among those present were Donna Hornoff, Linda Heller. Susan Marcruz, Linda and Roxy Jesperson, Sandy and John Person Bobby and Tommy Bartels, Judy and Jerry Jensen Many games were played for the children's entertainment, and appropriate Halloween refreshments, topped by hot chocolate, were served.

Birthday Celebrations

Evelyn Launhart of 2403 Meadow drive, who still finds time for her family in spite of her duties as recording secretary of the Home Owners' association and acting secretary of the Junior Woman's club, surprised her husband, Arnold, with a surprise birthday party last Saturday. Arnold Launhart, who is fortunate enough to still be able to admit his age, which is only 26, was properly congratulated on the happy event by the six couples in attendance.

October 26 was the date of the seventh birthday celebration of Linda Jesperson of Meadow drive. On hand to help Linda celebrate the important event were Judy and Jerry Jenson, Carol Sorenson and John and Sandy Person. Those important birthday games and refreshments were the highlights of the celebration.

Boy Scouts

The Boy Scouts of the Panther Patrol of Rolling Meadows, and their adult supervisors, want to thank everyone who participated in the paper drive held last Saturday, November 6. Special thanks should go to Kimball Hill, who loaned the boys a truck to assist them with their colections. Sometimes it doesn't take much effort to help a worthy cause, and this was one of those times. You can be sure that the boys appreciate all of the donations and the wonderful cooperation they received from you Rolling Meadows residents.

Party

A special "Hard Times Party" was held by Peggy and Art Bartels of 2407 Meadow drive October 30. An enthusiastic crowd of about 25 people attended the affair, and a wonderful time was had. One of the "hardest times" of the party was the housecleaning task which faced Mrs. Bartels following the party, but she says it was worth all the work.

Election Results

Since the voting turnout was so tremendous, I thought the individual returns from the precinct in which Rolling Meadows is located would be interesting to you. The percentage of registered voters who participated in the election was extremely high, and set a record of which Rolling Meadows can well be proud. There are 1,179 registered voters in the precinct of which 730 live in Rolling Meadows. There were 280 voters from outside Rolling Meadows who cast their ballots and 614 voters from Rolling Meadows. That is a voting percentage of approximately 84 per cent for Rolling Meadows — a very good record, indeed. There were 242 straight Democratic ballots cast and 302 straight Republican ballots, and 336 split tickets. The final results in the race for the U. S. Senate were Meek 506 and Douglas 379. Before any conclusions are jumped at from these figures, however, a comment should be made. This precinct formerly was heavily Republican, and if we can assume the greater percentage of vote from outside Rolling Meadows to be Republican, it would make our community pretty close to "50-50" as far as political parties are concerned. That certainly would make us pretty well-balanced politics-wise, and certainly is an interesting result of our first "big" election in which Rolling Meadowites participated.

Sixth grade students of Rolling Meadows moved into their own school Tuesday afternoon. They had previously attended the Oak Street school in Palatine. Additional school rooms will be ready for occupancy within ten days.

News of Rolling Meadows

HELENE BRISTOL, Editor 2104 South Street CLearbrook 3-8125

Cub Scouts

At last Rolling Meadows can boast of a fully organized Cub Pack. Leif Maseng, 2604 George st., has accepted the appointment as cubmaster, a position for which he is extremely well qualified. Mr Maseng, who originally hails from the Northwest suburban area, lived for a number of years in Louisville, Ky., where he actively engaged in Cub Scout work. Mr Maseng's active co-workers in the Rolling Meadows Cub Scout Pack are enthusiastic about the progress possible with Mr. Maseng at the helm. The other active Cub Scout workers here in Rolling Meadows are Bill Croutch, 2205 Bluebird lane, pack committee chairman, J. G. Walker, 2310 Sigwalt st., institutional representative; Clifford Kierstead, 2312 Eastman st., advancement man; Charles Brown, 2301 Bluebird lane, secretary-treasurer; and Jim Borel 2610 South st., activities man. The Den mothers and assistant Den mothers are Myrla Garrity, Eleanor Keller, Laverne Sladek, Dorothea Griesman, Grace Martin, Elaine Grunwald and Audrey Krause. Because of the rapid growth there are now three active Dens in the Pack and it is felt that a fourth Den will have to be organized in the very near future The Cub Scout group has set two tentative meetings for their group. The first, a meeting for all Den mothers and committeemen, will be held November 15. A tentative pack meeting for all Cub Scouts as well as adult supervisors has been tentatively scheduled for November 22. This will be the first official "Pack Meeting" and both the boys and the adults are anxiously looking forward to it..

Hello World!

Mr. and Mrs. Don Paulson, 2703 Dove st., are the proud parents of their first son, Gary David, who was born October 23. Little Gary weighed in at 6 pounds ½ ounce. Gary's sister, Doris, could hardly wait until he arrived from the hospital.

Another new Rolling Meadowite to join our community is little Penny May Bremer who arrived October 28. Penny May's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bremer were one of the "pioneer" families to move to Rolling Meadows. Their home at 2603 Wilke rd. next to the service office was one of the first to be occupied. Now the Bremer family is "pioneering" in a little different way, to the delight of little Chuckie Bremer who is just two years old. The Bremer family with their new addition, Penny May are temporarily staying in Chicago with Mrs. Bremer's parents, but they should be back to their Rolling Meadows homestead very soon.

Bridge Club

The first session of the Rolling Meadows Bridge club has been tentatively planned for Saturday November 20. Bridge players to join the group are still very welcome, and Gene Farrell, the promoter and guiding light of the club, would be very glad to talk to any prospective members. Gene's telephone number is Clearbrook 3-7558

Visiting

Bill and Dorothy Dow of 2304 Sigwalt st., spent a too-brief weekend visit in Grand Rapids, Michigan, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dow and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Geegh. Since Grand Rapids is their "home town" you can be sure Bill and Dorothy had a grand time during their short visit. In the beautiful "Injun Summer" weather of last weekend it seemed like everyone was busy raking leaves and burning them — to the great envy of typical treeless Rolling Meadowite Bill. Bill admits he was not envying his Grand Rapids friends their work — just their trees! The Dow family brought a distinguished visitor to Rolling Meadows on their return. Dorothy's aunt, Miss Mary Geegh of Holland, Michigan, is temporarily back in the States enjoying a leave from her missionary work in Chitoor, South India. Because of the tremendous distance involved, Miss Geegh does not return to the States very often, and this is the first time Dorothy has seen her aunt since her marriage. Miss Geegh, who is a missionary of the Reformed church, will be returning to her work in Chitoor very soon, and Dorothy and Bill were happy that they could entertain her in their new home in Rolling Meadows for even a short visit.

Junior Woman's Club

The second meeting of the newly—organized Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's club was held Monday, at the home of Mrs. Marge Schmidt, 2900 Dove st. There was an excellent turnout of the young women of Rolling Meadows and a great deal of progress was made in the organization of the club. Among those present were Alice Farrell, Rose Roesler, Sue Schultz, Muriel Schrock, Marguerite Rypkema, Jean Ehard, Marge Schmidt, Donna Anderson, Martha Jordan, Helen Burlette, Rene Jaremus, Charlotte Hietbrink, Emma Macior, Ginger Groves, Anna Traub, Elva Rumrey and Jackie Grady. Also present to assist in the organization of the group were Mrs. Mary Beattie of the Des Plaines Junior Woman's club and Mrs. Ruth Kirchhoff of the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club. In addition to the temporary officers which were previously listed in the column, several new officers and chairmen were elected. They are Rene Jaremus, first vice president; Charlotte Hietbrink, second vice president and membership committee chairman; Marge Schmidt, program chairman, Muriel Schrock, treasurer; and Jackie Grady, philanthropic chairman. The successful meeting was climaxed by the excellent refreshments provided by Mrs. Schmidt, topping what those in attendance agreed was a "perfectly wonderful evening."

Birthday Celebration

A special birthday celebration, particularly for Rolling Meadows, was held October 31 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Garns. The important occasion was the 75th birthday of Mrs. Svea Garns' mother, Mrs. Elvira Carlson. Mrs Carlson, who is making her home with her daughter and son-in-law at 2304 Meadow drive, was also honored at the worship service of the Rolling Meadows Community church that Sunday morning. She was presented with a corsage during the service, congratulated on the happy event, and those present were reminded of the many, many things we can learn to great advantage from the more-mature people in our community.

Card Club

The first meeting of the most newly-organized Rolling Meadows card club was held last Monday at the home of Mrs. Dolores Szurec, 2504 Fremont st. No cards were played at this first more-or-less organizational meeting, but the women did have a wonderful time getting acquainted. Those present weer Harriet Richard, 2207 Wren lane, Mary Ellis, 2205 Wren lane; Millie Braiske, 2310 Fremont st.; Wanda Coffaro, 2505 Fremont st.; and Dolores Sander, 2704 Oriole lane. Two other members of the club who were unable to attend the meeting are Shirley Kellerman, 2307 Bluebird lane and Shirley Cook of 2309 Bluebird lane. Following their "get-together" the women were served coffee and cake by Mrs. Szwiec. The next meeting has been planned for a real "card session" and the girls are eagerly looking forward to getting started

Church Luncheon

Can you imagine holding a formal luncheon in your home for 32 people? This is just the gigantic undertaking which Mrs. Dorothea Griesman tackled last Wednesday, November 3. The luncheon which was held for the benefit of the Community church organ moving fund was a financial success, and the organ moving fund was enriched by $50. Adding to the success of the luncheon were several gifts donated by the generous merchants of Arlington Heights. Among the many merchants who donated prizes and supplies for the luncheon were Bowen's Gift Shop, the Arlington Beauty Service, James Bell (All-Brite representative for Rolling Meadows), Sauerland's Florist, The Cake Box, Borden's Milk Company, Eureka, Hedlin's Dairy and the A&P Food Store of Arlington Heights. Assisting Mrs Griesman in the tremendous undertaking were Edith Paeglow, Myrla Garrity, and Betty Maseng, not to mention Dorothea Griesman's very patient and hard-working husband, Fred. Mrs. Griesman also claims the luncheon would have been an absolute impossibility without the assistance of her good neighbors who generously donated extra tables, chairs, silver, dishes, not to mention stove and refrigerator service.

Baby Sitting

Last week I really tampered with a literary hornets' nest! The baby-sitting problem in Rolling Meadows, as you can well imagine by our child population, is a very great one, and since all of us are new in the community established "sitters" are hard to locate, although we are definitely convinced they are there! Mrs. Nadine Cranmer of St. James st., who was looking for a sitter for her child-run, was successful in finding someone and had many, many other offers. Since this "Baby Sitting" is mainly a problem of finding someone suitable just when you happen to need one, I'd like to tell you about one of the suggestions I received on it. Mrs. Marjory Hansen of 2317 Bluebird lane has suggested the establishment of a "Baby Sitters Registry" working on the order of a Nurse Registry which is used by hospitals and doctors when they need extra-duty nurses. Mrs. Hansen, who is a registered nurse herself, operated a Nurses Registry for some time in Chicago, and is obviously well-qualified to initiate a "Sitters Registry" in Rolling Meadows. Women who are interested in "sitting" could register with Mrs. Hansen, stating the times they would be available and then Rolling Meadowites who found themselves in need of a sitter's services could contact Mrs. Hansen who would refer them to a suitable person to care for their child. If you are interested in any way — either as a sitter or as a sitter employer — why not give Mrs. Hansen a call on the telephone? The plan is still in the "idea" stage, but it certainly should be a service the community can use. Mrs. Hansen would like to have opinions on the idea, and certainly would like to have some of you Rolling Meadow women who are interested in occasional or frequent child care contact her. Her telephone number is Clearbrook 5-0854.

Home Parties

A "Christmas Shopping Party" was recently held in the home of Mrs. Ed Preston at 2404 Sigwalt st. Shopping being the delight it is to women, the 23 ladies present spent an enjoyable evening. Climaxing the evening Mrs. Preston provided refreshments, for her guests, whose best accomplishment was the avoidance of those Christmas shopping crowds.

Mrs. Shirley Roeing of 2300 Campbell st., was also the hostess at a home demonstration party last Wednesday, November 3. This was a real Rolling Meadows affair since the demonstrator was Mrs. Dolores Szwiec of Fremont st. Among those present were Mrs. Doris Tatar of Campbell st., Mrs. Mary Carrozza of Dove st., Mrs. Helene Bristol of South st., Mrs. Shirley Knudsen of Campbell st., and Mrs. Sven Roeing, Mrs. Virginia Stone and Mrs. Rose Roeing all of Chicago. Cake and coffee were served by Shirley following the showing of the plastics.

Halloween Party

Overlooked in the many children's Halloween parties which we reported last week was the special party given October 28 by Rita Robbins of 2602 Campbell st. Several children from Campbell st. and Meadow dr. were in attendance having a good time. Among those present were Donna Hornoff, Linda Heller. Susan Marcruz, Linda and Roxy Jesperson, Sandy and John Person Bobby and Tommy Bartels, Judy and Jerry Jensen Many games were played for the children's entertainment, and appropriate Halloween refreshments, topped by hot chocolate, were served.

Birthday Celebrations

Evelyn Launhart of 2403 Meadow drive, who still finds time for her family in spite of her duties as recording secretary of the Home Owners' association and acting secretary of the Junior Woman's club, surprised her husband, Arnold, with a surprise birthday party last Saturday. Arnold Launhart, who is fortunate enough to still be able to admit his age, which is only 26, was properly congratulated on the happy event by the six couples in attendance.

October 26 was the date of the seventh birthday celebration of Linda Jesperson of Meadow drive. On hand to help Linda celebrate the important event were Judy and Jerry Jenson, Carol Sorenson and John and Sandy Person. Those important birthday games and refreshments were the highlights of the celebration.

Boy Scouts

The Boy Scouts of the Panther Patrol of Rolling Meadows, and their adult supervisors, want to thank everyone who participated in the paper drive held last Saturday, November 6. Special thanks should go to Kimball Hill, who loaned the boys a truck to assist them with their colections. Sometimes it doesn't take much effort to help a worthy cause, and this was one of those times. You can be sure that the boys appreciate all of the donations and the wonderful cooperation they received from you Rolling Meadows residents.

Party

A special "Hard Times Party" was held by Peggy and Art Bartels of 2407 Meadow drive October 30. An enthusiastic crowd of about 25 people attended the affair, and a wonderful time was had. One of the "hardest times" of the party was the housecleaning task which faced Mrs. Bartels following the party, but she says it was worth all the work.

Election Results

Since the voting turnout was so tremendous, I thought the individual returns from the precinct in which Rolling Meadows is located would be interesting to you. The percentage of registered voters who participated in the election was extremely high, and set a record of which Rolling Meadows can well be proud. There are 1,179 registered voters in the precinct of which 730 live in Rolling Meadows. There were 280 voters from outside Rolling Meadows who cast their ballots and 614 voters from Rolling Meadows. That is a voting percentage of approximately 84 per cent for Rolling Meadows — a very good record, indeed. There were 242 straight Democratic ballots cast and 302 straight Republican ballots, and 336 split tickets. The final results in the race for the U. S. Senate were Meek 506 and Douglas 379. Before any conclusions are jumped at from these figures, however, a comment should be made. This precinct formerly was heavily Republican, and if we can assume the greater percentage of vote from outside Rolling Meadows to be Republican, it would make our community pretty close to "50-50" as far as political parties are concerned. That certainly would make us pretty well-balanced politics-wise, and certainly is an interesting result of our first "big" election in which Rolling Meadowites participated.

Sixth grade students of Rolling Meadows moved into their own school Tuesday afternoon. They had previously attended the Oak Street school in Palatine. Additional school rooms will be ready for occupancy within ten days. —Staff Photo

Scouts

Intermediate Troop 233 had a candlelighting ceremony last Thursday when two new scouts were invested—Sylvia Durso and Barbara Levine. The new scouts lit the big red candles while they were saying the promise, and then the other scouts each repeated a law as she lit a white candle. After Mrs. Broberg pinned the two new scouts, each member of the troop received the cardinal crest, now the official crest of Troop 233.

Troop committee of the Brownie Troop 231 had a meeting last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Mae Schmitz. Tentative programs for meetings up until January 18 were discussed and decided upon.

Forest River Church

Replete with good food and good fellowship, lulled by the beautiful music furnished by Arthur Siegfort Jr., on his trombone, Edward Jordan, director of music at Gospel Tabernacle, who sang, and Kurt Kayser, who is pianist at "Youth for Christ," the guests at the banquet last Thursday came sharply to attention when Pastor Wally White gave his talk on "But Are You Ready?" The anecdotes he used to point up his text had his audience laughing heartily but were apt enough that they did not detract from the seriousness of the message.

Grace was said by Pastor Bob Swanson. The Rev. Clara Pierson thanked the various committees for their splendid work in making this banquet such a success. "Red" Bischof (whose Ruth was chairman of the decorating committee) thanked Jeanne Kramer, Lola Roos, Betty Shimmin, Estelle Grenda, and the many others who helped them.

"In fact," he said, "no one came up with a 'no' when asked for help or suggestions." The centerpieces on the tables were silver replicas of the church, set on a green lawn—the place cards were "boards," each containing a chuckle — and the candy cups were disguised as hymn books. Mrs. Jeanne Kramer displayed an unsuspected artistic bent in the four huge posters showing the progress of the church — first a vacant lot — second, the church itself — third, the church with the addition now being built — and finally the church and a gymnasium, the dream for the future.

Bob Roos was the master of ceremonies and led the guests in a "Happy Birthday" song for Fred Kramer. Bob also came out winner in a literal demonstration of "plate versus plates."

The waiters, who did such a fine job, were all members of the Christian Service Brigade. They were Robert Levine, Philip Roos, John Hanson, Robert Martens, Bud Meyers, George Grenda and Anthony Lopez.

The weather was perfect last Saturday for that long-awaited Rally day at Wheaton. Rev. Clara Pierson, Miss Ruth Pierson, Mrs. Anne Culp, "Red" Bischof, Bernard Shimmin and John Hanson all drove cars filled to capacity. They arrived in Wheaton about 10 a.m., and attended the rally in the morning. Jack Hamilton was the main speaker. After lunch some of them did a little sightseeing before the start of the football game, but they all enjoyed the game between Wheaton and Valpo.

Boys of the Christian Service Brigade and Stockade Battalions of the Forest River church are celebrating National Brigade week by taking part in the Sunday evening service at the church November 14, at which time the new 1954-55 charter will be presented along with the new membership cards for each club member for the coming year. Brigadiers who will receive special awards that evening are Philip Roos, Robert Levine, Robert Martens and John Hanson. Stockaders who will receive special awards are Michael Lipnisky, Robert Broberg and Larry Bischof, and the yearly awards will also be given out. Emert Roos is Captain of Brigade Battalion B170, assisted by Lt. Dick Roos. The Stockaders are led by Bernard Shimmin, assisted by John Hanson, Robert Martens and Robert Levine. Boys Work committee is led by Bernard Shimmin, with Dick Roos, Emert Roos and Gale Best sharinb in the work of the committee.

Several thousand boys across the nation enjoy the meetings of this national boys club program each week. They have an opportunity for craft work, recreation and training and instruction based on the Bible. The leaders are supplied with program helps and materials from the C. S. Brigade headquarters in Chicago. All boys 12 to 18 are given a special invitation to attend the regular meetings of Brigade Battalion 170 on Monday evenings at 7:00 p.m. each week at the church. Stockaders meet on Wednesday evenings at 7:00 p.m., and all boys, 8 to 11, are invited to these meetings.

Prospect Meadows

A Tree Grows In—Our Park

And many more will be planted before the snow flies. People are certainly nice! Mr. Phillips of Prospect Heights offered the Meadows a number of trees and bushes for our park, so Jim Wilson, Don Finch, Ray Doyle, Moore Peregrine, Clarence Schons and Jack Pelletier were busy again this weekend digging and planting them. There are plenty more available, but the necessary manpower is short. Anyone who has a few hours to spare on a Saturday or Sunday is asked to call Don Finch or Jack Pelletier.

Scout News

Mrs. DePasquale of Wedgewood Terrace has completed her instruction course and is now acting co-leader of the new brownie troop.

Feehanville School

PTA

N. K. Laird, DDS, of Des Plaines, will be the guest speaker at the November meeting of the Feehanville PTA Tuesday.

Executive meeting was held last week Monday at the school house with Mrs. Alma Mueller serving refreshments. In the future these meetings will be held on the second Monday of the month.

Mrs. Dorothy Karnuth, Health chairman, reports the vision testing program is completed. Ladies who alternated in serving on her committee were Mrs. Sue Henk, Mrs. Edna Gerstung, Mrs. Betty Flink and Mrs. I. A. Hanson. The next major program is the audio testing scheduled for later in November.

Hospitality committee had a meeting scheduled for Monday night at the home of Mrs. Genevieve Campbell on Meadow lane. With Thanksgiving day as their motif, the ladies are planning something very clever in the way of decorations.

Child Health conference will be held at 9:30 a.m., Tuesday at the Forest River Community house. Mrs. Jeanne Kramer, chairman, Va. 4-9571, will be glad to answer any questions.

Scouts

Intermediate Troop 233 had a candlelighting ceremony last Thursday when two new scouts were invested—Sylvia Durso and Barbara Levine. The new scouts lit the big red candles while they were saying the promise, and then the other scouts each repeated a law as she lit a white candle. After Mrs. Broberg pinned the two new scouts, each member of the troop received the cardinal crest, now the official crest of Troop 233.

Troop committee of the Brownie Troop 231 had a meeting last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Mae Schmitz. Tentative programs for meetings up until January 18 were discussed and decided upon.

Forest River Church

Replete with good food and good fellowship, lulled by the beautiful music furnished by Arthur Siegfort Jr., on his trombone, Edward Jordan, director of music at Gospel Tabernacle, who sang, and Kurt Kayser, who is pianist at "Youth for Christ," the guests at the banquet last Thursday came sharply to attention when Pastor Wally White gave his talk on "But Are You Ready?" The anecdotes he used to point up his text had his audience laughing heartily but were apt enough that they did not detract from the seriousness of the message.

Grace was said by Pastor Bob Swanson. The Rev. Clara Pierson thanked the various committees for their splendid work in making this banquet such a success. "Red" Bischof (whose Ruth was chairman of the decorating committee) thanked Jeanne Kramer, Lola Roos, Betty Shimmin, Estelle Grenda, and the many others who helped them.

"In fact," he said, "no one came up with a 'no' when asked for help or suggestions." The centerpieces on the tables were silver replicas of the church, set on a green lawn—the place cards were "boards," each containing a chuckle — and the candy cups were disguised as hymn books. Mrs. Jeanne Kramer displayed an unsuspected artistic bent in the four huge posters showing the progress of the church — first a vacant lot — second, the church itself — third, the church with the addition now being built — and finally the church and a gymnasium, the dream for the future.

Bob Roos was the master of ceremonies and led the guests in a "Happy Birthday" song for Fred Kramer. Bob also came out winner in a literal demonstration of "plate versus plates."

The waiters, who did such a fine job, were all members of the Christian Service Brigade. They were Robert Levine, Philip Roos, John Hanson, Robert Martens, Bud Meyers, George Grenda and Anthony Lopez.

The weather was perfect last Saturday for that long-awaited Rally day at Wheaton. Rev. Clara Pierson, Miss Ruth Pierson, Mrs. Anne Culp, "Red" Bischof, Bernard Shimmin and John Hanson all drove cars filled to capacity. They arrived in Wheaton about 10 a.m., and attended the rally in the morning. Jack Hamilton was the main speaker. After lunch some of them did a little sightseeing before the start of the football game, but they all enjoyed the game between Wheaton and Valpo.

Boys of the Christian Service Brigade and Stockade Battalions of the Forest River church are celebrating National Brigade week by taking part in the Sunday evening service at the church November 14, at which time the new 1954-55 charter will be presented along with the new membership cards for each club member for the coming year. Brigadiers who will receive special awards that evening are Philip Roos, Robert Levine, Robert Martens and John Hanson. Stockaders who will receive special awards are Michael Lipnisky, Robert Broberg and Larry Bischof, and the yearly awards will also be given out. Emert Roos is Captain of Brigade Battalion B170, assisted by Lt. Dick Roos. The Stockaders are led by Bernard Shimmin, assisted by John Hanson, Robert Martens and Robert Levine. Boys Work committee is led by Bernard Shimmin, with Dick Roos, Emert Roos and Gale Best sharinb in the work of the committee.

Several thousand boys across the nation enjoy the meetings of this national boys club program each week. They have an opportunity for craft work, recreation and training and instruction based on the Bible. The leaders are supplied with program helps and materials from the C. S. Brigade headquarters in Chicago. All boys 12 to 18 are given a special invitation to attend the regular meetings of Brigade Battalion 170 on Monday evenings at 7:00 p.m. each week at the church. Stockaders meet on Wednesday evenings at 7:00 p.m., and all boys, 8 to 11, are invited to these meetings.

The spiritual basis for healthful, happy, abundant living will be dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday, November 14.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals" is the Golden Text from John (3:6): "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (76:22-26): "The sinless joy,—the perfect harmony and immortality of Life, possessing unlimited divine beauty and goodness without a single bodily pleasure or pain,—constitutes the only veritable, indestructible man, whose being is spiritual."

Wedgewood Terrace News

Newcomers

Your reporter missed the Henry Schwinns until they had been in about a month since they are finishing their own house and came in the beginning of October when things were in a rougher state than now. Coming from Chicago, they had been staying in Des Plaines with relatives but felt that they were crowding their hosts too much. Their address is 109 W. Euclid.

Michael and Pat are the names of the two sons in the family. Michael is nine years old and is in the fourth grade at the North school in Arlington Heights. Pat was just four on the first of October.

The Schwinns also have a dog which little Pat described as "half-cocker and half doggie."

Chicago has always been Mr. Schwinn's home, but Kansas City is where Mrs. Schwinn hales from.

Mr. Schwinn is a repairman for the telephone company.

Most families reporting new are from Chicago and the Arthur Haapojas, who moved to 303 Golf Lane on the Halloween weekend are no exception. Enjoying "Tricks and Treats" in two places were the older of the Haapojas' children, Nancy and Michael.

Nancy is seven and is in the second grade at St. James school in Arlington Heights. Michael is a kindergartener at the North school. Debby is next in line and was three in July; Patricia will be two in January; and Arthur, the baby, was born last September 26.

Although now from Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Haapoja are really small-towners. Mrs. Haapoja came from Ironwood, in the upper peninsula of Michigan, and Mr. Haapoja from Wakefield.

(Wondering about the nationality of the name "Haapoja.' your reporter asked, and it is Finnish.)

What time Mr. Haapoja can spare from his position in time study and methods at the Mandex company, is often spent in his hobby of photography, textile painting, or woodworking. Mrs. Haapoja likes to sew, do ceramics, weave rugs or create millinery. She studied the latter at Chicago Park district and won three firsts in competitions at their annual showings.

The Arthur Cisewski's small daughter, Louwanne, was baptized at the Community church last Sunday and the Cisewskis entertained about 20 of the relatives in celebration of the event. (AM

'New York City' Next Topic On Travel Series

ROBERT FRIARS

The Arlington Heights high school Travel and Adventure series will present Robert Friars and his film "New York City" November 16, at 8 p. m.

Although the setting of the film is familiar to many people, the camera of a trained artist like Friars picks up many scenes and views which the amateur misses, in the feature length color film on the magic of the mighty world metropolis.

The travelog begins with aerial views of Manhattan's soaring towers and surrounding environs. Ships are seen coming in and leaving the world's greatest seaport, including the majestic "Queen Elizabeth" and "United States." Lower Manhattan is shown, from Chinatown and the Bowery, with fascinating glimpses of the lower East Side, its pushcarts and street merchants. Traveling uptown the film shows Times Square, Rockefeller Center, and the beautiful United Nations buildings on the East River.

ONE SCENE certain to interest the masculine members of the audience is a behind-the-scenes visit to the famous John Powers model agency, where lovely girls are trained for fashion and photographic jobs. The ladies will enjoy especially the views of the Claire McCardell workrooms and views of the newest fashions.

No film of the city would be complete without a view of Grand Central Terminal, the Stock Exchange, and Macy's. These are followed by a trip never before filmed, a tour of the famous subway system with clicking turnstiles and roaring express trains.

In North Manhattan the visitor sees Harlem, then goes toward the West Side Highway, stopping at the world's largest Gothic church, then on to drive through Central Park, later to stop at the Museum of Modern Art to view the paintings of the future.

The playground areas of this great city make an unusual sequence, where millions crowd the sands at Jones Beach and Coney Island. The camera man takes the audience on a ride on the roller coaster and makes a parachute jump.

High Schools Expand

Additions to high school plants in this area were either voted, started construction, or dedicated recently. Adlai Stevenson was principal speaker in the dedication ceremonies of his home town school, Libertyville-Fremont high school, Sunday. The new building cost $1,480,000.

Northbrook gave overwhelming approval of half million dollar addition to their high school by a vote of 1,053 to 157.

Round Lake launched construction of a new gymnasium for their high school.

Attend Convention

Mary Handlin, Margit Ohrnell, and Mrs. Ruth Patterson, of the home economics department of the Arlington Heights high school, attended the annual convention of the Illinois Vocational Homemaking Teachers association and the Illinois Home Economics association at Pere Marquette in Peoria last week.

Miss Handlin describes the meeting as one of the most profitable she has ever attended.

"Today's Thinking for Tomorrow's Action" was the theme of the convention.

Congressman Church To Be Guest Speaker At Republican Club

Congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church, re-elected by a large majority, will be guest of honor at the annual meeting of the Women's Republican club of the thirteenth congressional district, to be held at Hank's restaurant, Skokie highway near Route 120, west of Waukegan, November 18.

A meeting of the executive board of the club has been called for 10 a.m., to be followed at 11 by a business session of the entire membership, at which the co-chairmen, Mrs. Alverta Stewart, of River Grove, and Mrs. Horace Vaile, of Highland Park, will share duties of presiding officer. To streamline the routine business, reports of officers and chairmen of standing committees will be presented to the members in mimeographed form.

Luncheon will be served following the business session, and this being the final meeting of the year, political problems will give way to social diversion in the afternoon, when members and their guests will enjoy cards and other games.

Sharing honors with Congresswoman Church will be Mrs. Irl Marshall, of Deerfield, one of the founders of the club, who is president- elect of the Federation of Illinois Women's Republican clubs. Composed of 135 clubs, the thirteenth district club is one of the largest. Mrs. Marshall will take office as state president in January for a 2-year period.

Local women who have played a prominent role in the functioning of the club during the past year are: Mrs. Ernest Wiehrdt, member of the project activities and publicity committees; Mrs. Arthur Filkins, member of the hospitality committee; Mrs. Geo. Howes, of the membership committee; and Mrs. Arthur Bergo, on the advisory board, all of Palatine; Mrs. Ernest Luckner, treasurer and member of the finance committee; Mrs. Robert Milligan and Mrs. Victor Bittner, membership committee and Mrs. William J. Busse and Mrs. Sherman Canty, members of advisory board, all of Mount Prospect; Mrs. George Hieber, chairman, and Mrs. George C. Goewy and Mrs. M. W. Grigsby, members, advisory board; Mrs. Quentin Ford, chairman and Mrs. Ira S. Parker and Mrs. George F. Schneberger, members, project activities committee; and Mrs. Charles F. Hamburg, member of the membership committee, all of Arlington Heights.

At each annual meeting, half of the club's officers are elected for a two-year period. Officers to be elected at this meeting are Cook county chairman, Lake county vice-chairman, recording secretary, and assistant treasurer.

A cordial invitation to attend this meeting is extended to all women who wish to participate in Republican work. Advance reservations for the luncheon are necessary and may be made with Mrs. Luckner, Clearbrook 3-7689.

Newcomers

Your reporter missed the Henry Schwinns until they had been in about a month since they are finishing their own house and came in the beginning of October when things were in a rougher state than now. Coming from Chicago, they had been staying in Des Plaines with relatives but felt that they were crowding their hosts too much. Their address is 109 W. Euclid.

Michael and Pat are the names of the two sons in the family. Michael is nine years old and is in the fourth grade at the North school in Arlington Heights. Pat was just four on the first of October.

The Schwinns also have a dog which little Pat described as "half-cocker and half doggie."

Chicago has always been Mr. Schwinn's home, but Kansas City is where Mrs. Schwinn hales from.

Mr. Schwinn is a repairman for the telephone company.

Most families reporting new are from Chicago and the Arthur Haapojas, who moved to 303 Golf Lane on the Halloween weekend are no exception. Enjoying "Tricks and Treats" in two places were the older of the Haapojas' children, Nancy and Michael.

Nancy is seven and is in the second grade at St. James school in Arlington Heights. Michael is a kindergartener at the North school. Debby is next in line and was three in July; Patricia will be two in January; and Arthur, the baby, was born last September 26.

Although now from Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Haapoja are really small-towners. Mrs. Haapoja came from Ironwood, in the upper peninsula of Michigan, and Mr. Haapoja from Wakefield.

(Wondering about the nationality of the name "Haapoja.' your reporter asked, and it is Finnish.)

What time Mr. Haapoja can spare from his position in time study and methods at the Mandex company, is often spent in his hobby of photography, textile painting, or woodworking. Mrs. Haapoja likes to sew, do ceramics, weave rugs or create millinery. She studied the latter at Chicago Park district and won three firsts in competitions at their annual showings.

The Arthur Cisewski's small daughter, Louwanne, was baptized at the Community church last Sunday and the Cisewskis entertained about 20 of the relatives in celebration of the event. (AM

'New York City' Next Topic On Travel Series

ROBERT FRIARS

The Arlington Heights high school Travel and Adventure series will present Robert Friars and his film "New York City" November 16, at 8 p. m.

Although the setting of the film is familiar to many people, the camera of a trained artist like Friars picks up many scenes and views which the amateur misses, in the feature length color film on the magic of the mighty world metropolis.

The travelog begins with aerial views of Manhattan's soaring towers and surrounding environs. Ships are seen coming in and leaving the world's greatest seaport, including the majestic "Queen Elizabeth" and "United States." Lower Manhattan is shown, from Chinatown and the Bowery, with fascinating glimpses of the lower East Side, its pushcarts and street merchants. Traveling uptown the film shows Times Square, Rockefeller Center, and the beautiful United Nations buildings on the East River.

ONE SCENE certain to interest the masculine members of the audience is a behind-the-scenes visit to the famous John Powers model agency, where lovely girls are trained for fashion and photographic jobs. The ladies will enjoy especially the views of the Claire McCardell workrooms and views of the newest fashions.

No film of the city would be complete without a view of Grand Central Terminal, the Stock Exchange, and Macy's. These are followed by a trip never before filmed, a tour of the famous subway system with clicking turnstiles and roaring express trains.

In North Manhattan the visitor sees Harlem, then goes toward the West Side Highway, stopping at the world's largest Gothic church, then on to drive through Central Park, later to stop at the Museum of Modern Art to view the paintings of the future.

The playground areas of this great city make an unusual sequence, where millions crowd the sands at Jones Beach and Coney Island. The camera man takes the audience on a ride on the roller coaster and makes a parachute jump.

High Schools Expand

Additions to high school plants in this area were either voted, started construction, or dedicated recently. Adlai Stevenson was principal speaker in the dedication ceremonies of his home town school, Libertyville-Fremont high school, Sunday. The new building cost $1,480,000.

Northbrook gave overwhelming approval of half million dollar addition to their high school by a vote of 1,053 to 157.

Round Lake launched construction of a new gymnasium for their high school.

Attend Convention

Mary Handlin, Margit Ohrnell, and Mrs. Ruth Patterson, of the home economics department of the Arlington Heights high school, attended the annual convention of the Illinois Vocational Homemaking Teachers association and the Illinois Home Economics association at Pere Marquette in Peoria last week.

Miss Handlin describes the meeting as one of the most profitable she has ever attended.

"Today's Thinking for Tomorrow's Action" was the theme of the convention.

Congressman Church To Be Guest Speaker At Republican Club

Congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church, re-elected by a large majority, will be guest of honor at the annual meeting of the Women's Republican club of the thirteenth congressional district, to be held at Hank's restaurant, Skokie highway near Route 120, west of Waukegan, November 18.

A meeting of the executive board of the club has been called for 10 a.m., to be followed at 11 by a business session of the entire membership, at which the co-chairmen, Mrs. Alverta Stewart, of River Grove, and Mrs. Horace Vaile, of Highland Park, will share duties of presiding officer. To streamline the routine business, reports of officers and chairmen of standing committees will be presented to the members in mimeographed form.

Luncheon will be served following the business session, and this being the final meeting of the year, political problems will give way to social diversion in the afternoon, when members and their guests will enjoy cards and other games.

Sharing honors with Congresswoman Church will be Mrs. Irl Marshall, of Deerfield, one of the founders of the club, who is president- elect of the Federation of Illinois Women's Republican clubs. Composed of 135 clubs, the thirteenth district club is one of the largest. Mrs. Marshall will take office as state president in January for a 2-year period.

Local women who have played a prominent role in the functioning of the club during the past year are: Mrs. Ernest Wiehrdt, member of the project activities and publicity committees; Mrs. Arthur Filkins, member of the hospitality committee; Mrs. Geo. Howes, of the membership committee; and Mrs. Arthur Bergo, on the advisory board, all of Palatine; Mrs. Ernest Luckner, treasurer and member of the finance committee; Mrs. Robert Milligan and Mrs. Victor Bittner, membership committee and Mrs. William J. Busse and Mrs. Sherman Canty, members of advisory board, all of Mount Prospect; Mrs. George Hieber, chairman, and Mrs. George C. Goewy and Mrs. M. W. Grigsby, members, advisory board; Mrs. Quentin Ford, chairman and Mrs. Ira S. Parker and Mrs. George F. Schneberger, members, project activities committee; and Mrs. Charles F. Hamburg, member of the membership committee, all of Arlington Heights.

At each annual meeting, half of the club's officers are elected for a two-year period. Officers to be elected at this meeting are Cook county chairman, Lake county vice-chairman, recording secretary, and assistant treasurer.

A cordial invitation to attend this meeting is extended to all women who wish to participate in Republican work. Advance reservations for the luncheon are necessary and may be made with Mrs. Luckner, Clearbrook 3-7689.
